A&T Miscues Prove Costly; Rattlers Down Aggies, 26-9

By Richard E. Moore

Florida A&M exploited its own speed and capitalized on North Carolina A&T's bumbling play to down the Aggies 26-9 before 15,000 fans in an inter-sectional football game here last Saturday afternoon.

Jake Gaither's Rattlers, struck for two touchdowns in the first half while virtually shutting off the Aggies' heralded passer Stan Jacobs. FAMU then added scores in the third and fourth periods to clinch the win.

The victory was the 199th career win for Gaither, the winningest coach in the nation. By winning, the Rattlers upped their season's record to 4-1. A&T, still very much in the running for the CIAA championship, is now 5-2 for the year.

It was certainly A&T's miscues, including five interceptions, that cost the Aggies the game. On the other hand, the speedy Rattlers, paced by junior quarterback Steve Scruggs, played almost flawless ball in controlling the game.

Scruggs, an outstanding scrambler, threw touchdown passes of 42 yards and 81-yards to flanker Kent Schoolfield and halfback Al Sykes respectively.

He then polished off his afternoon's play early in the fourth quarter with a sterling 96-yard touchdown run.

The other FAMU score came at the opening of the second quarter on a one-yard plunge by fullback Hubert Ginn.

The Aggies again muffed several scoring chances in both periods, but managed to score on a 23-yard pass from Jacobs to senior end Daryle Cherry with 7:28 left in the third period. That score, followed by John Guy's placement, narrowed the gap to 20-7, but three plays following the ensuing kickoff, Scruggs tossed the long scoring bomb to end Al Sykes to make it, 26-7, almost out of reach for A&T.

The Aggies' final points came with 3:12 left in the game when A&T defenders Billy Gaines and Freddie Hunter nailed Ginn in the end zone for a safety.

FAMU's first score, the 42-yard pass from Scruggs to Schoolfield had come at 3:48 of the first period, after the Rattlers got the ball on an A&T fumble.

An interception by FAMU's Melvin Rogers on A&T's 32 set up Ginn's touchdown run.

Scruggs topped FAMU's runners with 109 yards in nine carries. A&T's Jacobs gained 160 yards in 18 of 35 completions. His touchdown pass to Cherry was his 12th of the season.
