W. T. Parker, 68, who was for many years, bookkeeper for the Bonnie Mill and resided in Kings Mountain, died early Sunday morning, apparently of a heart attack, at his home near Grover.

Mr. Parker had been in his usual health but when members of the family went to his bed room to call him Sunday morning, he was dead and from appearances was attempting to arise when he was stricken.

Mr. Parker was well known in and around Kings Mountain. In business circles his honesty and integrity were unquestioned.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Grover Baptist church, of which he was a faithful member, after leaving Kings Mountain. Rev. Rush Padgett was in charge of the service and was assisted by Rev. J. T. Dendy, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Grover.

He is survived by his widow, who was before marriage Miss Sallie Ware, of El Bethel community, and the following children: W. G. Parker, who teaches at Eury, Mrs. Will Laney, of Brookford, both of whom are children of a former marriage, and Mrs. Arthur Davis, of Grover.

Officials of the University, presenting their case to the advisory budget commission holding hearings here, asserted:

1. Unless salaries were raised and unless substantial salary increments were offered as inducements, prominent professors would transfer to other colleges and universities.

2. Unless more members were added to the faculty, the greater university would not be able to offer an education comparable to some other similar institutions.

3. Unless the physical equipment of the medical school at Chapel Hill was improved, the school might be dropped from the approved list by the American Medical society.

Edward E. Rose has dramatized the play directly from the novel by Booth Tarkington. Nowhere has this outstanding American writer done such finished work as in this story of boyhood. It is a picture of a boy's heart full of those lovable, humorous tragic things which are locked secrets to older folks without the gift of understanding. Booth Tarkington has this understanding and his "Penrod" is as true a character as ever lived.

Billy Mauch, who was the successful boy Anthony in "Anthony Adverse," will play the part of Penrod in the motion picture which Warner Brothers will present in a few months.

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

ONE reason why men have learned to not say nasty things to women is that they know a poor woman gets plenty nasty things said to her by other women. Like this, for instance. Mrs. Sweeney says to Mrs. Green at the bridge party, "Say, that's a nice-looking gold bracelet you got there." "Yes," says Mrs. Green, "ain't it nice? My husband give me that for my twenty-fourth birthday." "My, my!" says Mrs. Sweeney, "I'd never of thought that gold would last so well, and it hardly shows any wear at all!"

Washington Snapshots

(Opinions Expressed in This Column Are Not Necessarily the Views of This Newspaper.)

Now that the election is over, Washington is beginning to play crystal gazer, trying to figure out what will happen to some federal laws which either are sadly in need of amendment or should be repealed.

Near the top of the scrutinized list is the Social Security Act, which played such a big part in closing campaign arguments. The truth of the matter is that none of the major candidates was opposed to social security. The only difference was how it should be achieved.

Significantly, many of those who drafted the original act hold that it needs amendment. Others who are (Cont'd on back page)

Laughing Around the World With IRVIN S. COBB

The Most Unkindest Cut of All

By IRVIN S. COBB

ON THE stage of a music hall in the East End of London a memory wizard with a pronounced cockney accent was offering an exhibition of his skill. In response to questions from the audience he gave, off-hand, and promptly, the dates of historic events, the distance from the earth to the moon, and other facts and figures without limit.

It was quite evident from the language of some of his statements that the performer was a most patriotic Briton. Invariably, when mentioning a great Englishman or a great English achievement, his voice rose exultantly.

Sitting well down the front were two Americans. They figured that the wizard must have accomplished in the house to ask him questions prepared beforehand. To find out whether or not the performer did have the powers of memory he boasted and with a view also to arousing his patriotic fervor to a still higher pitch if possible, one of the Yankees called out:

"Professor, please tell me what memorable event occurred on July the Fourth, 1776?" Without a moment's hesitation the professor shot back his reply: "A h'infarnal h'outrage, sir!" he shouted.
