Accident Manual For FERA Workers Has Been Prepared

Suggestions For Prevention Of Accidents Based Upon Expenditures Under CWA Administration

Winston-Salem, June 5.—State Safety Director E. G. Padgett has mailed to each of the county federal emergency relief administrators throughout the state an accident prevention manual outlining principal precautions to be taken while engaged in the relief administration work.

Mr. Padgett cites the accident record during the life of CWA and offers suggestions as to methods that should be employed to keep loss even lower under the new program.

Among the leading causes of serious accidents under civil works are listed in the manual as improper handling of tools, inattention to falling objects, carelessness in making excavations, neglectfulness with respect to working scaffolds, etc., thoughtlessness in handling and transporting explosives and a disregard of many ordinary rules of safety.

Now that summer is here, Mr. Padgett in his 30-page manual directs the attention of administrators to the dangers of snakes, electrical storms and particularly to sunstroke and heat exhaustion. The comment on sunstroke and heat exhaustion will be of interest to the general public, as well as those engaged in FERA activities.

Below are some points concerning Heat Exhaustion: "Cause—Exposure to heat, particularly sun's rays. Insufficient protection from the sun's rays and addiction to alcohol are two of the contributing causes.

"Symptoms—Dizziness, oppression, and sometimes vomiting. These symptoms develop during exposure. Insensibility follows rapidly. About 25 per cent. of cases admitted to hospitals die. Headache, red face, skin hot and dry, no sweating, pulse strong and rapid, temperature very high, unconscious, usually.

"Treatment—Remove to shade and cool place. Remove clothing. Lay on back with head and shoulders slightly elevated. Apply cold to head, wet cloths, ice bag, etc. Cool body with bath or cold applications and rub limbs and trunk briskly to stimulate circulation.

Below are some points concerning Heat Exhaustion: "Cause—Exposure to heat, either sun's rays or indoor heat, such as engine or boiler rooms, foundries, bakeries, and the like. A full meal followed by iced drinks seems to be a cause, particularly in factories.

Summer School To Be Conducted At Dobson This Year

Dobson, June 5.—Appalachian State Teachers' college, Boone, will operate a branch summer school in Dobson, county seat of Surry county, this summer, according to an announcement made recently by John W. Comer, Superintendent of Surry county schools.

It is expected that thirty-five courses will be offered, more being provided as the need for them arises. A faculty of six members will have charge of the work and the courses offered will be the same as similar ones offered at Boone and all courses will count toward graduation from the two and four-year courses at Boone.

Fishing Ban To Be Lifted Mon. Throughout N. C.

Catching Of All Types Of Fish Will Be Permitted After June 11. Season Delayed

Raleigh, June 5.—Anglers of the state, probably 300,000 strong, will be seeking favorite fishing places after the seasonal ban of fish is lifted next Monday, June 11, for all types. Breeding season, extending from May 1, with certain exceptions, have checked inland fishing for certain warm water species, but this will be all over and the state-wide season will open June 11.

Unfavorable conditions delayed a fishing season even on days when fishing was permitted during the closed season, but the summer months will change this. Already a pickup in sale of fishing licenses is noted in preparation for the season's official opening.

State-wide fishing license fees are $2.10 and the county fees are $1.10. Non-residents must pay $5.10 for a season license or may fish one day on a 60-cent permit. A resident of a county which charges a fee for its own residents may fish one day on a 50-cent permit.

Burke county residents, where warm water fishing has been closed since March 1, began fishing Friday, June 1, and like regulations were effective in other portions of Lake James and Rhodhiss, which are among the most popular angling grounds of Western North Carolina.

Small-mouth bass fishing in the mountains opens simultaneously with warm water angling in the mountain counties. Seasons for trout which had been closed all winter, were opened April 15 and will continue until September 1.

BAILEY AND REYNOLDS VOTE TOGETHER FOR TARIFF BILL

Washington, June 5.—Both Senator Bailey and Senator Reynolds, of North Carolina, "went down the line" with the Roosevelt administration in support of the tariff bill, which was voted on in the Senate yesterday. Both North Carolina senators voted for passage of the legislation giving President Roosevelt broad powers in making tariff reciprocal agreements with other nations with the view of stimulating world trade.

Roosevelt Speaks At Commencement Of Groton School

Tells Graduates That They Must Meet Changes Of Changing World. Youngest Son In Class

Groton, Mass., June 5.—In an address Saturday night that marked commencement exercises of Groton school, his old alma mater, President Roosevelt warned that students must adapt themselves to the changes of a changing world. The chief executive, in an axiomatic speech delivered behind the high-walled grounds of this exclusive institution of learning, from which newspapermen were barred, pointed out that education never is finished and that the best any school can do is to send its scholars into the world ready to grasp the opportunities that confront them.

At the same time President Roosevelt paid a glowing tribute to Dr. Endicott Peabody, Groton's founder and rector, observing of his old teacher that "as long as I live the influence of Dr. and Mrs. Peabody means and will mean more to me than that of any other people next to my father and mother."

Dr. Peabody was the officiating minister at the wedding performed on St. Patrick's Day, March 17, 1905, when Miss Eleanor Roosevelt became the bride of the man who is now president of the United States. The bride's uncle, Theodore Roosevelt, who was then in the White House, traveled to New York to give away the bride to his distant cousin.

Accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, their daughter, Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Dall, the President reached the school from Worcester in the early afternoon. There he was met by his youngest son, John, one of this year's graduates.

During the entire afternoon he was a keenly interested spectator of the closing sports program, showing special attention when two of the Groton classes engaged in a baseball game. It was recalled that when he was here as a student in the nineties the President was one of the school's star third basemen.

Mr. Roosevelt's address was the high light of the school's 50th anniversary celebration, held in connection with commencement exercises.

Old-Time Fiddlers' Contest Held Here Sat. Night June 2

An old-time fiddlers' contest was held at Sparta high school on Saturday night, June 2. The large audience was well entertained with string music on a variety of instruments. J. K. Snow with his autoharp, won heavy applause.

Miss Reba Doughton Official Of Young Democratic Clubs

Miss Reba Doughton, Laurel Springs, daughter of Congressman Robert L. Doughton, Chairman of the Ways and Means committee of the national House of Representatives, has been appointed assistant executive secretary of the Young Democratic Clubs of America. James Roosevelt, son of President Roosevelt, is secretary and Cliff Woodward is president of the organization.

State Bar Groups To Meet At Duke Late This Month

Joseph B. Keenan, Assistant United States Attorney General, Will Be One Of Principal Speakers

Raleigh, June 5.—At the first annual meeting of the North Carolina State Bar, to be held on June 28, which will give way that evening to the thirty-sixth annual meeting of the North Carolina Bar association, the principal speakers will be Joseph B. Keenan, assistant Attorney General of the United States, and William Logan Martin, Birmingham, Ala. Both meetings are to be held at Duke University, Durham.

Judge Robert W. Winston, Chapel Hill; Judge F. F. Faville, Des Moines, Iowa; Earle W. Evans, Wichita, Kan., president of the American Bar Association, and Dean Justin Miller, of Duke law school, will be the principal speakers of the older organization of both groups, announces.

Dean Miller will welcome the State Bar June 28 at an 11 o'clock meeting, with response by President I. M. Bailey, and Mr. Keenan's address on "The Lawyer's General Responsibility to Society and Government" will follow. At the afternoon session Mr. Logan will speak on "The Obligations and Opportunities of the Incorporated Bar," followed by business, election of officers and adjournment.

That evening the voluntary association will convene, with welcome by F. L. Fuller, Jr., president of the Durham Bar Association, and Dr. W. P. Few, president of Duke University, with response by Kingsland VanWinkle, Asheville. President J. Elmer Long will speak on "The Relationship Between the Younger and Older Men of the Bar," and Judge Winston on "A Garland of Ashes: An Aspiration for the South."

The junior bars will hold a breakfast meeting at 8:30 June 29. Judge Faville will address the morning session on "Religious Freedom and the Common Law"; Thomas J. Pearsall, Rocky Mount, will speak on "The Young Lawyer and Self-Preservation," and Henry Bane, Durham, on "The Junior Bar." With an afternoon given over to recreation, President Evans, of the American Bar, will speak at the evening session at 8:30 on "The National Bar Program."

Dean Miller will speak at the closing session Saturday morning on "Probation—A New Device in Criminal Law Enforcement." Officers will be elected at this final session.

Transformer Fails To Work; House Is Set On Fire Friday

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Edwards and small son, Dean, and Mrs. Edwards' mother, Mrs. Creed, miraculously escaped probable death Friday at their home at Glade Valley when the fuse in the transformer which was used to reduce the electricity into the home, failed to blow out during an approaching storm, sending the full force of the current on the high powered line from Elkin to Sparta, into the home, setting the house on fire in several places.

Mrs. Edwards, unable to reach the telephone, ran to a neighbor's house for help. A messenger was sent to Sparta to have the power cut off at Elkin.

Mr. Edwards was hurled into the yard when he attempted to knock the switch down to the meter.

Water was poured on the house where the wires entered and the fire was kept down with little damage resulting. EARTH SHOCKS FELT AT MONTEREY, CALIF., TUES. Monterey, Calif., June 5.—Two distinct earth shocks were felt in the region of Monterey this afternoon about 1:50 o'clock. As far as is known no damage resulted from the tremors.

Warren, Warden, Reeves, Irwin And Gambill Win In Democratic Primary Sat. Sales Tax Candidate Defeated

Tabulation Of Voting Completed About 11 O'clock Saturday Night. Biggest Primary Vote Ever Cast

The Democratic Primary held Saturday, June 2, ended one of the most hotly contested political races that Alleghany county has seen for many years. More persons voted Saturday than have voted at any primary heretofore. Official returns show that M. A. Higgins, farmer and business man, was defeated by Dalton Warren, Sparta merchant, by a vote of 120 in their race for State Senate. W. P. Warden defeated C. W. Ervin by a vote of 447 for House of Representatives. A. F. Reeves, veteran politician and Clerk of the Court for many years, won over R. C. Halsey by a vote of 464. Walter M. Irwin, local barber, and for many years teacher in Alleghany county schools, swamped under three other contestants for the Sheriff's race by a vote of 278 more than the next highest. John C. Gambill won the nomination for County Commissioner over Horace G. Greene by a majority of 412.

Livestock Market To Open At Galax On Mon., June 11

J. T. Horney Supervising Final Preparatory Work At Felts Park And Organizing Sales Force

Preparations for the opening auction sale of the Grayson-Carroll Livestock Market at Galax, which will take place on Monday, June 11, at 1 p. m. are going forward rapidly. J. T. Horney, owner of the market, has been in Galax since last Thursday supervising the construction of the stockyards and pens, organizing his sales force, getting acquainted with the farmers and livestock men, and putting the finishing touches generally to the market for the opening sale on June 11.

W. C. Roberson, the present post master at Galax, has been appointed manager of the market, and Paul Kirk, Independence, has been appointed grader.

The Grayson-Carroll market is one of a chain of livestock auction markets owned and operated by one or the other of the Horney brothers.

Several of the key men used by Horney brothers on the Abingdon market will be brought to Galax to help in the opening sale Monday, June 11, at 1 p. m. Among them will be Mr. Carter, ringman; Bennett Berry, grader; Jake Keller, sales supervisor; R. C. Copenhaver, bookkeeper, and Mr. Carson, sales clerk.

Mail Carriers And Ladies' Auxiliary Hold Annual Meet

The members of the Alleghany County Rural Mail Carriers' association held their annual meeting Wednesday night, May 30, at Twin Oaks hotel. The Ladies' Auxiliary held its meeting at the same time. The carriers, their wives, and a number of the invited guests were served a delicious chicken dinner, with all the accompaniments, in the dining room of the hotel by the Woman's Missionary society of the Methodist church. The hosts for the occasion were Edward Pugh, Glenn Taylor and John Tucker.

Following dinner, the business meeting was held. The officers were re-elected for the coming year. They are: W. C. Irwin, president; Lon McReeves, vice president; and Glenn Taylor, secretary-treasurer.

The ladies, whose officers are Mrs. W. C. Irwin, president, and Mrs. Edward Pugh, secretary-treasurer, also re-elected their officers for another year. After business matters were transacted, and the meeting adjourned, the crowd left for the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pugh, Laurel Springs, where a square dance was held. A number of additional guests also enjoyed the affair. All the rural carriers, with one exception, were present, and everyone reported an unusually enjoyable time.

It is not known whether R. B. McMillan, who received the second highest number of votes for Sheriff, since Mr. Irwin's vote was not a majority of votes cast, there being four candidates in the race. Mr. McMillan, if he chooses, can force a second primary if, and when he files again within five days.

Final tabulation of the vote in the county was completed in Sparta Saturday night about 11 o'clock and, due to the intense interest in the contests, many people lingered until after midnight discussing the outcome, before leaving for their homes.

The nomination of Warren for the State Senate was hailed by the opponents of the sales tax as a signal victory for their cause. He had carried the issue straight to the people in eleven speeches before the voters of Alleghany county and his nomination, due to the fact that the district is overwhelmingly Democratic, means that the senatorial district composed of Alleghany, Ashe and Watauga counties will be represented in the legislature at Raleigh by a man pledged to the repeal of the sales tax.

Mr. Warren's opponent, M. A. Higgins, father of Solicitor Carlisle Higgins, had the support of the regular Democratic organization, headed by "Governor" R. A. Doughton, sales tax proponent.

Sparta Lad Gives Adults Lesson In Economical Travel

If the majority of Sparta's adult population was as ingenious as little Johnny McMillan, many of their serious problems would soon be solved. Johnny has demonstrated his ability to cope with the problem of transportation and to do it pleasantly and economically.

One of Johnny's daily tasks is to drive the cow home from pasture. Tuesday, while spectators watched, highly amused, young Johnny nonchalantly rode through town on his little red wagon, holding on to the cow's tail allowing old "Jersey," who apparently noticed no impediment to propel the wagon along. Thus, he performed his duty with an economy of labor, obtained a free ride, and appeared to be thinking "all's well with the world."

Recent developments indicate quite positively that the treaty establishing present naval ratios will not be renewed, that a free-for-all naval race between the United States, Japan and Great Britain will begin, and that the United States will seriously consider the fortification of islands in the Pacific, now under a treaty ban. Some time ago, Great Britain and the United States began a series of informal conversations, quickly followed by a hint from Japan that if other nations made preliminary agreements, she would probably not participate in a naval conference. As the Japanese have plainly indicated their dissatisfaction with the present ratio, and Secretary Swanson has been outspoken in advocating their retention, a deadlock is apparent. Moreover, the British government has manifested a clear determination not to accede to the Japanese demand for parity. Unless something happens to change the outlook, the three nations will soon begin to build unrestricted navies. Completely surprising diplomats the signing of a new treaty between the United States and Cuba marked the surrender of our special rights in that country under previous treaties and specifically abandoned the claim to intervention and supervision of Cuban affairs. The naval base at Guantanamo is under lease and retained in the new treaty which abandons all rights to another base west of Havana on the north coast. The action of the administration in sending the treaty to the Senate for ratification caused general rejoicing among all Latin-American diplomatic representatives, who hailed it as the last act in accomplishment of complete Cuban independence. The embargo on sales of munitions to Bolivia and Paraguay is the first time that this country has taken joint action against two nations in a dispute. For different reasons, embargoes were imposed during the Napoleonic wars, and occasionally in recent years have been applied against Latin-American nations and China, but usually against revolutionists and not governments. Whether the action taken forecasts similar steps in the future remains to be seen, although an embargo against Japan in her Manchurian policy has been frequently urged. That the NRA was attempting to blanket the country with codes which were incapable of enforcement is seen in the recent order exempting service industries from their own codes, but permitting them to fly the blue eagle by complying with the minimum wage and maximum working hours, child labor restrictions and the statutory provisions of their codes, such as collective bargaining and the power of the President to license members. The industries affected include motor vehicle storage and parking, bowling and billiards, barber shops, cleaning and dyeing establishments, shoe repairing, advertising display installation, and advertising distribution trades. Senator Glass of Virginia, won a complete victory in his fight for (continued on page 2)
