

Shaver's Shoe Service Now in New Location

Shaver's Shoe Service is now located in their new permanent quarters on Battleground Road. Five years' worth of their former location all machinery has been moved and set up and is now ready for operation. A new brick building was added to complete for the shoe repair business which has enjoyed good business in Kings Mountain for the past six years.

Mr. Ted Ford, who is in charge of the business in the absence of Mr. E. W. Foster, proprietor, who is at a Charlotte Hospital, sends a cordial invitation to everyone to visit the new location, and the improvement over the former place. Mr. Ford said, "We are proud of our new building, and we look to step in and see us, we are now ready for business, and it affords an opportunity of serving citizens of Kings Mountain."

Ideal Restaurant Under New Management

The Ideal Restaurant which was recently purchased by Mr. John Fisher, the owner of the Ritz Grill, has been completely renovated and is now ready to serve citizens of Kings Mountain and surrounding areas. The very best of food is served here. The restaurant has been built for the past two weeks, and is a waiting establishment for the public.

The new proprietor invites citizens to respect his renewed place of business and see for themselves the improvements that have been made for better service.

Mr. Fisher will continue to operate his other place of business, The Ritz Grill.

Crane Fined in Truck Case

Thomas Crane, Jr. of South Shelby, was convicted in reoccurring court Monday morning of reckless driving and assault with a deadly weapon and was sentenced to six months on the roads suspended on account of $500 and the costs and a condition he remain of good character for two years.

The charges against Crane grew out of an automobile accident the night of Saturday, September 28, at the intersection of West Main and the West and the Shelby highway, at which three persons were seriously injured.

A previous charge of leaving the scene of personal injury against Crane was dismissed.

WASHINGTON SNAPSHOTS

It could be from front pay bill and decided that security and national defense are well worth paying for there's still something else to take most experts say that it is better nothing at all compared to the security to come next year and the year after that.

It looks as if there's a shift of silver lining even in this cloud. It goes by the name of Title II, Section 101 of the new tax bill. Credit for tax-strapped small business goes to Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia who pushed through an amendment to the record-keeping bill that calls for appointment of a joint committee to re-

continued cuts in confidence spending

The committee to investigate "non-essential Federal expenditures" will consist of three members each from the House Ways and Means and Appropriations Committees, three each from the Senate Finance and Appropriations Committees, the Secretary of the Treasury and the Director of the Bureau of the Budget. The Committee is authorized to conduct an investigation and recommend as soon as possible elimination or reduction of non-essential government spending.

High hopes are held for this committee. It marks the first time in some twenty-two years that Congress has approved something like "Congressional budgetary control." And many believe it may save as much as a billion dollars a year—while even in these days of tugging battles around can come in pretty handy.

Right up near the top of the current Washington worries is the growing danger that thousands of manufacturers will not survive these days of stringent defense material rationing and that hundreds of thousands of workers will be thrown out of work.

It has been estimated that some 75 percent of more than 100,000 plants making non-defense goods could be kept going by small allotments of materials, which if not made available would mean—especially in the case of the small manufacturer—death to many of the plants and local plant towns or depression areas. Under the present priorities setup can defense work be cut in the cold, no matter how little they need of aluminum, rubber, or some other strategic material. So the "bill-of-materials" stage has been reached: on the prior the setup with a view to allocating small amounts of materials to plants where that is necessary to keep firms alive, towns from drying up, and labor employed.

To assist the government in saving as many jobs and as many firms as possible, the National Association of Manufacturers, through member state and local associations affiliated with the National Industrial Council, has launched a survey of "Priorities Unemployment."

Industries all over the country will be asked: "Do you anticipate that within the next 90 days you will be forced to decrease production, either because of priorities and the raw material allocation system or the inability to get defense contracts or subcontracts?" If the manufacturer answers in the affirmative he is asked to tell how many workers have been laid off, the reduction in wages, the result, and what actions he has had in his attempt to get defense work.

Such detailed information will be invaluable to the Washington authorities in directing materials flow, in trying to avert shutdowns, and in transferring workers whose dislocations are an inevitable concomitant of defense production.

"Imagine me, steering a Destroyer!"

"And I've had two pay raises in only eight months! I'll say you can't beat Uncle Sam's Navy!"

YOU couldn't ask for a greater thrill than that which a fellow gets when he comes back home wearing a trim Navy uniform. The folks crowd around. They all want to know where you've been, what you've done. And man, do you have stories to tell!

GREATEST LIFE IN THE WORLD

You're proud. And you should be. For you've been leading the greatest life in the world. And it's a thrill to tell about it, too. A thrill to see the admiration in the eyes of the One and Only Girl as you tell about the first time you steered a Destroyer. Or handled a P.T. Boat at more than 45 miles per hour. Or stepped out in front of your shipmates to receive your first promotion.

And with that promotion came an increase in pay. And there were more to come. Second Class. First Class. And Chief Petty Officer. Many might even go to Annapolis. Or to Pensacola with the flying cadets!

Exciting? You bet, and fun too. Something doing all the time. Real he-man's stuff. Boxing. Baseball. Football. Swimming. AND MOVIES... previous, too!
