Measels Vaccination To Be Given

Dr. Sarah Morrow, Director of Guilford County Health Department has announced the vaccination locations for the county-wide measles immunization program for children age 1 through 12 which begins next month. The forms which must be signed by the parent and returned to the public school each child attends, will be brought home by the children on Monday, Feb. 28th. Parents are requested to return them without delay.

From March 10 through March 17th, Public school children will be immunized at the schools they attend. On Monday, March 20 through March 24th, preschool, private and parochial school children will be immunized at the larger facilities.

On Sunday, March 26 from 12:30-3 p.m. clinics will be conducted at 18 different places throughout Guilford County for children who were missed earlier. No charge will be made for immunization at any of the clinics. These locations in Greensboro are Health Department, 300 East Northwood St., Ben L. Smith High Gym, Dudley High Girl's Gym, Page High Gym and Grimsley High Boy's Gym, in Guilford County are Colfax, Allen Jay Primary, Jamestown Elementary, Guilford Primary, Rena Bullock, Nathaniel Greene, Summerfield, Monticello, Rankin, McLeansville and Gibsonville, and in High Point at the Health Department.

The Health Director, a pediatrician, states that a new combined vaccine will be used which requires only one dose to make a child immune to both kinds of measles. She reminds parents that red measles (rubeola) and German measles (rubella) are two different diseases which children need to be vaccinated against in order that they will not catch either one. The vaccination is safe and according to best medical authority will last a lifetime.

While all children must be immunized against red measles according to a new law passed by the 1971 N. C. General Assembly, our children have an opportunity to be protected from both red and German measles by taking the combination vaccine.

Dr. Morrow further stated that red measles, called 14-day measles, can be a serious disease of

A&T INITIATES TWO PROGRAMS OF AID FOR AFRICAN NATIONS

Two new projects, designed to give A&T State University an expanding role in the nation's international development program, will be initiated at the university next month.

Under the first program, economic specialists from A&T will team with officials from the Ohio State University and the University of West Virginia in developing a post graduate training program in agriculture for the nation of Uganda in East Africa.

A&T was selected for its role in the project by the Agency for International Development.

"We are extremely excited about this unique attempt to bring the predominately-black colleges and universities into the overseas development program," said Dr. Lewis C. Dowdy, president of A&T. "Although we have sent a number of our professors and graduates into foreign countries and they have compiled outstanding records in the area of international service over the past years, this is the first time that we have been privileged to have this kind of direct involvement."

Dowdy said the new projects will offer an expanding role for A&T in providing technical assistance to the developing nations, especially those countries in Africa.

"We try to make our contributions, not only in the area of agriculture, which is the current thrust," said Dowdy, "but we hope to supply expertise for other areas as well."

A&T's initial direct emissary under the AID program will be Dr. Sidney Evans, chairman of the University's Department of Economics.

Evans will leave the United States on March 3 for a two-year tour as a marketing economist at the University of Makerere in Uganda.

Evans said the University of Makerere is a regional university and that he will be engaged in teaching and research.

Also participating in the initial project will be four officials from the University of

A&T KARATE TEAM TO HOST SOUTHEASTERN KARATE TOURNEY

By MARVIN HAMILTON

The A&T State University Karate Dojo, a member of the United States Karate Association, will sponsor the "A&T Southeastern Open Karate Championship," here April 15. The tournament which will last from 9:00 a.m. until 10:00 p.m. will be held in Moore Gymnasium.

The Karate Tournament, which will be sanctioned by the United States Karate Association (the largest Karate Association in the United States), will be the first major karate tournament in the Triad area.

The ournament will be directed by Hulon Willis, 5th degree black belt, of Petersburg, Va. Willis is the Regional Representative of the Southeastern United States for the United States Karate Association.

The head official will be Master Yoo Jin Kim, 8th degree black belt, president of the Korean Judo Kwan Association in the United States.

William Perry, president of the A&T Karate Dojo, stated that this year the Karate dojo has two main goals. "One is to obtain more training equipment for the dojo, and to increase the knowledge of the general public about the beautiful art."

The dojo has been quite successful in obtaining equipment this year. To help familiarize the public with the different aspects of the art, the dojo has written articles in the newspaper concerning Karate. It has also given demonstrations of the art at ball games, on television and at various other affairs.

Perry stated that, "we think that having a karate tournament in Greensboro will give the public a chance to see for themselves, different aspects of Karate."

The tournament will basically be centered around the sport and competitive aspects of Karate. The tournament will have competition in Kumite (free sparring), Kata (form), and in breaking.
