THURSDAY, JULY 27, 1933.

In a heart-to-heart talk to the people Monday night the President made an eloquent plea to the nation for whole-hearted and unselfish cooperation with the administration in making the New Deal an immediate reality.

Calamity howlers are about as popular now as a tom-cat on the back fence at 2 A. M.

Pessimists are finding audiences about as scarce as Bibles in a speaking.

Mr. C. A. Miles, Relief Director of Alleghany County, states many complaints are coming into his office concerning relief cases from other counties who are, at this time of the year, coming into this county.

Mr. Miles' office has been able to give extensive relief to all needy people of this county. This should not, however, encourage the outside relief subjects to come into the county.

Those who have neglected putting out any gardens or crops will not be allowed relief, neither those who have been living in this county or those who are now moving in.

He hopes that the taxpayers will realize what a tremendous burden it is to look after all those who need help. Unless they cooperate fully, it will be impossible to give the best service to the really deserving.

Mr. Miles has been making efforts to send those who have recently come into the county back to their original counties. Unless those dependents upon the relief office go back to their original counties, it will be necessary for the landowners from whom they have rented houses to furnish them sufficient work and to support them.

FARM NEWS

BY W. B. COLLINS, County Agent.

A scrub or low-grade ram is an expensive animal although he may be bought at a low price. A purebred ram at a relatively high price is a much more economical ram to keep.

If we are to get the proper weight and finish on our market lambs we will have to use purebred rams.

There will be a purebred ram sale held at Sparta on the first Monday in August to give the farmers of Alleghany County an opportunity to secure good purebred rams for their flocks.

There will be 14 purebred yearling rams offered for sale on that day.

Farmers who have good rams and wish to exchange them for rams, which are not related to their ewes, are requested to bring them to Sparta on the first Monday in August so that exchanges may be made.

All sheep should be given three drenchings, a month apart, for stomach worms. These drenchings should begin at least by the first of August. To drench for stomach worms; dissolve one ounce of Bluestone in three quarts of water and give grown sheep 4 ounces of the solution. Give lambs 2 ounces of the solution. Keep Bluestone solution in glass or earthenware vessels. In drenching sheep keep all four feet of the sheep on the ground and hold the head so that the nose will be level with the eyes. Drench slowly so as to avoid strangling.

In nearly every flock of sheep there are a few lambs which have failed to get sufficient milk or for other reasons are thin in flesh. All these thin lambs should be taken from the ewes, drenched for stomach worms, turned in good grass and grained twice a day until they are fat. There is very little excuse for any farmer in this county offering under weight, thin lambs for sale in September when the last lambs are sold. The cost of fattening a lamb in this way is very small compared to the loss sustained by selling under weight thin lambs.

Mrs. Frank Campbell and her attractive daughters, Janet and Hannah, returned home Saturday after visiting Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Underwood for a week.

Miss Mary Underwood is in High Point for several days, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank and family.

Those enjoying a fishing and camping trip on New River over the week-end were: Mr. and Mrs. Rich Burchett, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Chambers, Jean and Howard Honaker.
