

STATE TO GET LARGE AMOUNT FEDERAL FUNDS

Eleven Million Road Funds to be of Special Benefit In Starting up Work Again

Raleigh, June 21—North Carolina will receive a large amount of Federal money under the terms of the Industrial Recovery Act just passed by Congress, in addition to about $11,000,000 for State highways and the State's part of the $50,000,000 included for national forest and national park roads.

Other ways in which this State will receive benefit from the funds are: 1. Government expenditures for postoffice or other public buildings owned by the government in cities and towns of the State.

Mr. Jeffress also points out that the Industrial Control bill provides that states, counties and municipalities may obtain from the government a direct grant of 30 per cent of material and labor costs of jobs approved as part of the program set up by the Federal Emergency Administration. These include such as roads and streets in municipalities, school buildings and auditoriums, court houses, water purification and sewer disposal plants, and other improvements.

To obtain maximum results under this section of the law, it will require much engineering and careful study in working out details of the program to gain approval of the Washington department which provides the loans and makes the grants, Mr. Jeffress points out.—Harnett County News.

GLADEVALLEY HIGH SCHOOL

Saul, Johnathan, and other important characters in the history of the Old Testament. Valuable reference works by eminent Bible scholars are available for research work of the students.

The course for tenth and eleventh grades is from the life of Christ and the history of the early Christian Church.

Library

A library of over two thousand volumes is maintained with additional books added each year. Six sets of encyclopedias and over a hundred reference works on history comprise a part of this library. Text books are kept on hand and are rented to the students from year to year at a small charge.

Expenses

School expenses are $16.00 per month, with music extra. This charge covers the cost of room rent, heat, lights, tuition and board. Many of the students pay a part of their expenses by working in the farm, firing the furnaces, looking after the dirty, and helping to keep the plant in order.

Students who are unable to do so are encouraged to pay the full amount in cash, although produce is taken in part payment also.

Budget

The cost for running the Glade Valley School for a year is ten thousand dollars in a normal year. If each student would pay $140.00 per year this would leave a deficit of two thousand per year. The difference would be taken care of by the donations of friends to the school and by the endowment fund.

Memorial Funds

From time to time memorial funds have been established to perpetuate the memory of some loved ones. The largest of these was by a Mr. Smith of the Lorillard Tobacco Company for $10,000, and another of $5,000 from Mrs. Blackwood of New York.

Orphanage and School Combined While G. V. does not claim to be an orphanage yet we do have a number of students that have lost one or both parents. A few years ago the count was taken and one student in four had lost one or both parents.

Some of these have come to us from Greensboro, Charlotte, and other towns, besides many from our own mountain section. Other cities who have sent students to G. V. are High Point, Wilmington, Del., Tampa, Fla., Wilmington, N. C., Lewisburg, W. Va., and scores of smaller places, many of them in other states.

With its 125 acres of land for forest, farm and pasture, it's two comfortable dormitories, which may readily be adapted to take care of seventy-five summer visitors, with its endowment already started, with its excellent record as a preparatory school, with the loyal support of thousands of its friends and graduates, with its extraordinary cooperation between faculty and students this school looks forward to the future with confidence and hope.

FOSTER'S BIRTHDAY TO BE CELEBRATED

Noted Song Writer of Kentucky was Born on Independence Day

Bardstown, Ky., June 24—Stephen Collins Foster's birthday will be celebrated in Bardstown July 4.

It is a nice coincidence that the nation's birthday and Foster's birthday fall on the same date. But it is really an exciting coincidence that on one of his birthdays Foster was the guest of his friends John Rowan, at beautiful Federal Hill in Bardstown and it was during that visit that Foster composed "My Old Kentucky Home," one of the most beloved ballads in the world today.

The story is that Foster first played the song on the old piano at Federal Hill at an evening party and a that a beautiful young girl sang the appealing words. Naturally enough when Federal Hill passed into the possession of the State of Kentucky 11 years ago "to be preserved forever as a State Shrine," the place was given the name of the song and since then has been known as "My Old Kentucky Home."

For years Bardstown has remembered that July 4th is the birthday of Foster and in 1932 the Old Kentucky Home Commission inaugurated a birthday celebration which will be an annual event.

Last year seven thousand people gathered on the shaded lawns and in the great natural amphitheater to sing Foster's songs and to honor the memory of the man who had honored Kentucky with his music.

This year an even more elaborate festival is being planned. Not only will thousands of voices join in the singing of "My Old Kentucky Home" "Old Black Joe," "Oh Susanna," "Cold, Cold Ground," "Camptown Races," "Old Folks at Home," "Nelly Was a Lady," "Jeanie" and other Foster songs but there will be hundreds of violins, mandolins, guitars, flutes and other string reed and brass instruments to swell the volume. The music will be under the direction of the School of Music of the University of Louisville and everybody, near and far, who sing or play an instrument is invited to participate in the music.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Wool Prices Much Better Than Last Year, Reported

N. C. Agricultural Review) Marketing experts of the North Carolina State Department of Agriculture are again this year cooperating in the sale of wool by farmers in western North Carolina counties. L. C. Salter, who spent several weeks in this field, reported the middle of June that the Department had aided in the sale of about 100,000 pounds, which brought from 20 to 32 cents, as compared with from 10 to 12 cents last season. The work is still in progress, he said.

Enumerating the counties in which this work has been carried on, he named Jackson, Macon, Haywood, Clay, Swain, Buncombe, Avery, Watauga, Alleghany, and Madison.

The wool industry is very important in these counties, and the Department of Agriculture is very much interested in helping the farmers dispose of this product to the best advantage. It is co-operating with other agencies which have this object in view.
