Doughton To Speak Soon In Winston-Salem

Congressman Robert L. Doughton, of Alleghany county, is to address the Winston-Salem Junior Chamber of Commerce membership on Monday, December 17. The local Congressman, who is chairman of the powerful national House of Representatives Ways and Means committee, will be introduced in Winston-Salem by Robert M. Hanes, former state senator and president of the Wachovia Bank and Trust company.

Carl Goerch, Raleigh magazine publisher, is also scheduled to address the organization on Monday, December 3, at the Jaycees' supper meeting and will be introduced by Robert W. Gorrell, chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce program committee. Miss Margaret Bagby, Winston-Salem vocalist, will sing several selections.

Congressman Doughton and Mr. Goerch are classed as two of North Carolina's outstanding speakers.

Gov. Ehringhaus To Speak At N. Y. Insurance Meet

New York, Nov. 21.—Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus of North Carolina will be one of the principal speakers at the twenty-eighth annual convention of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents to be held in New York on December 13 and 14. The discussions will stress economic service and its part in the solution of national problems.

In addition to Governor Ehringhaus, leaders in a number of important fields will join the life insurance executives in the deliberations. Other prominent speakers will include Dr. John Stewart Bryan, president of the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Va., and publisher of the Richmond News Leader.

must expect to find some way to make it possible for those in dire circumstances by reason of age to spend their declining years in self-respecting privacy, free from the pangs of hunger and the stigma of pauperism. We must banish the poorhouse.

"Three things have served to make old age pensions an increasingly important issue: First, a steady decline in the birth rate, immigration restrictions and a longer span; second, our new mechanization of industry and the resultant difficulty for persons of advanced years to obtain and hold jobs. And, third, our new social conscience that causes the community to feel more than ever before its responsibility for those, who, by reason of age, are unable to adequately care for themselves."

U. S. To Aid Dry States To Enforce Law

Washington, Nov. 21.—The federal government has started its biggest enforcement drive since prohibition by telling the 20 states which still have anti-liquor laws that it would help them crush bootleggers.

A law, passed in 1926 and allowed to gather dust on the shelf ever since, was dragged out for use in the campaign. It provides that retail liquor dealers must pay a $1,000 annual excise tax in addition to a $25 occupation tax.

What has been happening, according to treasury officials, is that liquor dealers in dry states have been paying the $25 occupational tax so they would not run afoul of federal laws. They were willing to take their chances against state enforcement officers. The federal government has accepted the $25 tax from thousands of persons on the theory that it was up to dry states to enforce their own dry laws.

Glade Valley

Glade Valley, Nov. 19.—The Junior class of Glade Valley high school will present a three-act comedy-drama, "Eyes Of Love," on Thanksgiving night, November 29, at eight o'clock. The cast of characters is as follows: Carolina, a negro servant, Una Norman; Gailya, an adopted daughter, Evon Eldridge; Reeta, a two-faced friend, Thomas Gambill; Burt Wade, Reeta's brother, Fritz Wyatt, Mrs. Barry, Gailya's foster mother, Josie Roten; Lora, a lively house maid, Mildred Dancy; Clark, a busy butler, Bruce Harless; Judge Barry, Gailya's foster father, Earlie Wolfe; Royal Manton, Burt's rival, Port Barlow, and Jim Rankin, the manacled man, Bill Orsborn.

J. M. Wells, Jr., a lawyer of Winston-Salem, delivered an inspiring address to the members of the Young People's league last Sunday night. He was accompanied to Glade Valley by Mrs. Wells and his niece, Miss Polly Wells.

During the past week the Woman's Auxiliary of the Glade Valley church observed the week of Prayer and Self-Denial for Home Missions. A study of Home Missions of the Southern Presbyterian church was led by Miss Margaret Dowdle, of the Glade Valley high school faculty.

Rev. Herman J. Womeldorf, of Franklin, W. Va., was a guest at Glade Valley during the past week-end.

Among those who attended the Davidson-V. M. I. football game at Davidson on Saturday, November 17, were Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Thompson.

Thelma Osborne was a visitor in this community Saturday afternoon.

Farley Present

Gastonia, where he walked through a large cotton mill, as well as the local post office.

Mr. Farley predicted that the Democratic party would continue indefinitely at the helm of the government in the United States provided it showed it was fit for the trust.

He warned, however, that if the party fails to show itself fit for this trust "the people will not tolerate us and will turn the government into other hands."

Excuse It, Please

A fellow dialed his home telephone number.

"Hello," he said, "Is that Mrs. Brown?"

"Yes."

"This is Jack speaking. I say dear, will it be all right if I bring home a couple of fellows to dinner?"

"Certainly, darling."

"Did you hear what I said?"

"Yes—you asked if you could bring home a couple of fellows to dinner. Of course you can, dear."

"Sorry, madam," said the fellow as he hung up. "I've got the wrong Mrs. Brown."—New York Morning Telegraph.

Life's Darkest Moment

One of the turns in the entertainment after the annual dinner of a famous London firm was provided by a conjurer. For one of his tricks he asked for the assistance of some one from the audience.

A man went up, and while the audience waited for the conjurer to continue the trick, someone in the front row called: "Hi! Don't you make 'em disappear. 'E's our treasurer!"—Bystander.
