A Thought to Ponder

God's Instrument — He who has done one kindly deed, and served another's hour of need, has truly justified his birth, and made the world a richer earth.

—Edgar A. Guest

Census Countdown

In the past, census takers have located people living in many unusual places. They have counted people in converted chicken houses, tin huts, old boxcars, caves, packing crates, mine tunnels, barn lofts, and old street cars. They check all-night movie houses, park benches, hippie havens, along with the more obvious hospitals, prisons, colleges, military bases, and mountain climbing expeditions. They count all Americans in the United States, abroad, in ships at sea and this year, in outer space. Census takers travel by horseback, canoe, airplane, helicopter, snowshoes, skis, motorboat, rowboat, on foot or whatever means is available and necessary to reach every household.

For the 1970 census, April 1, the census questionnaires will be mailed to every address. You will have the opportunity to be your own census taker. Just fill out the forms for yourself and your family, and then you'll know that you really count.

Black Trade Show Set For Richmond

Ronald Charity announced today that Ronald Charity Public Relations of Danville, Va. will produce and coordinate the first annual "Black Is Beautiful Business-Exposition", March 29-30 at the Richmond Arena.

The premiere of this trade and cultural show will feature exhibits of organizations and businesses owned, operated or geared toward the profitable Black Market.

The purpose of this two day event is to stimulate and encourage business in the Black Community; to focus attention on Black Entrepreneurs who have created business and employment opportunities for others within the Black Community; to focus attention on organizations within the Black Community who have made contributions to the advancement of the community; to focus attention on established mainline businesses who have created opportunities for Black people; to expand the market for Black produced goods and services; to promote the image of the Black Businessman and to inspire the talents and motivations of the Black Market into one of productivity.

Emphasis will be placed on organizations and businesses in the State of Virginia, along with those from other areas.

Many businesses throughout this area have developed within the past ten years that the general public has little knowledge of, this exposition will expose these operations and their products to the public. Many mainline companies have upgraded blacks into positions heretofore not held by them, these companies will have an opportunity to inform the public, especially the black public, of the opportunities available in business and related fields.

Ronald Charity, owner-manager of Ronald Charity Public Relations will coordinate the show. Charity is a native of Richmond and has been engaged in Public Relations for the past 5 years. He is a member of The National Association of Market Developers and The American Association of Minority Consultants. He is Executive Secretary of the American Tennis Association.

RCPR has been active in numerous political campaigns throughout the State with several winning candidates as clients.

Interested companies may receive further information by writing Miss Pat Jones, Ronald Charity Public Relations, P. O. Box 1139, Danville, Va. 24541.

A&T Secretary, Soldier United In Impressive Holiday Ceremony

Miss Katie Magdalene Sellars, daughter of Mrs. Sallie Sellars of Route 1, McLeansville, N. C. and the late Riley Sellars, and Pvt. Henry E. McCoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey McCoy of Red Springs, N. C., were united in marriage at 4 p.m. Christmas Day in Providence Baptist Church.

Officiating the lovely holiday ceremony was the Rev. Howard Chubbs, pastor of the church. Miss Paula Banks was the organist.

For her wedding, the bride wore a full length gown of white velvet, with long sleeves trimmed in mink and with an A-line skirt.

The brides brother, Robert Sellars, of Baltimore, gave her in marriage. Her sister, Mrs. Walter Meares of Washington, D. C. served as matron of honor. Katrinia Meares, a niece of Washington, served as flower girl and a nephew, Brian Watlington, also of Washington, was ring bearer.

The bridegroom had his brother, Willie McCoy, for best man. Another brother, Harvey McCoy, ushered with Riley Sellars, brother of the bride.

Immediately following the ceremony, the couple was honored by the bride's mother with a reception in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

The bride is a graduate of A&T State University, where she is currently employed as a secretary in the Office of Planning and Development.

The bridegroom also graduated from A&T, where he was a member of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Student Government Association, Arnold Air Society, Political Science Club, Pan Hellenic Council, Student Judiciary Board, United Men's Congress and Who's Who Among College Students.

Following their honeymoon, the bridegroom will leave for a new assignment with the U.S. Army in Germany.

A&T State Aggies Win In Garden Debut

By Richard E. Moore

New York City — A&T Coach Cal Irvin has a thing about defense. He feels that playing good defense, not scoring points is the key to the success of his current Aggie team.

The red-hot A&T cagers gave their veteran coach the kind of defensive game he relishes last Saturday afternoon when they humiliated Lincoln University (Pa.), 117-58 before 9,512 fans in Madison Square Garden.

"We are spending a lot of time on defense," said Irvin. "It is the thing I believe in and the team really played beautiful defense today. Even Red Auerbach (Boston Celtics general manager) liked the caliber of defense we played."

Auerbach and half a dozen other pro scouts watched the Aggies rip the Lions in one of the finest run and shoot performances ever staged by A&T.

The win was the seventh straight for A&T, the eight-ranked team in the Associated Press small-college poll. Saturday's victory was a fine team effort, but 6-6 senior Lonnie Kluttz and freshman guard June Harris particularly stood out on defense.

"Do you know who the scouts were asking about after the game?"
