The 25,000 YMCA Run

Ten joggers here are part of a mass of 25,000 YMCA runners in the U. S. who aim to clock 3,125,000 miles by April 26, 1969. Robert Hicks, Physical Director of the Hayes-Taylor YMCA here said today that the joggers here are participating in the YMCA's 125th Anniversary Run.

The event is intended to serve two purposes, Hicks said. First, to dramatize the health benefits of running and jogging, and second, to call attention to the YMCA's 125th Anniversary in 1969.

Hicks explained that runners are organized into teams of from ten to 100. The Hayes-Taylor YMCA has entered two teams, 10 individual joggers. More than 450 teams in YMCAs throughout the country make up the 25,000 individual runners participating, he said.

Each jogger is required to complete 125 miles in laps around a YMCA track. The 125 miles, keyed to the 125th Anniversary, may be completed over a 25-week period.

The Run is not geared to track stars, Olympic or otherwise, Hicks pointed out. It is meant primarily for a maximum number of YMCA members, whether experienced runners or first-timers, he said. A

STUDENTS DISCUSS PROBLEMS WITH AUTHOR

Negro Church Could Become Target Of Black Militants

Will the Negro church be the next target of the black power militants? Negro author Louis Lomax hinted this action in an address last Sunday at A&T State University.

"I am sick and tired of seeing only pictures of persons with blonde hair and blue eyes, even in the Bible," said Lomax. Perhaps it is time for us to save the black church if they can't give us a religion we can relate to."

Lomax said he has just returned from a trip to the Holy Land. "From what I saw there," he said, "it is not possible for all persons to come out with blonde hair and blue eyes."

Lomax also said that white

Americans must begin responding to non-violent protest, if violence is to end in this nation.

"America simply does not respond to the Judeo-Christian ethic," he said.

The author of the best-selling book, The Negro Revolt, said, "America is not ready to get down to the nitty-gritty business of overhauling the system to give freedom and justice to all."

"It's a question of altering our economic priorities," added Lomax. "If we spent the money at home that we are spending in Vietnam, we could eliminate the ghettos."

Lomax criticized the use of the terms "law and order" as they relate to the black power movement.

"Could the words 'law and order' be another middle class way of saying 'nigger'?" he asked. "Nobody said a word about law and order when we were having all those lynchings."

Lomax also charged this nation with having a psychological hang-up about communism.

"They always want to know if there are Communists in the black movement," he said. "Can you imagine anything so absurd as a black man from Biloxi, Miss. standing in Saigon with a machine gun, trying to give the Vietnamese the right to vote?"

Veterans Corner

Editor's Note: Below are authoritative answers by the Veterans Administration to some of the many current questions from former servicemen and their families. Further information on veterans benefits may be obtained at any VA office.

Q—I was recently discharged from the Army after only 19 months of service. I have heard that I may still be eligible for up to four years of college education assistance from the Veterans Administration. Is this true? If so, I will enroll in college.

A—As of Dec. 1, 1968, under a new law recently signed by President Johnson, a veteran such as you with at least 18 months of service after Jan. 31, 1955, who has satisfied his military obligation, will be entitled to 36 months (four academic years) of educational assistance from the VA.

For full time institutional training you will receive $130 a month as a single veteran — more if you have dependents. Check with your nearest VA regional office for detailed information and assistance.

Q—My father was killed in service in World War II. I received four years (36 months) of war orphans educational assistance from the Veterans Administration while attending college. After graduation I went into service and will soon be discharged after two years of active duty. Am I entitled to any additional educational assistance from the VA as the result of my own military service?
