

FUDGE-FULL PEANUT BUTTER BARS

1 package (17½ oz.) Pillsbury Butter or Yellow Cake Mix
1 cup peanut butter
½ cup butter or margarine, melted
2 eggs

Filling

2 cups (12 oz. pkg.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1½ cups (15 oz. can) sweetened condensed milk (not evaporated)
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup flaked coconut
1 cup chopped nuts
2 teaspoons vanilla

Oven 350 deg. 60 Bars

In large mixer bowl, combine cake mix, peanut butter, butter and eggs. Stir until dough holds together. Press 2/3 of dough into bottom of ungreased 15x10x1-inch jelly roll pan or 13x9-inch baking pan. Reserve remaining dough for topping. Prepare filling. Spread filling over dough in pan. Crumble reserved dough over filling; press lightly into filling. Bake at 350 deg. for 20 to 25 minutes until light golden brown. Cool; cut into bars.

Filling: In heavy saucepan, combine chocolate pieces, sweetened condensed milk, butter and salt. Melt over low heat, stirring constantly until smooth. Remove from heat. Stir in coconut, nuts and vanilla.

U.S. OFFICIALS TO CLAMP DOWN ON MISUSE OF FUNDS TO HELP POOR

The federal government plans to tighten its regulations to discourage localities from misusing funds designed for compensatory education for disadvantaged youngsters, a federal official said here Friday.

"There is going to be closer attention paid to funding and allocation of funds," said John L. Pride, a program specialist with the Office of Education. "These new regulations will call for closer accountability."

Pride was the concluding speaker at a two-week institute for teachers at A&T State University. Most of the teachers will be employed in desegregated classrooms in the fall.

A major criticism in the use of Title I funds, according to Pride, is that some localities have been using the grants to supplant what they have been doing for disadvantaged schools, rather than as a supplement.

"Some localities," he added, "have also been using this federal money in schemes to continue segregation." He cited as an example of this the building of portable classrooms onto crowded schools, rather than sending the children to a school less crowded.

"Many kids in this nation are missing out on their natural birthright, which is education," said Pride, "because they are poor." Only a massive effort will bring them up to minimal standards."

DRIVING COURSE OFFERED

Traffic accidents killed 50,000 Americans last year (855 in North Carolina) ten times that number were critically injured. Here is your chance to avoid becoming a statistic! Learn defensive driving!

As a public service, the Friendly Shopping Center Merchants Association, along with Radio Station WCOG and the North Carolina State Department of Motor Vehicles, Highway Safety Division, are co-sponsoring this defensive driving course.

The course will be held in the Friendly Center Auditorium, 3110 Kathleen Avenue, August 25 through August 28 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. nightly.

Teaching the course will be Mr. J. Alvis Webster of the National Safety Council's defensive driving course.

More than 250,000 drivers have graduated from this course. Each person completing the eight hour course will be presented with a graduation certificate signed by Howard Pyle, President of the National Safety Council.

The defensive driving course is for all licensed drivers. The little known fact is that it's good drivers like you who have most of the accidents. In the next 12 months 1 out of every 5 drivers will be involved in an accident. So if you are a good driver, an experienced driver, a student driver, young or old, or somewhere in between, you could benefit from this course. Learn the facts — learn defensive driving. Please contact the Friendly Shopping Center Merchants Association or radio station WCOG on how you can enroll in the National Safety Council's defensive driving course now being offered in Greensboro.

We encourage all interested persons to consider this training, individuals and industry alike. Employers — don't fail to meet production standards because your employees failed to meet safe driving standards.

ANNUAL WEIGHTLIFTING CHAMPIONSHIPS

The Greensboro Health Club and the Friendly Shopping Center Merchants Association will sponsor the Annual Bench Press Weightlifting Championships plus extraordinary strength exhibitions by current and former weightlifting champions, and the Mr. Greensboro Physique Contest on Friday, August 14, at 7:00 p.m. in the Friendly Center Auditorium, 3110 Kathleen Ave., in the Shopping Center.

Several defending champions will be competing to retain their titles and improve upon their records while numerous newcomers are training hard for their chance to capture a title.

Bill Piephoff, former two-time Mr. North Carolina winner and heavyweight lifting champion of North and South Carolina will conduct the contest with the assistance of Ronny Barnes who was Mr. North Carolina in 1960.

John A. Neal, well-known local state champion of the 1950's will show he still retains his phenomenal strength by attempting a full deep knee bend with a 470 pound barbell lift. Jim Smyntek, current state champion 181 pound lifter will demonstrate the olympic lifts and perform a clean and jerk with well over 300 pounds. Bench press winners from last year who will be returning to defend their titles are: Paul Beck, 148 pound class; Doug Jones, 165 pound class; and Mike Prentzas, 181 pound class.

The contest is open to any lifter residing in Greensboro. Entries are being accepted at the Greensboro Health Club Gym. Deadline is August 7. Beautiful trophies will be awarded to the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd place in the Mr. Greensboro Contest. Physique contestants will be judged on physical and muscular development, symmetry and proportions, and general appearance.

The public is cordially invited to attend the event at the Friendly Center Auditorium.

Timely Decorating

Still using clocks just to tell time? Wake up. These days, clocks come in so many unusual styles that they can be used as arresting focal points in a wall grouping. Decorating around a clock is a little different from decorating around a painting. For a wall grouping with a clock at the center, the Picture and Frame Institute suggests using three-dimensional plaques of the same style as the clock — antique, modern, oriental. These can hold candles, small statuary, or mirrors.

Persons with normal hearing ability can gain an insight into the silent world of hard of hearing by watching a favorite television program with the sound turned too low to hear according to the Beltone Crusade for Hearing Conservation. While such an experiment can be interesting for a short while, it soon becomes irritating and even terrifying for most people as they discover they are cut off from communication.

the judgment of our sins. Strengthen the witness of thy Spirit within us that we may both hear and respond to the demands of thy will. Amen.

SING WHILE YOU DRIVE

45 miles per hour—Sing,
"Highways are happy ways."
55 miles per hour—Sing,
"I'm but a stranger here,
Heaven is my home."
65 miles per hour—Sing,
"Nearer my God to Thee."
75 miles per hour—Sing,
"When the roll is called up yonder, I'll be there."
85 miles per hour—Sing,
"Lord, I'm coming home."
