Hoover's Position

In short, the nearest to "feedbox information" about the former President's position in respect of 1940 is that he would consider a ticket headed by Senator h District Attorney Dew ey as his running mate, as about the best and most popular ticket the Republicans have to offer, and that while he would somewhat rejuctantly consent to be drafted if such a ticket can-not be nominated, Mr. Hoover doesn't want the job of being President again. He knows too much about its difficulties.

In view of all the reports cited here about Mr. Hoover's position, it seems clear to Washington politicians that he will have a great deal to say in Republican party affairs. Contrary to a general
