Farm real estate taxes have changed little in the past five years, notwithstanding increases in public spending for relief and rehabilitation from the depression of the early 1930's.

Sprys Will Control Strawberry Diseases

The grower who produces the best yields and highest quality of strawberries on a given acreage is the one who controls diseases such as scorch and leafspot, says Dr. Luther Shaw, Extension plant pathologist of State College. Spray treatment will control these diseases and increase the profits from the berry crop, he stated.

Dr. Shaw recommends either the 4-4-50 Bordeaux or the Cuprocide "54Y" spray for the control of strawberry leafspot and scorch. The first application should be made as soon as the new leaf growth has started in late February or early March. Applications should be repeated at 10 day intervals until a few days before the picking season begins.

The 4-4-50 Bordeaux mixture is composed of four pounds of copper sulphate (blue stone) and 4 pounds of chemically hydrated lime to 50 gallons of water. From five to 10 gallons of spray will be required for each application on one-tenth of an acre of strawberries, depending on the type of sprayer used.

A small three-to-five gallon compressed air knapsack or other hand operated sprayer is recommended for small areas, using either the Bordeaux or Cuprocide sprays. Cuprocide is a commercial preparation, and is used at the rate of two and one half ounces of the chemical to five gallons of water. From five to 10 gallons per one-tenth acre is also required for each application of this spray.

ON SHARING

If nobody smiled and nobody cheered,
And nobody helped us along;
If each every minute looked after himself,
And the good things all went to the strong;
If nobody cared just a little for you,
And nobody thought about me,
And we all stood alone to the battle of life
What a dreary old place this would be.
