DELEGATES TO THE COTTON CONGRESS

NORTH CAROLINA REPRESENTATIVES TO EXTRAORDINARY SESSION AT WASHINGTON.

DISPATCHES FROM RALEIGH

Doings and Happenings That Mark the Progress of North Carolina People Gathered Around the State Capitol.

North Carolina will have an able delegation at the extraordinary session of the Southern Cotton Congress which is to be held at Washington on August 13 and 14, which has been called by the president, Mr. E. J. Watson, of Columbia, S. C., owing to the effect that the European war is having on the price of cotton and the necessity for some extraordinary means to finance the crop which will soon be on the market.

North Carolina produces about 500,000,000 pounds of cotton annually and, therefore, is vitally interested in any plan that will help to prevent ruinous prices. A drop of five cents a pound would mean a loss of $25,000,000 to this state.

Complying with the request of Mr. Watson, Acting Governor Daughtridge appointed the following delegates to represent North Carolina at this extraordinary meeting of the Southern Cotton Congress: W. A. Erwin, Durham; M. C. Braswell, Battleboro; R. H. Hicks, Rocky Mount; T. M. Washington, Wilson; Herbert C. White, Goldsboro; Frank Borden, Goldsboro; J. A. Long, Roxboro; D. Y. Cooper, Henderson; W. L. Parsons, Rockingham; J. L. Scott, Jr., Graham; C. W. Mitchell, Aulander; H. D. Alexander, Matthews; C. C. Moore, Charlotte; A. J. McKinnon, Maxton; A. A. Thompson, Raleigh.

Acting Governor Daughtridge in notifying Mr. Watson of the North Carolina appointees expressed the hope that the meeting might result in some plan by which the South's cotton crop may not be sacrificed.

President Watson has appointed the following well known bankers and farmers of the South who are interested in the cotton crop, to meet in Washington and make arrangements for the meeting of the congress: W. G. P. Harding, of Birmingham; Clarence Outley, of Fort Worth, Texas; W. B. Thompson, of New Orleans; Harvey Jordan, of Atlanta; Dr. R. E. Lane, of Dardanelle, Ark.; Mr. Allison, of Concord, N. C.; F. M. Maxton, of Mounds, La.; Representative Witherspoon, of Mississippi, and others will be selected, he stated.

Lewis W. Parger, president of the Parker Mills Company, now in New York, has been asked to represent the manufacturers on this committee, and T. B. Stackhouse, of Columbia, has been asked to represent the cotton warehouse interests.

Texas Governor Wires to Craig. What effect the European war will have on the cotton crop of the South is hard to determine. It can be said, however, that the South is really facing a crisis if the war continues, and the planters and business men are becoming very much alarmed over the situation.

The following telegram was received at the governor's office from the governor of Texas, which shows that the question of the disposition of the cotton crop this fall is attracting national attention. "Hon. Locke Craig, Governor of North Carolina, Raleigh: "With the impending war in Europe, prospects are, the South's cotton crop will not bring more than one-half its value, and our farmers will become bankrupt. Will you join me and governors of other cotton producing states in a conference at an early date at some convenient place for the purpose of trying to devise a plan by which advances can be made to farmers on their surplus cotton. In my opinion cotton should be placed in bond and advances made on it by the federal government. If you agree with this opinion will you join me in memorializing Congress to this end? (Signed) "G. B. Colquitt, "Governor of Texas."

Governor Craig being out of the state, acting Governor E. L. Daughtridge sent the following telegram in reply: "Hon. G. B. Colquitt, Governor of Texas, Austin: "Wire received. Governor Craig is not in the state at this time, but am sure he would join the governors of the Cotton States in any movement in protecting the South's cotton crop from being sacrificed on account of the European war.

(Signed) "E. L. Daughtridge, "Acting Governor North Carolina." In talking with representative business men of the state and city they all with one accord agree that the situation is one that calls for heroic measures and Congress will doubtless be appealed to, to help save this section from financial embarrassment caused by a condition of affairs of which they had no hand in the making.

Should the price of cotton be forced down to five or six cents a pound, bankruptcy would be the portion of many Southern farmers and when the farmers are hit other business becomes paralyzed. A Chicago newspaper is also interesting itself in the salvation of the cotton farmers of the South and a telegram was received at the executive offices suggesting a world-wide commission to take the matter in hand and asking the co-operation and assistance of Governor Craig to this end. Thus it will be seen that the great question is no longer national character, but concern

Red Cross Society Makes Appeal. There came to Governor Craig a long telegram from the headquarters of the American Red Cross Society asking the governor of North Carolina to make immediate general appeal to the people of the state for contributions for the support of the Red Cross work among the sick and wounded in the terrible European war now in progress. The appeal declared that Europeans contributed freely to the fund for the relief of the Americans in the Spanish-American war.

Returns Seventh Regiment Flag. There came to the executive offices of Governor Craig a letter from Governor Haines of the state of Maine to the effect that the Council of State of Maine has ordered the return to North Carolina of the regimental flag of the Seventh North Carolina Regiment, Confederate Army, which has been preserved in the Capitol building of the state of Maine all these years. The flag has already been forwarded to Raleigh by express by the Adjutant General of Maine.

REVELATION WAS TOO MUCH

Picture of "Hollering Jones" at Favorite Diversion Caused Him to Reform.

A well-known illustrator, who makes interesting western pictures, once made the acquaintance of a noisy but good-natured cowboy who rejoiced in the appellation of "Hollering Jones." In physical appearance this man was typical of his kind, and the artist made several studies of him, both in repose and in his favorite diversion of "hollering." Some of the studies were sold by the artist to an eastern magazine. They showed Jones in his most violent state.

A year later the artist again visited the region. He was soon approached by Mr. Jones himself, bearing one of the pictures, which he had torn from the magazine in which it was printed. Pointing to it, he asked: "Is that me?" "Well," replied the artist, evasively, "I got the general idea from you, of course, but—"

"Oh, I ain't takin' no offense," Jones made haste to say. "It's all right; only if it's me, say so."

"If you put it to me that way," said the artist, "I can only reply that it is a fairly good portrait of you."

"The men here on the ranch agree with you. So I look like that when I holler, do I?"

"In that case," said Hollering Jones, "all I've got to say is that Hollering Jones has hollered his last holler. Hereafter, when I celebrates, I do so with a tin horn. In my own opinion, no man has a right to look like that—not round white folks, anyhow."
