Halfway Gallery

What's to prevent you from having your very own art gallery? The Picture and Frame Institute suggests gathering up your favorite portraits and enlarged candid snapshots . . . placing them in handsome frames in varying styles . . . and creating a hallway art gallery. Add to the photos other family mementos. Everything from postcards (either side) to the children's beloved crayon sketch. A long, dull hallway can then be your family gallery, expandable in the years to come.
