$30,000 For Graduate Fellowships Awarded By U. S. To A&T State

North Carolina A&T State University's Graduate School has been awarded a grant by the U. S. Office of Education for partial funding of 10 Graduate Federal University Fellowships. Announcement of the awards was made in a letter to the Dean of the Graduate School, Dr. Albert W. Spruill in February.

The fellowships totaling more than $30,000 were appropriated under the Department of Health, Education and Welfare's EPDA program. This program enables graduate students studying in regular curricula to slant their graduate studies toward preparation for college teaching.

Courses in college teaching, seminars in problems and practices in collegiate work and an internship are experiences that each fellow must follow in his program. Fellowships cover tuition and fees, cost of education allowance and a cash stipend for recipients and their dependents.

Dr. Spruill indicated that the recent award marks the second year that A&T State has benefited significantly in EPDA funding. Last Spring the university received 20 partial fel-

Rose Culture And Pruning Clinic At Friendly Center

The Greensboro Rose Society will hold a rose culture and pruning clinic Saturday afternoon, March 18, 1972, beginning at 2:00 P.M. Mr. Jesse G. Wilkinson, President of the Greensboro Rose Society, and approximately 25 Rosarians will be present to conduct the clinic. The clinic will cover all phases of rose culture, including professional techniques of pruning, planting, fertilizing, growing, mulching, and the use of various insecticides, pesticides, and seasonal care.

The clinic is free and open to the general public. The Rose Society encourages individual participation in this clinic. Those who would like to participate should wear suitable clothing for the clinic, including gloves, and should also bring their own pruning and lopping shears. This clinic is only offered once a year and is not limited to professionals but open to all persons interested in roses and their care. We would like to encourage everyone interested in roses and their care to turn out for this clinic at Friendly Shopping Center.

Fast Breaking Aggies Pour It On In Winning 1st MEAC Tourney

By Cureton Johnson

Durham, N. C. — Human nature often indicates that people love to knock off a giant.

At the beginning of the 1971-72 basketball season North Carolina A&T State University was chosen the team to beat in the first year of the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference and several of their players would undoubtedly dominate the league.

Like other giants in sports, the Aggies were placed at the

Then at the MEAC tournament in Durham this past weekend, A&T had to win it all over again and did, beating two strong teams soundly inspite of a two week schedule layoff. The University of Maryland — Eastern Shore succumbed 88-67 Friday night and Howard University could do no better than number two Saturday in biting the dust
