

Chevrolet Puts New 1936 Model On Display Sat.

Completeness, As Seen In Appointments And In Convenience, Is Stressed Company's Announcement

New Master de luxe and Standard Chevrolets for 1936, embodying advances in styling, engineering, and performance, were introduced November 2 at the New York automobile show and simultaneously throughout the country at dealer salesrooms, which have already been liberally stocked with new models for display and delivery.

Completeness in equipment, in appointments, and in convenience is stressed in the company's 1936 announcement.

The Master de luxe, offered with either knee action or conventional springing, has been restyled in its more important appearance elements, notably by the adoption of a higher and narrower grille of distinctively original design, in combination with a new treatment of the hood louvers, new style headlamps mounted on the sides of the radiator shell, and new interior trim.

The lower priced Standard models have been completely redesigned in chassis and bodies. Last year the Standards differed materially both in appearance and in construction from the Masters; this year, the two lines are identical in all major features of styling, engineering, and performance, the chief difference being only a matter of wheelbase.

Body interiors of Master models show marked advances in comfort and style. An important innovation is found in the design of the front seating arrangement of the Master coach and town sedan. Instead of the usual divided and hinged front seat of two-door models, a single seat cushion extends the full width of the car, permitting three passengers to ride comfortably. The seat-back is divided, the right side section being hinged to fold forward over the seat cushion to open a passageway to the rear compartment.

Chevrolet's Standard models for 1936, besides incorporating features that appear for the first time on the Masters, take their place in the line as entirely new models, with new box girder chassis frame, more powerful engine, longer wheelbase and larger bodies. The line of body types has been increased to seven by the addition of three models—the four-door sport sedan with built-in trunk, the two-door town sedan with built-in trunk, and the cabriolet.

Horsepower of the Standard, formerly 74, has been increased to 79 at 3200 r.p.m. by changes in combustion chamber design, valve operation, and carburetion in combination with an increase in compression ratio from 5.6 to 1 to 6 to 1.

Clutch improvements include the use of a new "shot-blast" process of treating cushion springs of the disc, and a more accurate alignment of the release levers. A rail-type shifting mechanism on the transmission with positive interlock, has been substituted for the plate type formerly used. Fuel tank capacity, formerly 11 gallons, is now 14. A ventilated generator has been adopted.

In changing to perfected hydraulic brakes on both chassis models, Chevrolet has adopted the hydraulic principle of brake actuation to its own design of brake mechanism within the brake drums. Instead of the cable operated floating cam formerly used at each wheel, a master hydraulic cylinder with double opposed pistons is used to actuate each pair of one-piece articulated brake shoes.

Major improvements have been made in the Chevrolet cooling system to maintain lower engine temperatures and to attain important benefits in the control of engine oil temperature and of cylinder block and valve push rod expansion. The chief change is the adoption of full-length water jackets. Formerly, only the upper part of the cylinders was water jacketed. In the new engines, the water jacketing extends far below the lowermost point reached by the head of the piston, nearly to the lower edge of the piston skirt at the bottom of the piston.

The rings thus come in contact only with cylinder wall surface that is constantly cooled. Since the full depth of the cylinders is surrounded by water, the cylinders warm up evenly.

Chevrolet's all-enclosed knee action units, now entering their third year, remain unchanged from their original design except for an improvement in the methods of attaching the wheel spindle to the support arm. The spindle is now pressed into the arm under 10,000 pounds pressure, and its inner end is then peened over. Riding qualities of the Standard have been improved by an entirely new design of springs and suspension. The front springs are now 36 inches long, 3 inches longer than formerly, and their deflection rate is reduced from 315 pounds per inch to 209. Rear springs are

DOOR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

Football for the Mature Boy

Football is in the air, both on and off the radio. Somehow the fall tang brings out the urge to combat. But it can be overdone.

I mean that football is not just a game to be played casually, because the fall season has arrived. It is, rather, combat of a vigorous sort, for which one needs adequate preparation.

My particular objection is directed at fathers and teachers who promote collegiate football for grade and junior high school boys. True, they mean well. They have only the best interests of the boy at heart, but unfortunately—they don't know the whole story. Like a beginning swimmer they venture out of depth.

The boy of junior high school age is not a mature animal. In fact, his extreme immaturity is one outstanding characteristic. An sign of this awkwardness. Now, an awkward player has no business in a football "pile up." He only invites injury. Another weakness is the heart, because at this time it is undergoing rapid growth. The same is true of all the vital organs. They are not prepared for the stress and strain of violent contact competition. Later, they are, but until this period of rapid growth is over, it is to the boy's advantage to remain out of strenuous physical sports. Schoolmen know this and if fathers would cooperate we would have fewer athletic cripples in college and later.

All In One

He pondered over the menu a long time. At last he looked up. "I see you have six of my favorite dishes on the menu today, waiter," he said. "Which do you specially recommend?"

The waiter, whose job in the restaurant expired at the end of the week, sniffed. "Well, sir," he replied. "If I were you, I'd take hash and have all of them."

Likes City Dialect Stranger—Are you taking summer boarders this year? Farmer—Yep. We don't have to—but my wife likes to hear 'em talk that funny city dialect.—Sunburg, Pa., Daily.

Place For Everything Sutor: "I wish to marry your daughter, sir." Dad: "Do you drink, young man?" Sutor: "Thanks a lot, but let's settle this other thing first."

Just A Taste The nice old lady smiled at the little girl who had been left in charge of the confectioner's shop. "Don't you sometimes feel tempted to eat one of the cream buns, my dear?" she asked. The little girl was quite shocked. "Of course not. That would be stealing. I only lick them."

The men who move the world are the men the world can't move.

49 inches long, or 5 inches shorter, their deflection rate being increased from 105 pounds per inch to 112. The front springs are now shackled at their rear ends.

Hollywood Star-Lites

by Chuck Cochard

Hollywood, Calif., October 31.—The Hollywood premiere which went into a decline with the late flamboyant era, has begun to stir again and show signs of the return of this great filmdom outdoor sport. It started with the premiere of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" at Warner Bros. Beverly Hills theatre.

These premieres are really something to write home about and every visitor who journeys to Hollywood should by all means make an effort to attend one. They attract between four and five thousand people, who start pouring around the entrance of the theatre as early as two o'clock in the afternoon. Policemen by the dozen have to keep the crowd from mobbing the celebrities. A good sign that a premiere is going on is the fanning back and forth in the sky dozens of powerful search lights, that can be seen miles away. It is really a treat to see all movieland dressed their best (mostly trying to outdo each other). Many a style starts on the road to popularity from its appearance at a premiere.

Money is no object when it comes to decorating the theatre. Trees are planted, electric signs (one story high) are strung across the street, and orchestras play in the foyer of the building.

Rumors have been floating around this star-studded city during the last few days that Sid Grauman, rightfully titled the world's greatest showman, has been negotiating for his old Chinese theatre in which to present the best in motion pictures as well as his personally supervised stage shows. Yes, there's never a dull moment in Hollywood.

STAR-LITES: Turning to the type of production on which he first built his name, Cecil B. DeMille has started preparations for the filming of "Buffalo Bill", a saga of the Indian fighting frontier days. DeMille tells us that "although I have been successful with earlier pictures of the west which I brought to the screen, none of them has opened up such colorful possibilities as the story of "Buffalo Bill". . . . For three years Ann Harding pestered her home studio RKO to buy the rights from Paramount to produce "Peter Ibbetson" for her, but nothing happened until yesterday when Paramount offered her the title role, and she literally jumped at the offer. Gary Cooper will play the male lead. "I am not flattering myself when I say that I am the only actress in Hollywood who could play it," she said, "although some have tried to tell me that is the reason why I was borrowed from another studio for it." Nothing like a little self confidence.

FASHION LITES: Helen Myron, clever young designer for 20th Century-Fox believes in keeping well in advance of the times for already she has many original ideas for spring clothes buzzing about in her head.

"I shall use a great many 'fruit' colors," she remarks enthusiastically, "and also fruit clusters for trimming. Some of the colors will be gooseberry green, banana yellow, cranberry red.

"A cluster of blackberries to give contrast to a banana yellow dress is one good way to use the fruit clusters; or perhaps a tiny clump of oranges with several crisp leaves for a color note on a black suit.

"In sport things it might even be amusing to invade the vegetable kingdom and decorate a green costume with a small bunch of carrots."

DO YOU KNOW: That Herbert Marshall's first job in life was as a clerk in a London certified public accountant's office?

ON THE SET: Victor McLaglen spending most of the first day back at Fox on "Professional Soldier" telling the boys what it felt like to play opposite Mae West in the picture which he just finished with her. . . . Marlene Dietrich, co-star with Gary Cooper in "Desire", is the only star at Paramount who invariably eats in the studio cafe. She frequently sits at the counter with the extras and back-lot workers. . . . A block on Alpine Drive, Beverly Hills, is called "singers row" because Gladys Smarhout, Lawrence Tibbett and Nelson Eddy occupy adjoining houses. Can you pity the poor neighbors when all three are rehearsing for pictures?

INSIDE GOSSIP: Last week's featured player who has been spending a lot of time at a local night spot is Jack LaRue and the attraction is Eddie Adams, noted west coast torch singer, who was recently signed by M-G-M for a long term contract.

WHAT famous blonde star surprised all filmland recently by attending a Hollywood premiere with her former husband of only a few months ago? This blonde feminine person has been seen quite frequently in the company of a film star, who warbles for both pictures and radio. That's all for today. Wait till next week. CUT.

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs is one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminators, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins.

Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the system. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)
