KINGS MOUNTAIN MFG. COMPANY NEWS

Lois Beattie
Mrs. J. J. Patterson and children James and Gladys, spent Sunday visiting relatives in Shelby.
Miss Lorene Hartsoe had as her guest Saturday, Mrs. Roy Matthews of the Margrace.
Mr. and Mrs. George Moore had as their guests Thursday Mrs. James Bland and children, and Mrs. Joe Brooks and children, all of Gastonia.
Mrs. V. E. Tate is very sick at this writing.
Messrs Arthur Walker and Bill Hartsoe spent Monday in Gastonia.
55 Stokes county farmers attended an electric fence demonstration on the farms of W. S. Hart of Lawsonville and J. S. Dalton of Pine Hall. They said such a type of fence had great possibilities due to economy of construction.

Farm Women Learn To Stretch Dollar

Farm housewives all over North Carolina are finding that the food dollar can be stretched considerably by careful buying practices, says Miss Ruth Current of State College.
In Sampson, Gaston,utherford, Alexander, and Durham counties are household accounts receiving close attention. In those counties, nearly 200 rural women are keeping accurate information on their spending.

Where these accounts are being kept, the women are constantly on the lookout to secure quality products at a minimum cost.
Much of the necessary food for the farm family can be produced at home, but there are some foods that need be bought. Here, Miss Current says, is where prices should be studied.

To safeguard the health and pocketbook of the food buyer, the government has made regulations concerning labeling, but if the buyer fails to read the labels, the attempt to protect her may avail little.

Since spending is an art, thought should be given the clothing budget. When buying readymade garments, the buyer should examine the quality of the material and the workmanship carefully.

Care and repair of clothing requires consideration, and a check should be made on money spent for household operations such as fuel, lights, house care, laundry telephone recreation, books and magazines, toys, hobbies, and luxuries.
"Earning is an occupation; spending is a fine art."
