Cooking School To Be Held May 13-15

Interest Spreads in Herald's Free and Profitable Film Entertainment Due May 13, 14 and 15, in Dixie Theatre.

A welcome invitation to the wise is sufficient.

Evidently The Herald will not have to get out engraved announcements for that reunion of homemakers, May 13, 14, and 15, in the Dixie Theatre.

No door cards, coupon, printed invitations, or cash will be needed; just the countersign of all alert housekeepers, who are due to say "Show me the latest home ideas", when they advance on the Dixie Theatre at opening hour May 13, 14, and 15.

Showing every person in every theatre seat the triumphant new 1937 Cooking School, direct from Hollywood, will be no problem, for motion picture ingenuity has joined forces with scientific homemaking to produce an original laboratory course that deftly combines romance, sprightly humor, originality and profitable instruction.

All of the popular features of the former Cooking School are here: The free recipe sheets, the atmosphere of congenial informality, the wise counsel, the hints on clever short-cuts, the upto the minute suggestions for entertaining, the demonstration of delicious and nourishing dishes, the array of modern kitchen equipment and the distribution of daily gifts and real surprises.

All those elements of fun and profit have been retained, and all are made doubly worth-while because every guest of The Herald will have an individual close-up of every process.

This scientific new laboratory of ideas has graduated out of the class where hundreds of women craned their necks in a vain attempt to see what was happening on the stage, or assailed the lecturer with plaintive cries: "Hold it up high, where we all can see."

Now the camera will make the course truly fascinating and valuable, with remarkable close-ups of each process in a series of model conveniently-equipped kitchens; real, workable kitchens, (not the synthetic, false-front variety), where trained homemakers will plan, measure, blend, mix and complete appetizing cakes, pies, salads and meat dishes that look as though they could be picked right out of the picture and eaten on the spot.

Keeping pace with the baking, roasting and frying, a series of salads and frozen delicacies will parade in and out of the adaptable electric refrigerator, which will reveal its host of possibilities for simplifying labor and marketing, and marketing, and contributing to good health and good food.

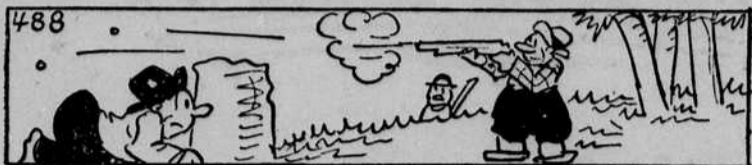

What to do with left-overs? How to take the gloom out of laundry? How to save time, energy and temper in meal preparation? How to be attractive in spite of the daily rush? How to make that pleasured the men (Cont'd on Editorial page)

Laughing Around the World With IRVIN S. COBB

The Wild Game of our Mountains

By IRVIN S. COBB

FOR years this tale has been one of Sam Blythe's standbys. Sam was born and reared in western New York, on the lower fringe of the Adirondack region. He says there used to be a guide over in the mountains who, being reckless by nature, made a specialty of escorting city sportsmen into the wilderness during the hunting season. Any North Woods veteran will tell you this is a hazardous calling. Moreover, the mortality figures prove it.

Green sportsmen invade the tall timber carrying high-powered rifles and shoot at everything they see moving in the bushes. The result is that a few of them kill one another but the majority destroy their guides, even though the latter for self-protection wear red shirts and red hats and white neckerchiefs.

This particular guide, so graphically recalled by Sam, had several close calls. Finally, when a bullet had ripped his shoulder and another had blown his cap off, he had an inspiration. He made himself a suit of awning cloth of broad alternative stripes of white and blue.

But the first time he wore this costume abroad they brought him home again, bored through and through. As he emerged from a thicket a city gunner stationed across a clearing had plugged him.

At the inquest the remorseful slayer was introduced as a witness. "Now look here," said the coroner, "of course nobody accused you of killing poor old Jim intentionally. But it does seem curious to me—and I imagine it strikes the members of the jury the same way—when Jim was in striped clothes which you could make out a mile away, that you, standing not a hundred yards distant, should mistake him for a deer."

"I didn't mistake him for a deer," said the city chap, "I thought he was a zebra."

Will Rogers' Humor Story

By WILL ROGERS

THERE was a hotel in a small town that was doing its best to treat the customers fine. It tried to give them everything they could get in hotels in the big towns, and the customers appreciated it too.

Well, the hotel got an orchestra to play in the dining room, and it wasn't a very good orchestra. Just some of the boys with their saxophones.

But the orchestra was anxious to please. While a big, rich-looking guy was eating, a waiter come to his table with a note. It says: "Is there anything you'd like to request the orchestra to play?"

The big guy, who was trying to read a paper with his dinner, wrote, "Yes, puss in a corner!"

Special Levy And Bonds Both Get Big Majority.

School loving citizens tramped in a downpour of rain all day Saturday to the polls to cast their votes in favor of both school issues, which gave them assurance of a nine month school term and also gave approval for a $25,000 bond issue to match a PWA grant to build a gymnasium and improve other school buildings.

Count of the votes indicated the school forces won the nine months by a score of 70 to 1 and the bond measure was approved almost 50 to 1.

Heavy Vote
A total of 558 persons were registered in the special election. Of this number 491 voted for the nine months term, to be provided by a maximum levy of 20 cents per $100 valuation. Seven actually voted against it and 57 did not get out to vote. Their votes also counted against the levy.

In the bond election 489 voted for and ten voted against, with 59 not voting.

A meeting of the School Board is contemplated for this week to make plans for the building program.

Plans for the new gymnasium will be drawn immediately. Selection of the site has not been made, but it is expected to be in the vicinity of the Central School. It will also be used as a community center.

Additional money obtained by the bond issue and the PWA grant will be used to complete a number of rooms in the present high school building, add two rooms at the east school, two rooms at the negro school and make some improvements at the west school.

The results of the joint elections are said to be by far the biggest majority given in any of the School elections held throughout the State. School patrons are still rejoicing at the overwhelming vote cast despite the downpour of rain.

It is thought since the citizens of Kings Mountain so wholeheartedly showed their desire by their one-sided vote to have a nine months school and remain on the Accredited list that plans would be made to operate the High School the full nine months term this year.

Patterson Grove Finals

The closing exercises of Patterson Grove School will be held Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock. The following program will be presented:

A small admission fee will be charged.

OPERETTA TO BE GIVEN

The elementary grades of Central School are presenting an operetta, "Sleeping Beauty", by Frances Homer, Friday night at 8:00 o'clock in the Central auditorium. This promises to be one of the most outstanding and entertaining events of the commencement season. The cast of characters include:

Sleeping Beauty: Betty Lee Neisler.

MAYOR AND FIVE COUNCILMEN TO BE NAMED

Kings Mountain voters will go to the polls next Tuesday, May 4th to elect a Mayor, five councilmen and one member of the School Board.

The term of office for Mayor and Council is two years and for the School Board, six years.

In the last election held two years ago a total of 943 voted with eleven candidates out for the Council and two for Mayor.

Polls will open at 7:00 A. M. and close at 7:00 P. M. It is thought that the voting will take place at the temporary quarters of the Town Hall, but this had not been definitely decided at press time.

Charles Dilling has been appointed Registrar, with J. B. Thomasson and C. E. Carpenter acting as Judges for the election.

W. K. Mauney and H. D. (Red) Ormand are the two candidates who have not been previously mentioned in the Herald. A complete ticket of all the candidates appear elsewhere on this page.

Washington Snapshots

by JAMES PRESTON

(Opinions Expressed in This Column Are Not Necessarily the Views of This Newspaper.)

Some day or other, Washington is going to win itself the name: "The City of Paradoxes." It has more cases per square inch of the left hand not knowing what the right is doing than any three other cities in the world.

Congressional chiefs are worried about it. In private, they say the legislators are making a habit of voting for things demanded by organized groups regardless of the results. Take, for example, the President's recent remarks about prices rising too fast. Congress had a lot to do with that by levying taxes on corporation income and payrolls. But in less than a week after the President's warning, Congress finally passed the Guffey Coal Control Act. The basic purpose behind that is to raise coal prices.

As another example, look at the budget. It was drafted without including funds for tenant farmers or new housing or federal aid to state schools. Congress applauded attempts to balance the budget. Yet the farm tenant, housing and school aid bills, costing a billion dollars (Cont'd on back page Section One)
