

Southern Railway Buys Diesel Engines for Passenger Service

Diesel Locomotives for "The Crescent" and "Ponce de Leon" New Diesel Locomotives for Southern Railway Trains

Four Diesel-electric locomotives, powerful, speedy and of the latest type, have been bought by Southern Railway System, two from the Electro Motive Corporation for use on "The Crescent" between Washington and Atlanta, and two from the American Locomotive Company for use on the "Ponce de Leon" between Cincinnati and Chattanooga. These locomotives will be put in service around the first of January when it is anticipated the schedules of these trains will be speeded up. The Southern's streamlined coach trains, "The Southerner", between New York and New Orleans, and "The Tennessean", between Washington and Memphis, now under construction, will be placed in service early in 1941.

accident occurs if any person has been injured, no matter how slightly, or if the damage done to property seems likely to amount to more than $10.

There are two main uses of accident reports. One is to furnish information as to where accidents occur most often, as a basis for selective engineering and enforcement. The second is to furnish information about the cause of accidents.

1940 Accidents Increase

An approximate 15 percent increase in accident reports for the year 1940 as compared with 1939 was announced this week by the Highway Safety Division.

"This increase does not reflect a proportionate increase in traffic deaths in this state last year, however," said Ronald Hocutt, director of the safety division, "It merely reflects more complete reporting of the accidents that occurred."

Records of the division show that nearly 10,000 ardent reports were received during 1940, against some over 8,000 received in 1939. Traffic fatalities for 1940 were around five per cent above 1939.

"The Highway Safety Division is most grateful to the sheriffs, State Highway Patrolmen and police officers of North Carolina for their cooperation in sending in accident reports last year," the safety director said. "We know that these officers are going to bend every effort to make accident reporting in this State as complete as possible during 1941, and we appeal to all drivers in this state to help us further by sending in reports on any accidents in which they might be involved."

North Carolina law requires that a written report of an accident must be made to the Highway Safety Division within 24 hours after the ac-
