Veterans' Corner

Editor's Note: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q — As a wartime veteran, am I entitled to hospitalization in any VA hospital for a non-service-connected disability?

A — Yes, provided hospitalization is deemed necessary; and you are financially unable to defray the costs of the necessary hospital charges elsewhere; and if beds are available.

Q — Does my service-connected disability rating of 60 per cent entitle my children to VA educational assistance?

A — No. A child is eligible for an educational assistance allowance only if his parent died (or is rated totally and permanently disabled) as a result of a service-connected cause, or if he died from any cause while such a disability was in existence.

Q — If a veteran sells his home obtained under a G.I. loan and obtains a release of liability from the VA will he be eligible for another G.I. loan at his new location?

A — No. The granting of a release of liability by the VA does not make the veteran eligible for restoration of his loan entitlement. This can be done only by having the lender release the VA as guarantor of the loan. This is usually accomplished by requiring the new buyer to obtain his own financing on the home, thereby paying off the existing G.I. loan.

Q — I am a veteran of wartime service and need a physical checkup. Will VA doctors give me one?

A — No. The VA provides free medical or physical examinations, as necessary, only to determine whether a condition is service-connected; when needed for Government life insurance purposes; or when application is made for hospital or domiciliary care.

Q — Must the designation of the beneficiary for a veteran's G.I. insurance policy be witnessed?

A — Not usually, but it is a good idea. The witness should not be the beneficiary. If the veteran is blind or signs by mark (X), two disinterested persons should witness.

$100,000 GOAL SET FOR ALUMNI GIVING DRIVE

With the ringing slogan, "The Aggies Shall Come Through in '72," the A&T State University National Alumni Association this month launched their most ambitious annual Giving Campaign, designed to raise $100,000 for the University.

At the campaign kickoff meeting in Washington last month, Mrs. Louise Pearson, the national fundraising chairman, outlined plans for the project.

"We want this campaign to reflect our deepest love and loyalty for A&T," she said. "We shall be seeking mass participation in all of our efforts."

Mrs. Pearson, a member of the Washington, D. C. chapter, said the campaign will be conducted from Sept. 1, 1971 thru March 31, 1972.

She said the 65 individual chapters throughout the United States will be asked to commit themselves to special goals, and individual members will be solicited by the national office.

An integral part of the Annual Giving campaign will be an Alumni Fundraising Workshop to be conducted at the Golden Triangle Motel in Norfolk, Va. on Oct. 9. The president and fundraising chairman of each chapter will participate in the workshop to be conducted by Mrs. Pearson and Joe Williams, national executive secretary of the Alumni Association.

A&T alumni have supported the University with more than $130,000 during the past three years and are committed to a goal of $333,000.

20,000 EXPECTED TO ATTEND AGGIES' HOMECOMING EVENTS

If you haven't been to an A&T Homecoming, you really haven't lived, the old grads will tell you. And if you miss the 1971 Homecoming Weekend on Oct. 15-17, you will deny yourself probably the biggest "full time" of all.

Indications are that more than 20,000 backslappers and other well wishers of the University will be in Greensboro for the three days of festivities.

The Homecoming Committee has slated a full round of activities, beginning with informal receptions on Friday night and ending with the annual Alumni Worship Service on Sunday morning.

The gathering place this time for the alumni will be the newly opened Ramada Inn, just off Interstate Highway 85.

"This will be our headquarters," said Joe Williams, executive secretary of the Alumni Association. "We'll be there to greet all of the returning Aggies."

An innovation this year will be the first annual A&T Sports Hall of Fame induction banquet on Friday, Oct. 15 at 6:30 p.m. in the Memorial Student Union. Seven former Aggie stars will be inducted in the Sports Hall of Fame.

The highlight of the weekend, of course, will be the Homecoming football game between A&T and visiting University of Maryland at Eastern Shore.

The two rivals, both playing for the first time in the new Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference (MEAC), will clash on the turf of Greensboro Memorial Stadium on Oct. 16, at 1:30 p.m.

Whether or not the Aggies win the ball game, a large crowd of alumni are expected to attend the new ultra modern Exhibition Hall at the Greensboro Coliseum.

This affair, which will get underway at 10 p.m. Saturday night, could attract upwards of 2,000 persons. As in past years, reservations for the dance may be secured from the national alumni office.

The A&T alumni are also participating this year in the annual Mardi Gras, sponsored by the Tau Omega chapter of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity. That dance will be held on Friday night, also in the Exhibition Hall.

The concluding alumni activity will be the annual worship service on Sunday at 11:00 a.m. in the Richard B. Harrison Auditorium. Speaker for the service will be the Rev. Henry Joyner of Atlanta.
