The boys the Cora and Phenix had a nice game of ball Saturday afternoon. Hawkins had an over dose of the fiery stuff and used the bat over the head of Marvin Styres dealing him a severe blow. Styres is getting along very well but is pretty sick yet while Hawkins is in the county jail. Mixed drinks was the cause of it all. Styres lives at Gastonia.

Mrs. Plonk Entertains.

The Thursday Afternoon Book Club had a delightful meeting with Mrs. J. O. Plonk at her beautiful home on Gold Street July 2nd. The hostess has the enviable talent of combining rare tact with her social duties and her words of welcome to her guests as well her efforts for their pleasure made the afternoon one of pleasure. Cut flowers and growing plants added much to the beauty of the room. Two interesting contests, "Shakespearean Romance" and "Initials" with beautiful piano solos by Miss Ethel Plonk entertained the guests. Mrs. Fred Finger giving the best original answer in the Initial contest received the prize. Mrs. Plonk, assisted by Mrs. Geo. V. Patterson, served elegant refreshments in two courses. Miss Mary Ware and Miss Margaret Lane served fruit punch throughout the afternoon. A large number of friends, as well as club members, enjoyed Mrs. Plonk's hospitality.
