OBSERVATIONS

(By George Whittington)
Last Monday all school children over ten years old, and whose parents permitted it, were given a Tuberculosis test. Wednesday the doctor examined the arms of the students to see if they showed a reaction. Those who showed a reaction to the test will be x-rayed to determine whether or not they have T. B. 266 students took the test.

Tardies in high school are still declining. There were only sixty tardies during the fifth month. This is only one-fifth tardy per person each month. Eight C had only two tardies which was 97.9 percent perfect. Nine B was next with 97.7 percent and ten A third with 97.6 percent.

Both ninth grades went on a field trip Tuesday. It's pretty cold yet, but we found our material easily enough.

Both the girls' and boys' basketball teams won Tuesday night. Our boys are improving it seems. They have won one game. The girls are still holding their own. They have won six games out of twelve and still have two games to go. We should win these.

WISE USE OF LEISURE TIME

(By Mary Boyce McGill)
How do you spend your leisure time—wisely or unwisely? Surely not unwisely, for there are so many ways that we can spend it wisely. There are many enjoyable and beneficial hobbies that may occupy your time. Among these are drawing, collecting various articles such as stamps, carving various sorts of ornamental articles out of wood, cooking, and sewing. Any of these and various others are worth your time. Another very beneficial one is reading. By reading good books we may take trips to lands which are very interesting and where we meet many interesting people. By reading newspapers and magazines we keep up with the things which are happening around us as well as things in distant lands. Have you ever heard anyone say, "I don't know how to use my leisure time?" When you hear one say this tell him of the many interesting hobbies, and I assure you that he can find some hobby which will appeal to him.

Another way of spending leisure time is by helping those around you. You may do some little kindness for someone who is sick or who is less fortunate than you. If we only try, we can find numerous days of spending our leisure time to an advantage.

SENIOR CLASS OBSERVATIONS

(By Naomi Edens)
The Kings Mountain High School seniors are beginning to realize that their public school education will be concluded this June. No one will rest contented until the diploma is placed in their hand. Each and every one is working very hard to reach that goal.

The production of "Harmony Hall," is musical comedy, will start in the near future. This will be the annual senior class presentation.

Just before the Christmas holidays the first shipment of the high school rings arrived. This was an inspiration to most of us. Other seniors are ordering their rings now that the first semester's work has been completed.

Last year, we worked and prepared a farewell banquet for the seniors. This year Miss Scoggins, Miss Crosland, and the juniors are making plans for our farewell banquet. I am sure that I can speak for the rest of my class and say that this is the most anticipated affair of the spring season, excepting only the graduating exercises.

Several colleges have sent representatives to talk to us about going to college. Burnau College, Woman's College—University of North Carolina, and Elon College have sent representatives. As the days and weeks go by, we expect to be contacted by other colleges. This too is an inspiration.

The Cap and Gown committee has begun taking measurements, and the invitation committee has been receiving samples. Everything points to graduation—except one or two French grades.

I WONDER:

(I. C. ALL)
Why Mr. Hendricks has so many ladies on his hands.
Why Mr. Moss is so witty?
What would happen if everybody got to school on time once.
Why our high school boys are so aggravating?
Why Margaret Phifer is so brilliant?
Why Lila Faye Sides doesn't thin her hair?
Why our high school girls didn't mind taking the T. B. shot. Was it because of the handsome Doctor?
What would happen if our boys won another basketball game?
Why we don't have a school paper.

Prayer meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Mitchem Saturday night.

Miss Gladys Patterson spent the last week end with her brother, Mr. Fred Patterson and wife of Shelby.

Mrs. Robert Carpenter had as her guests for the week end, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Carpenter of Swannanoa.

This village must be a good place to live, for several families have been living here for forty years or more.

Did you know that two families living on this village have two sons and one daughter each and both living on the same side of the hill.

Miss Madge Mitchem had as her guest for the week end Miss Marie Lynn of the Margrace.

Miss Madge Mitchem has been very sick at her home.

HAVE A TELEPHONE OF YOUR OWN

HAVEN'T you and your family often felt the need of a telephone in your home? Children, especially, are likely to feel keenly the lack of such a convenient means of communication with their friends. And when emergencies arise, the lack of a telephone in your home might prove not only costly, but serious.

A telephone, you will find, widens the horizon of possibilities for a happier and more comfortable life for the whole family.

Your neighbors and friends who have telephones will be glad to learn you have one, for they know from experience the many advantages of being in quick, easy telephone reach. Then too, with a telephone of your own, you will avoid the embarrassment of having to borrow a neighbor's telephone.

When you weigh these and the many other advantages of a telephone against the small cost, don't you agree that it really doesn't pay to try to get along without one? Why wait longer to enjoy the many advantages that a telephone in your home provides? Order yours today.
