Of INTEREST to WOMEN

PHONES 10-R AND 88 MRS. A. H. PATTERSON, Editor

ALUMNAE MEETS

The Erskine College Alumnae association held its January meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. E. W. Neal. Assisting hostess were Mrs. W. K. Crook and Mrs. Jacob Cooper. A Professor Quizz program was enjoyed by the entire group. The prize was awarded to Miss Mary Roddy Edwards.

After the program a delicious sweet course was served.

The Association is planning a "Stunt Night" Tuesday evening, February 1st. Admission will be 10 cents and everyone who is interested is cordially invited to come. An evening of fun and laughter is anticipated.

SPEAKS AT GARDEN CLUB MEETING

Mrs. Grady King was guest speaker at a meeting of the Gastonia Garden Club held at the Woman's club Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. King was introduced by Mrs. Norman Morrow and had for her subject "Iris".

An excerpt from the Gastonia Gazette's account of the talk says: "In a very delightful and informative, Mrs. King presented, iris, as the lazy gardener's flower, since it requires little food, little water and a minimum of attention. She stated that iris is freer from disease than perhaps any other flower and that its simple requirements, are planting near the surface, plenty of sunshine dividing every third year and a liberal feeding — preferably at this time of the year — of bone meal, lime or wood ash.

"Fifty varieties of iris, according to the speaker, bloom twice a year and practically all varieties have especially lovely names and an exceedingly wide color range."

Mrs. King makes a specialty of iris growing and during their blooming season which on account of a wide range of varieties, extends over a long period of time, her garden is visited by many flower lovers from Kings Mountain and elsewhere.

STAG DINNER ON BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

Farm Questions Answered

A.—As a usual thing, the early hatched pullets go into a neck molt in the late fall or early winter and, at that time the consumption of mash falls off. As mash is the "egg producing" food it is necessary to encourage the consumption and often this can be accomplished by giving the birds a wet mash in the early afternoon. This mash should be fed in a "V" shaped trough and the birds given all they will consume in about thirty minutes. The rest period during the neck molt apparently increases the value of the birds from a breeding standpoint and it might be well to select the breeding flock from these birds.

Q.—What is the best variety of lespedeza to seed for hay?

A.—There is very little to choose between the Kobe and the Tennessee 70 varieties as tests conducted in 22 different localities show a difference of only 62 pounds an acre difference between the two. An experiment conducted at the Branch Experiment Station at Statesville show a difference of only 30 pounds an acre between these two varieties. For general farm purposes the Common is the best as this variety makes good yields of hay and seed, and in pastures reseeds itself under closer grazing than any of the other varieties. It is also one of the best varieties for soil improvement.

Short Facts

Nearly all national forest land is under observation of two lookout stations.

Sugar beets manufacture sugar in their leaves, then transfer it to the root for storage.

Desert air is freer from microorganisms than that of moist regions.

Connecticut is called the "nutmeg state" because of an alleged practice of some early citizens of manufacturing and selling wooden nutmegs as genuine.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness shown us during the illness and death of our mother.
