MRS. PERLINE THOMPSON REIGNS AS MOTHER OF THE YEAR FOR '72

Mrs. Perline Thompson, Social Worker with the City Department of Welfare and Social Services was selected Mother of the Year for 1972.

According to Mr. Johnson, Editor of The Future Outlook, this event is slated to give recognition to the mother who, even through struggles and seemingly impossible barriers, is able to overcome these obstacles, one who finds time to keep the home fires burning and even light the flame of hope in others. Mrs. Thompson, as is true of mothers in the past, has worked in and out of the home with great concern and interest in the welfare of others. She is dutiful in her Church, St. Mary's Catholic Church and its choir. She serves with the Missionary Circle in her community. At intervals, she found more time for her work by placing her children in Mrs. Marjorie McLeod's Nursery School, better known as The St. Matthew's Nursery.

The honoree has shown thrift and industriousness in working closely with her husband to make a good life for their family. She inherited about four along with two houses, which most young mothers would not have held on to, but in respect for the security of her own mother and late father, Percy Foster, she has kept the family property intact.

In reference to her work at home and her occupation in Social Service, and participation in the Willow Road Missionary Circle, and no doubt other organizations, she sets a good example of a true missionary, and a mother who includes all of humanity in her quest for happiness.

These attributes set the criteria on which the Mother of the Year is chosen.

GUEST SPEAKER AT MT. TABOR CHURCH

Mrs. Fannie Hinnant will be the guest speaker for the Mother's Day Service, Sunday, May 14 at 11:00 A.M. at Mt. Tabor Methodist Church. She is from McLeansville and is a member of Providence Baptist Church.

A&T Wins $45,000 to Conduct Studies on Pollution

The federal Environmental Protection Agency last Friday approved a grant of $45,000 for A&T State University to develop manpower planning criteria for municipal waste water collection system, Rep. Richardson Preyer (D-N.C.) reported.

The grant was authorized under the Water Pollution Control Act, as amended, dealing with manpower planning.

Elie Namour, assistant professor of economics at A&T, who will serve as project director, said, with the focus on stream cleanup, a need was seen for establishing standards for personnel charged with operating waste water collection systems and maintaining them.

"We need to determine what kind of training this personnel should have and get it written down," he said.

The study will deal with municipalities of populations of up to 150,000.

Preyer said, "Specifically, the grant will be used to develop definite specification information relative to quantitative and qualitative personnel requirements needed to properly manage, operate and maintain these various systems and to develop environmental manpower planning capabilities at a predominantly black university."

The grant period is April 30 of this year to Jan. 31 of 1973.
