MAKING OURSELF CLEAR

We want to make it clear that articles written for the Open Forum do not represent the ideas of the editor. In fact in lots of cases they may be just the opposite. But we think that it is good to have a place where anyone may express themselves. We are of the opinion that every person has a right to think as he may see fit, and we will be glad to print letters to our Open Forum whether we agree with them or not.
Write to us.

A CITY PUBLIC LIBRARY

We would like to see in our town a public library. A place where readers of all ages may get reading material of the better kinds. Maybe some of the patriotic citizens would like to donate some books that they now have.

A library could be started on a very small scale and gradually built up. New volumes could be added from time to time. The biggest cost would be the salary of the librarian, which could be part time work at first.
Write to us and give us your ideas along this line of thought.
The Herald would like to be the first to make a donation to Kings Mountain Public Library.

What Others Say

THE WORK A DOLLAR WILL DO

An old experiment, but one which is always both interesting and enlightening, has just been conducted in Washington, N. C.
It was designed to demonstrate the number of hands through which currency passes in a short period of time and the buying power of that bill in circulation.

Fifteen one-dollar script certificates were put into circulation by the Washington Community League. A bill was given to a printer, a school teacher, a clergyman, a farmer, a blind man, an artist, a tin smith, a school girl, a school boy and a barber. After being in circulation for a month the certificates were presented to the Bank of Washington and a dollar was paid to the bearer by the Washington Community League.

It was found that the script had been so widely circulated that some of it managed to get most of every place in the city and in parts of the county. As a matter of fact, the signatures showed that in the month's time the fifteen dollars amounted to $320 in the volume of business it had transacted in the community.

The experiment, of course

OPEN FORUM

An open forum for our readers, but no letter can be published if it exceeds 500 words.

the writer will not be published however, if the author so re-

ROHIBITION IN N. C.

Recently in a conversation with a few friends the word leaked out that North Carolina still had some dry laws on its statute books. What do you know about that? From the amount of liquor that is available and the amount that is consumed would you have thought that we still have dry laws? Then, too, a writer learned that this great state of ours was not getting any revenue from all of the liquor that was being consumed. What a shame. Surely we ought to get some revenue from the liquor to support our asylums and other places of like nature that the state is forced to maintain in order to care for those who have imbibed of the sparkling water too often and too freely.
May be our lawmakers who are in sessions about the middle of each week now will do something about it.
They may even give us liquor stores. Would it be well to have a liquor store right on main street here in our fair city. A place where we could all go and get all the hard liquor we want and spend all the hard cash that we have. I believe that we could all feel like millionaires if we could get some of that liquor with all the fancy names on the bottles. Then, too, after we all have imbibed of the pearly water (not crazy water) it would be too dangerous for our fair ladies to come out on the streets, consequently as the old saying goes when the cats are away the mice feel free to play. I am sure that our jail would not hold us all there and maybe we get a new one. You know we have the prize jail anyway.

A CITIZEN.

is designed to show the importance of trading at home. Had it been possible to spend one of the dollars in Charlotte, Raleigh, Richmond, or any other of the more distant trading points, it would have immediately disappeared so far as Washington was concerned, and its ability to help Washington business would have ended there.—New Bern Sun-Journal.

WOULD ALSO HELP

Nearly every advocate of highway safety cites the need for more patrolmen, a suggestion which has our heartiest sympathy, but we believe that the situation would be more improved if the patrol was left to the business of patrolling and used less at large gatherings where the gravest hazard is of someone getting a fender scratched or a bumper ripped off. We might also cease, using them as tax collectors and bodyguards for celebrities.—Wilmington Star.

HISTORY OF SCOUTING IN KINGS MOUNTAIN

(Cont'd from page one) boys and their Scoutmaster is B. C.
Moss.
From 1931 into 1934 Scouting did not progress very rapidly. However, in February 1934, Scouting was to be one of the most active organizations in the city. The Grace Methodist and the Phenix Mill organized Troop No. Four. Now this troop has an enrollment of 12 boys and Ernest Davis is their Scoutmaster.
With this addition of boys, and men interested in boys, one of our easiest jobs was the organization of a brand new troop — Troop No.
Five, sponsored by the Goodfellows Club. This Troop has an active membership of 13, (we hope not unlucky and Jack Hullender is Scoutmaster.
But one of the best and most active troops is Troop No. Ten composed of about 16 colored boys with Rev. Costner as Scoutmaster.
So, you see Scouting has grown from one patrol of 8 boys in Troop No. One to a grand total of 117 in a period of eleven years. A remarkable growth? Yes. But there are in Kings Mountain today over 200 boys who have not had the opportunity to join a troop near enough to their home to enable them to take an active part in this program of citizenship and character building. What about these fellows on the outside? Can't we have more troops in Kings Mountain?

BYNUM CHAPEL A. M. E. ZION CHURCH NEWS

By W. L. Lawhorn, Pastor
The golden sun casting the lensening shadows of departing day, as it sinks behind the western horizon, smiles its approval upon the work accomplished by both the departed and the living. And the silvery queen of night and her children show forth their soft and warm affection to cheer the discouraged and desolation of the bereaved.
But after the night comes the dawn, through which the mighty King of day breaks to usher in newer and greater possibilities in the wake of its journey across the trackless sky.
Then let us greet this day with a smile on which Mrs. Maggie Roberts departed this life January 27, after a few days illness. She was the wife of the late Nelson Roberts. To this union were born sixteen children; seven boys and nine girls. She was the daughter of the late Caleb and Julian Roberts. She came from a very good family. Her father was one of the pioneer preachers of Methodism and raised a respectable and industrious family.
In the death of Mrs. Roberts the community loses a friend and a good Samaritan. The funeral services were held in Ebenezer Baptist church, in accordance with her wishes. The Rev. John Roberts preached the funeral from St. Matt. 25:1-44 singing as a subject, The Ten Virgins and the Talents given to the seventy. The speaker paid high tribute to Mrs. Roberts. She was a great thinker, a woman of a most pleasing personality, and was a most delicious and congenial companion. She possessed the highest tributes of character as a Christian woman, and generous disposition. She enjoyed dispensing hospitality, and gave her pleasure to make others happy. She was one of God's noble women and a friend to mankind.

Toes And Tomatoes

THE serving of food requires diplomacy. It's so easy to tread on someone's toes, if one isn't careful. There's Uncle John you should have known doesn't eat cooked fruits — yet you served baked apple for desert. There's the Jones family who doesn't eat meat on Friday — and you served that delicious big steak. Well, what can you be safe in serving when there are so many toes about, waiting to be trod on?

Try toma-toes. Keep on hand a list of delicious dishes made with tomatoes, for almost everyone likes them. Here are some suggestions for tomatoes in various courses of the meal:

- A Puree and An Omelet
Tomato and Cauliflower Puree: Cook one medium head of cauliflower until tender. Press through a sieve. Press the contents of one No. 2 can of tomatoes through a sieve also, and add with the contents of one can of consommé and one cup of water to the cauliflower. Bring to boiling. Sauté one tablespoon of minced onion in two tablespoons butter for a few minutes. Add three tablespoons flour, stir until smooth, thin with a little of the hot soup, and then add the remainder of the soup and cook until creamy. Season to taste with salt and pepper. This serves six persons.
- Omelet with Macaroni and Tomato Sauce: Make a French omelet with four eggs, one-half teaspoon salt, a few grains of pepper and four tablespoons milk.
Meanwhile make a tomato sauce of one tablespoon butter, one tablespoon flour, salt and pepper to taste, one-half teaspoon sugar, three-fourths cup strained tomatoes and a few drops of onion juice. Add three-fourths cup of cooked macaroni, cut in one-inch pieces, and spread over half the omelet just before folding. This serves four persons liberally. at 7:30 p. m. Come and See. —The Public is cordially invited to attend all of the services.
