A Thought To Ponder

We can be full of joy here and now even in our trials and troubles. Taken in the right spirit these very things will give us patient endurance; this in turn will develop a mature character. — Romans 5:3-5

How Big Austin Plays Determines Cage Future Of A&T Aggies

By Richard Moore

A&T's hopes for a good year in basketball will depend to a great degree on how big Elmer Austin can play, not how big he can grow.

Austin is only 6-4, not overly tall for a college forward. But as the oldest starter on the Aggie team, he finds himself with a tremendous responsibility.

The former Dudley High star is most mature about his role. "We seem to have plenty of depth in other places, but our big task this year will be rebounding," said Austin. I was second in that category last season, and that's what I am concentrating on this season."

The Aggies will kickoff their home season Dec. 8, meeting Southern University in the Greensboro Coliseum.

Even with taller Lonnie Klutz and Vernon Walker in the lineup last season, Austin averaged 10 rebounds per game, and he rarely played the whole game.

"In high school I was more of a shooter," said Austin. "But when I entered A&T, coach Irvin asked me to go to the boards more and I knew I had to make a big change. It really doesn't bother me not making the points. I figure if we get the ball, the points will come."

At 188, Austin doesn't have a lot of beef either but he won't give any ground to his heavier opponents. "I know I don't have the weight," he said, "but I believe that I am quicker than a lot of players and I will have to learn to master timing."

Austin's biggest booster has been Irvin. "Elmer has been our most consistent performer in pre-season drills," said Irvin, "and we are expecting big things of him during the season."

Are the Aggies ready for their opener? "Whether we are ready or not, we have to go," said Irvin. "We do need some time for some of our injuries to heal, but we will just have to go with what we've got."

Veteran Melvin Evans and outstanding freshman Willie Daniels may miss tonight's game because of injuries.

20TH DUBUTANTE BALL SATURDAY, DEC. 5, 1970

Workshops on charm and good grooming have been conducted for the debutantes and their escorts.

The annual Parents' Tea held November 22, 1970 in the Union Memorial Building, A&T State University was enjoyed by debutantes, Debs of Tomorrow, and parents, along with the members of the sorority. The debutantes displayed their talent, and each received a gift, compliments of the sorority. The announcement and presentation of special gifts to the 1970 queen, Miss Elreta Ledwell, and the two runners-up, Miss Betty Young and Miss Danita Winchester were major parts of the program.

Debutantes, escorts, and sorority members and guests enjoyed a delightful evening at the Barn Dinner Theater, Friday, Nov. 20, 1970. The stage production for the evening was, "Send Me No Flowers." The meal, stage production, and entertainment were enjoyed by all. This was measured a "delightful evening."

The debutantes now look forward to the final presentation, and crowning of the queen, Saturday, Dec. 5, 1970 at 8:00 p.m.

Mrs. Alberta Pearson is chairman of the ball activities and Mrs. Mary B. Saddler is president of the local Graduate Chapter, Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc.

Corbett is a native of Danville, Va. and a graduate of A&T. Presiding at the program was Mrs. Julia S. Brooks, national president of the A&T Alumni Association.

For the first time a VA program of loans for mobile home purchases are available to veterans — up to $10,000 for a home alone; up to $17,500 with purchase of a lot.

Under a new law, there is no longer a terminal date for a G.I. home loan for any eligible veterans, including WWII and Korean Conflict veterans who never used this benefit.
