Family Reunion At Christmas

On December 19th, the home of the Greggs, 1109 Gorrell St. was the scene of much happiness and joy.

The occasion was a festive one — the meeting of the Jordan clan — two brothers, four sisters and their families.

The get together took us back in our memories to the old fashioned manner of observing Christmas.

The day was an exciting one. The Yuletide spirit prevailed. We engaged in many activities such as exchanging greetings, playing and singing Christmas carols, watching TV interviews, taking pictures, and making recordings. Most of the happenings were recorded by tape and pictures taken by a movie camera, as we engaged in various activities.

Prior to the feast, Mrs. Ernestine Jordan Stewart led a brief devotion. James Roddey, a great nephew read the Christmas Story.

After the devotion period, a delicious dinner was served buffet style. All the food and goodies that make up a Christmas dinner was enjoyed by all.

After dinner we assembled around the Christmas tree where gifts were given to each person in attendance. Mesdames Carolyn Mallette and Ernestine Freeman were in charge. Again we joined in singing more Christmas carols led by a niece, Mrs. Cynthia Roddey. Mrs. Ruth Jordan Plair presided at the piano.

Jequetta and Taryn Mallette, young nieces interviewed every person present. These were recorded for future enjoyment.

Mr. Gregg was chief photographer and camera man.

This was truly a memorable occasion for the Jordan clan — one not soon to be forgotten.

As night began to fall, those who had to report for duty Monday morning began to wend their way homeward.

Seven of the group started their journey homeward Monday morning.

Those attending the family get together were: Mrs. Ernestine Jordan Stewart and Mr. C. B. Stewart of Kinston, Mr. James Hood Jordan, Philadelphia, Pa., Mr. Tony Stephen Jordan, Charlotte, N. C., Mrs. Ruth Jordan Plair, Rock Hill, S. C., Mrs. Mildred Jordan
