THREE NORTH CAROLINA MUTUAL VICE PRESIDENTS ELEVATED

Joseph W. Goodloe, president and chief executive officer of the North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company, announced the Board of Directors' elevation of three vice presidents to senior vice presidencies. They are: W. A. Clement, CLU, Agency Vice President; W. J. Kennedy, III, Financial Vice President and Maceo A. Sloan, CLU, Vice President-Home Office Operations.

In making the announcement, Goodloe recalled that, "Four years ago the Board of Directors approved a long-range plan of organizational restructuring. In 1965, when we moved into our present building, the first stage of re-organization was effected. At that time our various work units were grouped into seven organizational components or departments.

"With the progress effected during the interim we are now at the point wherein we can implement a second stage of organizational development. Three of our vice presidents are now being assigned additional responsibilities as a means of stimulating further growth and accelerating progress as we prepare our organization for the decade of the seventies.

"In their new roles as senior vice presidents they will more actively share in top-level administrative responsibility in their assigned areas and, I believe, implement company growth and progress. Each of these men brings a vast reservoir of training, personal knowledge and experience to his assignment."
