Much money is being spent by the Federal Government for roads and But appropriations for education are small or not at all. The education of the youth of the land should not be neglected. There is a great need for vocational training, and Uncle Sam can do many things worse than increasing the appropriations for vocational education.

NEEDED-500,000 HOMES.

According to government reports the nation is short some 500,000 homes. Building operations have practically ceased since 1929. The fact that communities are plastered with "for rent" signs is no indication of an over-supply of dwellings; it simply indicates the extent of the doubling-up process that has taken place during depression—a process that will be reversed as conditions improve.

By the same token, the suvey demonstrates that there is an almost incalculable amount of reconditioning and modernizing of existing residences that needs to be done. An interesting phase of the survey is that the small, one-family house, costing $5,000 or less, will be principally in demand when the new-building wave

The thrifty home-owner and prospective builder, reading this, will not miss its message. It means just one thing: higher prices for both new construction and alterations and improvements. The first signs of that price rise are appearing, with a gradual and steady strengthening of the commodity price level. Prices are still extremely low-construction and material firms are offering bargains that would have seemed fantastic not so of skilled and common labor. That long ago-there is a plentiful supply condition won't last forever.

Public Opinion

It is needless for me to say that I appreciate most highly your compliments in your issue of July 6th by reference to my work as County Superintendent of Schools during the years 1901-05. I believe greatly in giving flowers to the living so they can enjoy their fragrance and beauty. Then let me say, please, that whatever credit I am given for starting a progressive movement in the schools of our little county could have int. on $48.12 from Dec. 18, 1931, cost turns. never been accomplished by one sin-! $1.00 gle individual because there was no public buildings. That is fine. I believe I'll be pardoned if I give the honor or share the honor to whom the honor is due. A good woman-a good mother, if you please, who had ambition, not only for her own children, but for every mother's child in the county, saw that if the schools were to be continued under the old order of things that the hope of education for that present generation, at least, was gone. Call it revolutionary or what not, this good woman had Nobody ever got an electric light the courage of her convictions. So ble and well known men, men who she selected the names of four capastood four-square for the cause of education at that time, and asked the powers that were in Raleigh at that time to appoint three out of this list of four, as members of the Board of Education for the county. All of the middle-aged and older citizens remember well the names of the men who composed this first Board of Education to take upon themselves care of tse sick. But this Board of Education namely: J. H. Wagoner, J. T. Fender, and C. J. Taylor, had what they most needed-visions. They had the ability to dream dreams and the passion to make them come true. They were like the Apostle St. John, speaking of his vision on the Isle of Patmos, when he said, "And I saw a new heaven and a new earth." They had the imagination, the courage and the desire that it would be possible to build out of the wreck or whatever it was that had been turned over to them. At least a new earth so far as the schools were concerned.

Criticized, abused, and often misunderstood, Caswell J. Taylor, the chairman of that Board of Education, had ability that few men possessed. So far as textbook knowledge and knowledge actually gained by attending school was concerned, he was limited, but he was an honor graduate in the university of man. So by nature and his acquirement he was the peer of any man living or dead that has ever lived in our county. I believe the records will bear me out that in those troublesome years when he was chairman of the Board of Education that every single decision or ruling perintendent of schools ever had made was one of unanimity. No sustronger support by his board than I had. They had serious and grave $20.00 on Feb. 25, 1933. er or later, would have had to pass problems to decide. So it was by this good woman-Mrs. Josie Fields. And I might as well say through her Board of Education that I was given an opportunity to serve the schools and the cause of education of our county, and whatever success maybe attributed to my work in starting the movement for improving the schools, I could not have succeeded had I not had the unanimous support of that Board of Education, the wonderful support from a large majority of our citizens, and last but not least, the aid and encouragement given me by the State Superintendent of Schools, Gen.
