$60,000 In Graduate Grants Awarded A&T By Rutgers

Rutgers University in New Brunswick, N. J. announced Wednesday that 23 of the graduates of 1969 at A&T State University have been awarded scholarships, fellowships and grants for graduate study totaling $60,970.

The students, who will enroll in September, represent the largest single number of A&T graduates to enter a single graduate school at the same time.

"We are extremely pleased with these grants," said Dr. Frederick A. Williams, director of planning and development at A&T. "Rutgers was pleased with the work done by the few of our students who had enrolled there before."

Two years ago, A&T joined with Rutgers in a program of inter-institutional cooperation to include student and faculty exchanges and consultive services.

Among the students enrolling at Rutgers in September will be Luther Brown of Williamston, A&T's first Woodrow Wilson Fellow. Brown received a grant of $9,180.

Other students winning awards include Brian Benson, Charlie Flint, Barbara Gore, Alvin Thomas and Japhet Nkonge, all of Greensboro; Delores Cooke and LaSandra Keeye, High Point; Naomi Hagwood, Leaksville; and Freddie Parker, Mebane.

400 A&T Faculty, Staff Members Open School Year With Workshop

A Self-Study Workshop involving more than 400 faculty, staff members and students was scheduled to be conducted at A&T State University September 4-10 to signal the official beginning of the 1969-70 school year.

Less than a week later, more than 1,000 entering freshman students are expected to boost the overall enrollment at A&T to more than 4,000 students, a slight increase over last year's figure.

Dr. Lewis C. Dowdy, president of the university, said the Self-Study workshop will involve a detailed examination, evaluation and projection of every facet of the University in preparation for a visit from the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools next spring.

The Association is the University's major accreditation agency and visits member institutions every ten years.

A&T's workshop will be concerned with some 11 areas of school life, including program, financial resources, student personnel, physical facilities, graduate program, research, library and organization and administration.

The opening session will be held September 4 in the Memorial Union ballroom and will be highlighted by the annual State of the University message by Dr. Dowdy. The group will be addressed on September 6 by Dr. Hadley Hartshorn, a consultant from Texas Southern University.

Freshman Week at A&T will begin at A&T on Monday, September 8. Registration for returning students will begin on September 11 and classes are scheduled to begin on September 15.

HOWELL LOSES THREE KEY PLAYERS BEFORE AGGIES BEGIN DRILLS

By Richard Moore

The football team at North Carolina A&T hasn't even taken to the field yet, but the Aggies have suffered their first three casualties.

As A&T, already picked by several national publications to field one of its strongest teams, prepared to begin drills Sept. 29, head coach Hornsby Howell announced the loss of tackle Warren Frye, defensive end William Gaines and placekicker Eric Cox.

Gaines, a native of Pittsburgh, and Cox, from Philadelphia, will be scholastically ineligible, and Frye announced he won't be returning to college.

"These three losses will definitely hurt," said Howell. And the performance of the three players will bear him out. As a sophomore two years ago, Frye caught the eye of several pro scouts. He missed last season because of an injury. Gaines, 222-pounder, had become one of the CIAA's best defenders in the two years he played. As a freshman, Cox kicked 25 of 33 extra point attempts.

In spite of the pre-season setbacks, Howell will open training camp with 28 lettermen from last year's squad that compiled an impressive 8-1 record.
