P. T. A. Discusses School Elections

At a meeting of the Central Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday evening, the leading topic of discussion was the coming school elections of Saturday, April 24th.

The first speaker, Mrs. O. W. Myers, expressed for the parents a desire that the high rating of the schools be maintained, insisting that we could not afford to lose our membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools or in the National Honor Society, which is such an incentive to pupils to do better work.

Mr. W. K. Mauney then presented the taxpayers' view point on the school proposals. Among the startling figures he revealed was the fact that North Carolina is third from the bottom of the forty eight states in the amount spent annually for schools, per child, but fifth from the top in the amount spent per person for automobiles. He concluded by pointing out that taxpayers could not afford to defeat the school issue considering the value to be received by voting the improvements.

Nellie Gault of the Senior class gave the student's point of view on the proposals. One thing she said was that a boy or girl cannot crowd nine months of mental growth into eight months any more than he could accomplish nine months of physical growth in eight months time by eating a little more each day. She concluded by showing that while the future of this generation depends upon what the town does for her boys and girls, in turn the future of the town depends upon the boys and girls themselves.

A great deal of interest in the coming elections was manifested by those present.

"SAFETY SABBATH"

Mayor's Proclamation

"The appalling number of preventable accidents and deaths upon the highways of our community, State and Nation has become a menace of major concern to all the people. Our beautiful threads of travel, designed for pleasure and trade have been converted by the reckless driver and the careless, incompetent operator into lanes of horror. Daily the newspapers carry gory accounts of lost limbs and lives and of maimed and injured bodies.

On Sunday, April 18th, the Carolina Motor Club is sponsoring a Carolina-wide observance of SAFETY SABBATH. This date being selected upon the eve of Summer travel season in an effort to make the general public safety-conscious, as to decrease, if not eliminate, the terrible road tragedies incident to the seasonal increase in the use of automobiles.

I, therefore, proclaim April 18th, Safety Sabbath in this community, and do hereby urge the leaders of religious and civil life to fittingly observe with well-planned programs this date, and by precept and example to foster the ideal of consideration for the rights of others, to the end that the irreducible minimum in accidents and death may be accomplished.

The Ministers, the Sunday School Superintendents and the laymen can by a strong sermon, a prayer offered or a word spoken, join the program in encouraging a concentration of thought upon this problem.

Dated at Kings Mountain, N. C., this 12th day of April, 1937.

Signed: J. E. Herndon, Mayor.

Social Security Brings Boom To Tattoo Artists

Chicago, April 13.—Sailors, stevedores and sideshow freaks no longer have a corner on the tattoo market.

Social security numbers have changed all that, the needle and ink entrepreneurs agreed today.

Persons in all walks of life, they said, have taken to the social security numerals — indelibly inked on their epidermis — as a handy means of identification.

Women as well as men are going in for the fancy spread eagle tossing social security number from its beak, they said.

"Why, said Texas Jack, one member of the Chicago tattooing fraternity, as he shifted his celluloid design mack about a customer's chest, "I have plenty of business now. A couple of years ago things looked bad for the tattooing profession. Today its in a boom, yep, I said a boom."

One day last week, declared Texas Jack, who claims no cognomen—40 men from a large industrial plant come to his curtained booth in a South State street arcade to have the "eagle in three colors and social security numbers tattooed on their forearms.

"That made 45 for the day," he added, swirling his electric needle around the outline of a shield. "That makes my sixth today, and its only 11 a. m."

The design, "social security specials," the electric needle artists call them, offer the prospective customer a wide selection. You can have the eagle, with the ribbon for the number floating from its beak and an American flag in each claw, down to a simple frame of stars for your 400-10-4180 — or whatever it may be.

"More women being tattooed now than I ever saw," another tattooist, located in a loop barber shop, said. Even if short sleeves are the style and short skirts are coming back "It better than fingerprints, said Texas Jack. Anybody can read a number."

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

IT'S hard to tell these modern daughters where to get off. They got ideas. As to what time in the night they ought to come in from parties, that's a question that ain't ever been settled.

An old-fashioned dad met his daughter at the front door, so he could tell her what he thought right before her young man.

"See here, Ann," he says, "I'll not have this guy bringing you home at three o'clock in the morning."

"All right, Daddy-o," she says. "I'll fire him right now. There's plenty more nice fellows waiting around for a chance."

Strikers Fined In Civil Case

Court Awards Judgment Against Sit-Down Strike Leaders.

Anderson, Ind., April 14.—(IPS).—The wave of unlawful plant seizures by sit-down strikers has received a severe setback by a ruling of Judge Charles E. Smith here.

In awarding a judgment of $9,850 against labor leaders, union organizers and employes who participated in a sit-down strike at the Alexandria plant of the Aladdin Industries, Inc., Judge Smith found the strikers guilty of civil contempt. Sit-down strikes may have proved an effective, if illegal, weapon, but many observers in Washington now see that they are proving a boomerang on John L. Lewis.

When the sit-down epidemic started, persons close to Lewis spread the word that he had not authorized them. They thought that would take the blame off him.

But the cumulative effect of repeated denials of responsibility for the sit-down strikes has been to show that Lewis has no control over his unions.

Thus, when the new wave of sit-downs broke out in General Motors plants, Lewis again sought to deny responsibility. And then General Motors pointed out 30 unauthorized interruptions of work after General Motors and the Automobile Workers Union signed their contract some weeks back.

Even some of Lewis' best friends in Congress are asking: "How can you expect an employer to bind him self to enforce a contract when the other signer won't?"

FLASH — As Walter Winchell would say. The Department of Agriculture has now embarked on a new project for the benefit of the apartment house dweller — the development of streamlining watermelon which will go into the average apartment refrigerator.

The Department's experiment station at Charleston, S. C., is trying to develop a new, smaller, succulent melon as a substitute for those which have to be sliced in two before they can be chilled in the refrigerator.

A year ago, the Department announced it was going to breed small (Cont'd on back page Section One)

How to Beat the System

By IRVIN S. COBB

"TINY MAXWELL is a sporting writer in Philadelphia. He is called 'Tiny' because he is about the size of a two-ton tractor. One afternoon he was officiating at a match between Georgetown, which, as everybody knows, is a Catholic institution, and a team representing a Southern university. In an interval one of the Southern players limped up to Maxwell.

"Mr. Referee," he said, "I want to make a protest. There's one of those Georgetown men that seems to have a private grudge against me. Every time we two get in a scrimmage together he bites me. Yes sir, he just hauls off and bites me. I don't want to start any rough house stuff, but I'm getting good and tired of having that big Irishman biting me. What had I better do?"

"I should advise," said Tiny, "that you play him only on Fridays."
