WASHINGTON . . . one industry
I was in Washington for a few days recently, and what impressed me most was the utter ignorance of the people of Washington about what is going on the rest of the world.

Building industry is booming, constructing new Government buildings. Government employees are working every day, yelping mildly about a small reduction in salaries. Streets are crowded with cars, driven with the utmost recklessness and most inefficient traffic regulations. Stores are doing as good business as ever, at prices much higher than in New York. Rents are almost up to the highest level.

Washington has but one industry, the Government of the United States. It is so detached from the rest of the country that it might as well be in some other nation. It is difficult for the men who run the government to realize how bad conditions are elsewhere, when they see evidence all around them of great prosperity.

I have long believed that it was a serious mistake to locate the seat of government away from the center of business and industrial activity. If I could do it, I would move the Capitol and the White House to Chicago which is where they ought to be if they are really to represent the American people effectively.

LAND . . . safest investment

In spite of the fact that many owners of real estate have suffered great losses in the past few years, land remains the safest, soundest investment in the long run. The supply is limited, for one thing. Increasing population means increasing demand for land. Every baby born on Manhattan Island increases the value of the Woolworth building.

The time to buy land is now. Dollars are high now; they will be much cheaper shortly. Land is cheap now; it will be much higher before long. The time to buy anything is when everybody else wants to sell. If you own land, hold on to it; if you have dollars, buy land with them for safety!

Don't speculate in land! Pay for it and hold it. Don't speculate in anything on which you can't always realize something at a moment's notice. You can't move land around; you must wait until someone wants that piece at that spot. So buy land intelligently, in the path of the movement of population. Regard it as an investment for your children rather than as a way to make yourself rich over night.

The world's greatest and most enduring fortunes have been made by buying land and holding on to it.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of thanking each and every one who showed so much kindness and willingness to help us during the sad hour of our recent bereavement in the loss of our dear one, Lillian Blevins Higgins. W. V. Blevins and Family and Lonnie Higgins.
