Bennett College Students Collect Food For Hungry In S. C. Counties

On Monday morning, March 3, despite the snow and uncertainty of pending weather with its forecast for more snow, a station wagon pulled out of Bennett College bound for Beaufort, S. C., more than seven hours away. It carried a cargo of four students, including the student body president, the college's development officer, and more than 20 cases of foodstuff.

The food, collected by the student body of the all-girls school, was earmarked to be distributed by the Beaufort branch of the NAACP to help relieve the hunger in Beaufort and Jasper counties brought to light recently by a Senate committee investigating hunger in America. Doris Scott, president of the student body of the 680-student school is hoping that other colleges in the area will follow suit and has called on them to lend their support to similar projects at their schools.

In addition, she has written letters of thanks to Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, chairman of the Senate committee on nutrition and human needs, and Ernest Hollings of South Carolina, a committee member "for the concern you have shown for people suffering from malnutrition and hunger."

Bennett students, traditionally active in community affairs,
