

GOLDSBORO HERALD

"Wayne County's Leading Weekly Newspaper"

Audited Circulation

3,154

95.84 per cent. in this Immediate Territory. Audited October 5, 1937

FRIEND ADVERTISER

Demand audited circulation. Don't buy "A cut in a bag." Circulation is what you buy. Be sure to get it.

VOLUME XIV, Number 5.

Goldboro, N. C., Thursday, November 18, 1937.

PRICE: 5 Cents

Rep. Lindsay Warren Declares For Peace In Armistice Speech

Speaks To More Than 1,000 People During Armistice Program Here Thursday

A mammoth county-wide Armistice Day celebration held in Goldboro Thursday was featured by an address by Representative Lindsay Warren of Washington, N. C., before over a thousand people in the Paramount Theatre, in which he declared that the United States must maintain a leadership for peace if it desires to maintain religious, financial, and moral leadership in the world.

The all day celebration began with a big parade starting from the Memorial Community Building, marched through the principal streets and culminated at the theatre.

Headed by a motorcycle escort cars in which rode Hon. Lindsay Warren, State Vice-Commander Robert E. Stevens, Post Commander George Cox of Goldboro, Floyd A. Andrews of Mt. Olive and Robert L. Yelverton of Fremont led the procession. They were followed by cars in which Gold Star mothers rode.

The Wayne Post drum and bugle corps presenting a military note in snappy red and blue uniforms, followed the colors. The Sons of the Legion came next, followed by the Wayne Post American Legion and other World War veterans. Others in the parade were American Legion Auxiliary, Boy Scouts and their Drum and Bugle Corps, Girl Scouts, Junior Patrol, Colored Veterans, colored Boy Scouts, hundreds of school children, and the Goldboro Fire Department and the Goldboro municipal band.

At the public exercises in the theatre, R. E. Stevens, chairman of the observance, presided. J. B. Pierce of Fremont, second district Legion commander gave the address of welcome. The Rev. W. C. Ball, pastor of the St. Paul Methodist Church the invocation. Special music was rendered by a group of Mt. Olive singers.

Representative Warren declared that a policy of complete isolation for the United States is no longer possible, he pointed to the closeness into which the nations of the world have been brought by modern transportation and communication. Maintenance of the nations place in international trade necessary for balance and progress of industry and agriculture is predicated upon dealings with other nations, he said. Complete isolation would sacrifice this position, he pointed out.

He called upon members of the American Legion and ex-service men to lead influences in America which direct full energy to prevent another world war.

At the same time, Mr. Warren pointed out, America must maintain adequate national defenses as the surest way of maintaining permanent peace.

The soldiers of 1917 should now be soldiers for peace, he said and paid glowing tribute to the valor and heroism of the men who served in the World War. Armistice Day, he said, should be a day of rejoicing, a day of concentration, of taking stock of the past and viewing the future with the vision of further contributions to the nation and to the world. That the people of America appreciate fully the sacrifices of the World War soldiers is indicated in the government appropriations to provide hospitalization for veterans and to care for their families, he said.

Following the address, ex-service men who had marched in a parade were guests of honor at a barbecue at the Community building. A swimming exhibition in the afternoon, a basketball game at night between a Brogden and Pikeville teams, and a dance beginning at 10 p. m. at the Hotel Goldboro completed the program.

Mrs. Matthews Hostess

Mrs. Raymond Matthews was hostess at an informal tea at her home on East Mulberry Street on Friday afternoon in honor of her sister, Mrs. Charles Rose, Jr. of Fayetteville.

The rooms were decorated with fall flowers. Mrs. Matthews and Mrs. Rose greeted the guests, who were later invited into the dining room where Mrs. A. E. Donnell and Mrs. H. O. Null served Russian tea, sandwiches, cakes, and nuts. On the dining table was a centerpiece of white and yellow chrysanthemums and yellow candles. About 25 guests were present.

SELF P. T. A.

The Belfast P. T. A. will meet Tuesday night, November 23, and all class rooms of the school will be open for inspection, according to announcement of Miss Dorothy Klaw, teacher, who urges all parents to attend the meeting.

Cause and Effect?

Probably this announcement should not be made as the Herald office might become flooded with applicants for positions. Anyway, there won't be any determined bachelors or old maids among those applying.

During the past two years five employees of the Herald were married. Four of these were married while working with the paper and one resigned to marry.

Walter Sellers was the first to take the vows and was followed by Ben W. Dail, J. M. Horton, Lillian Forehand, and Iola Lewis. Mr. Dail is still with the paper and Miss Lewis, who is the latest, is now on her honeymoon. Miss Forehand resigned her position to marry.

You may think this a surprising circumstance, dear reader, but hold to your comfortable arm chair, thrust your feet closer to the fire and prepare for the climax of this unusual story.

Out of five of the employees who married, four of the marriage ceremonies were performed by none other than your editor and author of Rambler's Round, Eugene L. Roberts.

It is easy to see your minds drawing a vivid picture of a newspaper office surrounded by a most romantic atmosphere and many of you will think the Herald a matrimonial center. But, alas this writer has been a prospective employee of the Herald for several months and, with your sympathies, admits he is still single.

Attention of Hugh Waldrop, Louis Hummel, J. W. Wilson, Ozden Parker, Fred P. Parker, Jr., and Kennon Jordan is directed to this story. Maybe they could be induced to begin newspaper work.

CHIPS OFF THE OLD BLOCK

(By MAURICE I. BLOCK)

Bill Langston wrote this. Ain't he smart.

SOWS BELLY AND STEAK

As it reacts on the human mind.

To those who have not made a study of this change of diet will be surprised to know that it acts just like an opiate on the human mind. Sows Belly has been for centuries the happy medium of diet used by our Southern people; steaks as a means only to give the inner man his Sunday morning change. Sows Belly is used for the purpose of seasoning vegetables and other kinds of food and always changes its flavor in unison with the kind of food it mingles with. Steak has its individuality and takes no part in helping or hindering the taste or flavor of anything.

Sows Belly is looked upon by the "ret rich quick" as a diet for the poor, the lame, and the blind.

A peer that is cooked because there is nothing else to cook. This feeling is generated through their knowledge that for years they have had to live on Sows Belly as their only means of sustaining life and a temporary break comes to them bringing with it a feeling of revolt and the yolk of Sows Belly is replaced with the bloody steak and for a time with winking mouths and dripping lips they thrive. Immediately then is a change in everything. They become restless and want to go. They purr and whine, rip and snort, lambast and charge, bluff and blow. Their friends of yesterday have the smell and taste of the thing so pregnant in their minds. They want to get away from it. They buy a little car, not satisfied with that they make another change and here they go and there. It is amusing and pathetic to those who have learned long ago the danger of such a sudden change and they sit and wait, knowing that in time the crew will come home to work and some of these get rich quick even come to earth again and settle down to that good old source of useful and lasting diet that they must eat to live, Sows Belly, for their staple diet and steak with their Sunday clothes.

J. W. HOWELL

James William Howell, 79, died at his home in Brogden township Thursday afternoon following a four month's illness of kidney trouble. Funeral services were conducted from the home Friday afternoon and burial was in the Edgerton cemetery at Nahant.

Surviving are the following children: Mesdames Kirby Boyette, John Lancaster, Ella Denning, and Marvin Boyette, Goldboro; Mrs. Carrie Frick, Kinston; Moody Howell, Goldboro; and J. D. Howell, Dudley; and one brother, Marshall Howell of Pine Level.

Earl Thompson Is New Head of Duke Alumni In Wayne

Is Elected At Meeting Last Friday Night When Seniors of County Entertained

Earl Thompson was elected president of the Wayne County Duke University Alumni Association at its annual meeting at the Hotel Goldboro Friday evening. Principal speakers at the meeting were Jimmie Simpson, assistant Duke University Alumni secretary and Coach Jack Combs of Duke University.

T. Frank Jones, president of the local association, presided. T. R. Robinson, oldest member of the local unit, was guest of honor. In a talk he recalled some of the days of "Old Trinity" in Randolph County. Mr. Robinson is a member of the class of 1877, and is one of the oldest living Duke alumni.

Nelson Ricks of Mt. Olive was elected vice-president for the coming year; Miss Alma Bizzell, Goldboro, secretary and treasurer; and Miss Flora Crews Best, Fremont was named to represent the association on the alumnae council. Secretary Simpson in his talk discussed plans for the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the founding of Union Institute, out of which Trinity College and Duke University grew, the celebration to be held during 1938.

The Rev. J. B. Hurley, for 41 years a member of the Duke board of trustees spoke of the progress of the institution.

Following the dinner meeting, the association entertained approximately 200 Wayne county high school seniors at a dance at the Hotel Goldboro.

'Deluxe Fly Killing'

A local young man employed by the Opera Shoppe told of the time he "bit" on a magazine ad purposely.

At a time, he and some friends were following up magazine ads just for the fun of it and to find out how many were misrepresented or false.

They found an ad for a "Guaranteed Fly Killer" which told briefly of the merits of this beneficial invention. "Just what the housewife is looking for" and "a boon to the human race, etc." All for 50c.

Upon sending their money to the company advertising the fly killing machine, the investors received two wooden blocks. One on each of the blocks was the letter "A" and on the other, "B."

The instructions with the blocks read: "Catch a fly and place it on block A. Take block B in the right hand and strike block A sharply. We guarantee that this will kill any fly or your money back."

MRS. MARY FAULKNER

Mrs. Mary E. Faulkner, 77, died at her home on Virginia street in Goldboro Thursday night following an illness of several months. Funeral services were conducted from the home Friday afternoon by her pastor, the Rev. W. C. Ball, of St. Paul Methodist Church. Burial was in Willow Dale cemetery.

Mrs. Faulkner was before her marriage, Miss Mary E. Tankersley, a native of Lee County, Va. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Lessie Burton and Mrs. Ola Redford, both of Goldboro; one grandson, Ernest Burton; three sisters, Mrs. Fannie Broughton, Greenville, Texas, Mrs. Ellen Corne, Houston, Texas, and Mrs. Jane Music, Dryden, Va.; and one brother, H. W. Tankersley, Dryden, Va.

Mrs. Mary A. Ward Observes Her 65th Birthday on Sunday

More than 100 relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Ward, of the Arrington Bridge section, last Sunday for the observance of the 65th birthday of Mrs. Mary A. Ward, step-mother of Mr. Ward.

A bounteous dinner was served picnic style on a long table in the yard, and Mrs. Ward was the recipient of numerous presents for her birthday.

Among those present were the children and their families: Mrs. Bob Casey and Mrs. Newman Potts of Goldboro; Mrs. Estelle Ward, LaGrange; Mrs. John McCullen, Goldboro; Mrs. Fred Moxingo, Dudley; route 1, and Buck and Urban Ward.

D. C. Ward and Mrs. Kanis Fields, the latter of Pikeville, were step-children present, as was Mrs. J. W. Ward, step-daughter-in-law. Others were Henry Garris and

Fishermen

Goldboro's champion deep-sea fishermen officially closed the season last week-end with a record catch of 134 rock fish totaling 300 pounds—and that is no fish tale. They were caught in Croatan Sound.

Ray Edmundson, B. B. Montague, and Dr. C. F. Strosider, the champions, are to be congratulated on their ability to "pull 'em in" and here is hoping that they have even a bigger season next year.

Brief News Notes

SENTELLE GETS PARDON Representative J. E. Sentelle of Brunswick county will not have to serve the 30-day jail sentence imposed on him for a drunken driving offense on March 27 for which he was twice convicted. Although the Brunswick legislator will have to pay the $225 fine and cost and have his driving license revoked, Governor Hoy relieved him of the jail sentence he received from Montgomery County Superior Court Judge J. A. Rousseau.

GREEK SAILORS SAVED After 30 hours on a stormy sea, following the sinking of the Greek freighter Tzeny Chandria, twenty-one members of the small vessel were saved Sunday night from death in the dreaded waters off Cape Hatteras, N. C. Bodies of four others were aboard the Coast Guard Cutter Mendota and survivors said three more seamen were dead—two drowned and one dead from exposure.

Wake's First Woman Juror When Letha R. Britt's name appeared on the Wake County jury list, those in charge of making up the list and members of the Board of Commissioners, who draw panels from the box, thought this possessor was a man. When Miss Britt, a trained nurse residing in Panther Branch Township, reported for duty Monday as summoned—everybody knew differently. But there was none to deny that she was not qualified so she served as Wake county's first woman juror under Judge Hubert E. Olive.

4-H Club Members May Win Free Trip

Free trips to 4-H Club members to Washington, D. C., will be given this summer by the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, according to announcement this week.

This is the eleventh year this offer has been made; and a boy and a girl from the counties of North Carolina directly serviced by the ACL will receive this award of trips which is based on the best all-round record in club work.

Those of this section with fine records should compete for the one-week, all-expense-paid trips to Washington.

MRS. TEMPLE CORBETT

Funeral services for Mrs. Temple Corbett, 78, were conducted at the graveside in the old Atkinson cemetery near Princeton, fifteen miles west of Goldboro, on Thursday afternoon by the Rev. L. E. Godwin of Four Oaks. She died Wednesday morning at the home of her son, H. M. Corbett, in the Cox's Mill section on Princeton Route 1, following an illness of pneumonia.

Mrs. Corbett was the widow of the late John Corbett. She is survived by three sons, Johnnie, Henry, and H. M. Corbett, and two daughters.

Edgar Hoover Asks Aid In Efforts To Find Kidnap Money

Sends Out Letter Giving Information About Money; But Does Not Identify Case

An interesting notice from J. Edgar Hoover, Bureau of Investigation, was sent to numerous Goldboro merchants recently in regard to the investigation of a kidnaping case. It follows:

"There is attached hereto a list of currency which constituted the ransom recently paid in a kidnaping case. All $100 and $20 bills described in this list are Federal Reserve notes issued by the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, Illinois, with one exception; namely, $10 Federal Reserve Bill No. A13473996A, which was issued by the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, Massachusetts. All $5 bills described in this list are silver certificates issued by the United States Treasury Department.

"The bills described in this list are arranged consecutively in numerical sequence, subdivided as to the face value of each bill.

"It is requested that you immediately examine all currency now in your possession to ascertain whether any of these bills have been received in your institution. It is further requested that you examine all currency hereafter coming into your possession for the purpose of locating any of the bills which are described in this list. In the event information is obtained concerning the location of any of these bills, it will be appreciated if you will immediately communicate by telephone or telegraph, collect, with the nearest of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The location, address and telephone number of the various Field Offices of the Federal Bureau of Investigation are set out on the reverse side of this memorandum.

"Your cooperation and assistance in this matter will be sincerely appreciated.

Very truly yours, J. E. Hoover, Director Federal Bureau of Investigation United States Department of Justice Washington, D. C. October 8, 1937.

Although the notice does not specify the case to which it refers, this writer believes, from his deductions, that the notes listed were those paid to the kidnapers of 72-year-old Charles S. Rowe of Chicago who disappeared on September 25.

The Rowe family paid the kidnapers $50,000 in notes of three denominations, and the government released the serial number of the 1250 bills given the abductors. The trap which has been set to snare the kidnapers is said to be similar to that used in the Lindbergh case.

AS I SEE IT

By L. E. WARRICK

As I see it the newspapers won another game Saturday. Anytime newspapers pick a team to win it is worth two touchdowns to the other team. Only the eleven players and the coach of the Carolina team believed they could beat Duke and since they were the most concerned about the game they proved it.

Duke could smell roses in the tournament of Roses game but Carolina caused the boys to lose their sense of smell. Duke did Carolina the same way a few years ago.

Speaking about football the Goldboro High School has made somewhat of a record. Undeclared, that's a big word. To date they are the best team in America. If they should win the next two games it would be a good time to quit. I would not take any chances on a post season game in Miami, New York or Los Angeles because if you go far enough from home or cover enough territory you will surely get beat.

Well, if it will help the boys I predict that Smithfield will beat Goldboro Friday.

MRS. EFFIE HARWELL

Mrs. Effie Lassiter Harwell, 64, native of Wayne county, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Albert Daniels, in Asheville Thursday afternoon following a brief illness. Funeral services were conducted from Salem Methodist Church, three miles north of Goldboro, Saturday morning by the Rev. J. B. Thompson, pastor of the Goldboro Methodist Circuit. Interment was in the cemetery at the church.

Mrs. Harwell was before her marriage Miss Effie Edgerton. Her first husband was the late R. S. Lassiter. She was later married to the late Mr. Harwell of Florida. About ten years ago she moved with her family from Wayne county to Asheville.

Daily Thoughts

By BILL WOOTERS

I have often wondered, during one of my naughty moments, what would happen if a mouse was placed in one of those ticket boxes that stand in front of theaters, while the cashier is in it.

My curiosity getting the better of me, I asked a local young lady who cashiers at the Carolina theatre what she would do if such a trick should be played on her. To my surprise she turned white as a sheet and gasped something about a "corpse."

I hope the reader won't take this as a suggestion as I am sure the results would be most distressing; and no doubt the cashier had rather tell you what would happen than demonstrate.

.....

We have all read articles on safety and fire prevention but I can not understand why there are only maybe two farmers out of a hundred who have fire extinguishers in their homes and barns. Probably the homes in the cities would be safer if this idea were used but the farmer is really the one who needs these safety devices most. Lightning may strike at any time and there is no telling when someone may drop a match in a pile of hay and burn the barn before one could get a pail of water.

The distribution of fire extinguishers at a very low cost would be an excellent campaign for insurance companies.

.....

Everyone is talking Christmas now. Kinda skipping over Thanksgiving it seems. I see that Well's are decorating the front of their store with Christmas lights and there are lots of advertisements for Christmas card salesmen.

I have yet to see the first turkeys on market, however, and I understand there is far from a shortage in this state—but where are they? When I was a kid, some say I still am, we would buy our turkey early and fatten him ourselves before Thanksgiving.

Guest most people are getting away from the old Turkey tradition every year. Some have duck and some "postum." Either way, they are all good. The only drawback to Turkey is that you have to eat it for a week after Thanksgiving, and too much is too much. Baked Turkey and Stewed Turkey and every other way you can cook one of the birds. After a week of that, a Turkey is really fowl—or did I misspell that last word.

.....

Mrs. Graves J. Smith Entertains At Hotel

Mrs. Graves J. Smith was hostess at a lovely bridge luncheon at the Hotel Goldboro on Thursday honoring Mrs. Henry C. Watterston, Jr. of Virginia Beach, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. H. Smith in Goldboro.

The luncheon table was centered with yellow chrysanthemums on a reflector and lighted by yellow candles. Covers were laid for 28.

After luncheon bridge was played in the card room, which was decorated with chrysanthemums and other fall flowers. Miss Mary Humphrey received the high score prize, a double deck of cards, and Mrs. C. E. Wilkins, the second prize, bath powder. The hostess presented Mrs. Watterston with a pair of hose.

The guests were Mesdames Henry C. Watterston, W. H. Smith, H. M. Humphrey, E. E. Estler, Paul Borden, R. B. Miller, J. S. Lewis, Frank Felton, E. W. Vick, Emil Rosenthal, Herman Weil, M. E. Robinson, C. E. Wilkins, W. F. Taylor, A. A. Joseph, S. B. McPherson, J. N. Johnson, W. R. Crawford, Paul Yelverton, W. F. Nufus, Sr., Ernest Dewey, and Walter Stansbury. Misses Mary Humphrey, Mary Lou Crawford, and Elizabeth Smith.

GOED OF THANKS

We wish to take this opportunity to express our heart-felt thanks to each and everyone who helped in every way since the fire. Mr. and Mrs. Lyman, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Fu...

New Hope Pupils Visit The Herald

Members of the Junior and Senior classes of New Hope High School were guests of the Goldboro Herald during an inspection of the newspaper plant yesterday.

Mrs. Annie Glover was the teacher in charge of the group which was made up of students interested in knowing the procedure of printing and making up a newspaper.

Mrs. Glover was accompanied by the following students: Annie Grady, Esther Corbett, Virginia Hill, Jewel Hare, Eva Lancaster, Ethel Sullivan, Edna Belle Eason, Louise Howell, Edward Williams, Lewis Irwin, Joseph Ginn, Winston Best, Susan Sullivan, Mollie Parks, Inez Wise, Mary Parks, Ruby Lee Smith, Jess Parks, John Daniels, Charles Smith, Arnold Smith, Joyce Howell, Jacob Edwards, Marvin Anderson, Jean Brown, Raymond Vinson, and Kermit Uzzell.

DAVIS-LEWIS

Mr. and Mrs. Ben R. Lewis announce the marriage of their daughter, Iola Geneva, to Mr. William Newsom Davis Saturday, October the twenty-third, nineteen hundred and thirty-seven, Bristol, Virginia.

The ceremony took place in the parlor of the Hotel Bristol at five o'clock in the afternoon. The Rev. Eugene L. Roberts of Goldboro and the Rev. C. G. Porch of Bristol, Virginia, officiated.

The bride wore a handsome wool ensemble of navy blue combined with lighter shades of blue, navy blue accessories.

Attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, parents of the bride; Miss Christine Lewis, her sister, a student at Virginia Institute College at Bristol; and Graves Lewis of Goldboro, her brother.

Following the announcement of the wedding on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Davis left on a wedding trip to unannounced points. Upon their return they will be at home at 401 North Virginia street.

The bride is a graduate of Louisville College, and holds a position in the office of the Goldboro Herald. Mr. Davis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Davis of LaGrange. He is a graduate of the LaGrange High School, and is connected with the Builders Supplies Company in Goldboro.

MISS ISAACS ENTERTAINS

Miss Ruth Isaacs was hostess at luncheon at her home on Park Avenue Thursday afternoon in honor of Miss Susan Rawlings, bride elect of this week. The home was decorated with autumn leaves and flowers.

When the guests arrived they were served cocktails and hors d'oeuvres in the living room. They were then invited into the dining room where a turkey luncheon was served buffet style. The central table was covered with a handsome lace cloth and centered with white chrysanthemums and fern. Tall white candles burned in silver holders. The dessert was bridal ice moulded in shapes of slippers, hearts, and wedding bells.

The hostess presented Miss Rawlings with a piece of silver, and presented Mrs. Abram Weil, a recent bride, with a gift.

The guests were: Misses Susan Rawlings, Mildred Rawlings, Martha Daniels, Celeste Adams, Frances Massey, Janet Sumner, Rachael Edgerton, Sara Carroway, Emily Parker, Hattie Lee Borden, and Nancy Bridgers; Mesdames David Bland, Jr., Arnold Edgerton, Abram Weil, W. T. Millican, Jr., Ray Scroggins, and Munroe Best; Misses Bee Adams, and Mrs. H. H. Harris, Jr. of Wilson; Miss Julian Evelyn, Atlanta, Ga.; and Miss Bevelyn Merritt, Macon, Ga.

ROBERT BASS

Robert Lee Bass ten year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Bass of near Furcks, died Monday night in a Wilson hospital following an operation.

Funeral services were conducted from the home of the parents on Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. Willis Baptist minister. Burial was in the family cemetery. Besides the parents three brothers and one sister survive.

Playboy Remembers Marriage Basil (Pat) Ryan, wealthy New Yorker, declared he had no recollection of his marriage to the 21-year-old Martha Barkley of Monteganton, N. C., mother of an illegitimate child, the night of November 4. Ryan told his wife, in a telephone conversation from Hickory, that they did not love each other and ask that she be "open and above-board about the entire affair."

A New Father's Philosophy "My son, never speak unkindly of price-cutters. Never knock them, because God made them the same as my son. He made them the same as He made snakes, lies, bugs, peaches and politicians in His inscrutable wisdom He made them. Why He made them only He knows. I'll be damned if I do."