TOM AND GEORGE

George: "A youngster told us yes terday that ants could lift fifty times their own weight; do you suppose, George, that they can?" "Sure, Tom, that's easy; the other day I saw a hornet 'lift' my brother." There's strength to this statement: you can fool some of the people all the time and all of them some of the time: 'We "fool' them all the time, by giving them only a square deal.

YOUR VOICE, when it takes a trip by telephone, travels over a delicately balanced and highly complex electrical system. Hundreds of things could happen to break up your voice's path. Most of them never do.

These potential "troubles" rarely materialize because the men who direct and operate your telephone system have not been satisfied herely to repair damage after it has taken place. They have demanded that weak spots be cought out and corrected beforehand. All-the ningteen thousand Southern Bed entities is, inone way or another, join to this ellert.
