

Mountaineers Romp Over Bessemer City

Somewhat more than a thousand eyes saw James Gibson and the dauntless Mountaineers hand Bessemer City a twenty to seven defeat last Friday on the home gridiron.

The game, evidently a Kings Mountain victory, was played on a sprinkled field on one end, and a dust bowl at the other, with the Mountaineers prancing from mud to dust as if there were nothing unusual.

Gibson, versatile Mountaineer was most of the show, as usual with Dickey and Gantt showing up well in the line. The dust, as usual was responsible for several fumbles fortunately mostly in favor of the Mountaineers. Kings Mountain first scored in the first period, and followed in the opening minutes of the second, after a beautiful Gibson run and an end sweep by Mitcham. Mitcham, who usually gets in at least one nice end run during each encounter did it several times against Shoa-les' lads.

Bessemer did considerable damage to the Mountaineer line, but were weak on passes and pass defense. One of the Mountaineers touchdowns came from a pass to Moss in the end zone.

This Friday the Mountaineers on certain the Lincoln team here. The Lincoln school is a newcomer on the Mountaineer schedule, and some doubt exists about their strength. The Mountaineers, however, are confident.

The census of 1930 showed 102.5 men to every 100 women in the United States.

Peace Profits, Not War Profits Best

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 20.—(IPS).—The chemical industry — popularly supposed to be the chief benefactor of war time production and profits — is as vigorously opposed to war as any other group in industry.

This is made clear here by Charles Belknap, executive vice president of the Monsanto Chemical Co. Writing on the subject "Ware Means Years of Blackouts," Mr. Belknap cites the resultant depressions, burdensome taxes, and the lapse in time progress among the many reasons why the chemical industry, like other branches of business, is opposed to war. He declared:

"Summing up, it becomes quite apparent that there are only losses in war — human, economic and political. There are no enduring profits. The article lists nine reasons why the industry is equally opposed to other groups, to American participation in war. They are:

1. People in this industry don't want war for the same reason that 130,000,000 other Americans don't want it. They have children of their own.
2. Wars are invariably followed by business depressions.
3. War disrupts peace time progress, substitutes temporary profits and long term taxes for the long term real profits of planned research and development.
4. Changing from the manufacture of peace time to war time chemicals requires costly equipment alterations and reorganizations of schedules.
5. Specialized technical knowledge and skills are allowed to lie unused during participation in war, often to the extent that they must be reacquired when men return to their peace time jobs.
6. The industry's most important raw material — new chemical brains — is wasted as students leave colleges and universities to enlist.
7. Wars are paid for out of taxes. Chemical companies, stockholders, employees and executives are taxpayers.
8. War necessitates government control of industry, with the possibility that peace time regimentation may follow.
9. Peace profits are greater than war profits.

Floyd Explains Why Cotton Quotas Used

For the last two seasons cotton producers of the Nation have used marketing quotas in conjunction with the Agricultural Conservation Program. On Saturday, Dec. 9 they will vote on whether they want marketing quotas for the 1940 cotton crop.

E. Y. Floyd AAA executive officer of State College, says that quotas are designed to forestall further increases in our already large cotton supply and to protect the markets of farmers who plant within their acreage allotments to earn soil building payments. Unrestricted marketings tend to defeat the efforts of those who are trying to adjust the demand to the amount produced and sold, he declared.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace has set the 1940 National cotton acreage allotment 27 to 28 million acres, about the same as in 1938 and 1939. Floyd said that his office is striving to work out the individual allotment of every cotton farmer in North Carolina before the date of the referendum. "Before a grower votes, he will know exactly how much cotton he can plant next year," the AAA officer said.

Quotas will be on an acreage basis, as is the case this year. A farmer will be allotted certain amount of acreage for cotton and he will be allowed to market all of the cotton he produces on those acres.

Floyd said that cotton loans will be available only if marketing quotas are in effect. Loans can be made under the law if the average price of cotton on August 1, or any later date during the marketing year, is below 52 per cent of parity or if the August 1 crop estimate for cotton is greater than a normal year's domestic consumption and exports.

Mountaineer Girl Cagers Begin Practice

The Mountaineer Girls Cagers began practice last week, with quite a number of girls coming out. Only three lettermen were back. These were S. Littlejohn, Maloney, and Sargeant.

Forwards looked very good in practice Tuesday afternoon, with Sargeant, Welch, and a newcomer, Mesemer, showing up well. Mesemer, who looks like a guard and breaks more beautifully than anything seen on the local gym floor, is just about the fastest thing seen recently. Crip shot practice showed her to be in need of practice at ringing the bell, but with a natural ability, fans should see a lot of her this winter.

The records being turned in at the present time by Wake County 4-H Club members are better than any of the past, says J. C. Keith, asstant farm agent.

Such good results were obtained from the first McDowell County Horse and Cattle Show that the event will be made an annual affair.

In recent years, the cash income received by growers of oats in the United States has been less than half as large as it was in the years just before the World War.
