Booklet Tells Of Soldiers' Dependents And Welfare

Atlanta Ga. - A booklet giving information concerning provisions made under the law covering Army regulations and instructions for the welfare protection and security of soldiers dependents, is announced by the War Department to the southeastern states today through headquarters Fourth Service Command.

The booklet, entitled "Personal Affairs of Military Personnel and Their Dependents" will be distributed in the Army so that every soldier will have access to it. Incoming those already in the service and others as they enter. Dependents and others desiring copies of the booklet may obtain them by writing to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C. and enclosing 10 cents to cover the cost of printing.

Information contained in the booklet includes allotment of pay and deductions, pay allowances and all forms of personal reported military income in action or captivity, bank accounts, medical attendance and hospital facilities for dependents and covers countless other points about the welfare of the soldier and those he left behind.

Urgent Need For Red Cross Workers

The following article was written by Mr. Monte Ryan, an American mother of Orange, N.C.

... I was distressed. For this was a flag-dropped casket. I look in the paper and read his name: His age, not yet twenty three. I look at my selfish heart, ashamed of the terrible things I see.

I've just been saying That ten per cent's A stiff tax for liberty. Yet this boy gave His previous life

Acid Indigestion

Relieved in 5 minutes or double your money back.

For a greedy old fool like me!

Oh flag-dropped casket, You challenge my right To live in his land of the free, Where the bell just tolled For another soul - For a youngster who died for me!

The above article is being reprinted in the hope that it may stir the hearts of the women of Kings Mountain to the extent that when they read the plea for more Volunteer workers in the Red Cross auxiliary Dressing Room to make the dressings which will be used by our wounded service men, that they will want to offer their bit to help America win the war.

Coffee To Be Rationed Beginning Nov. 29th

Starting November 29, the United States, the world's greatest coffee producing country, will ration its coffee so that no one will receive more than a pound of the beverage once every five weeks.

The reason for our going on a ration basis can be put in a word - sugar.

The bottom that ply between here and Brazil, Colombia and other South American countries are now freighting beans from the Guianas to the aluminum for our planes. Nitrate for gun powder and explosives, pack the hulls of boats putting out of Chile. Guatemala and other Central American coffee beans are so jammed with sugar, cane, and other goods to the shores of England, Russia, Africa and wherever our troops and some of our Allies are fighting in addition much of what coffee is being transported is going to our armed forces.

As a result of the shipping situation for every four pounds of coffee the country was importing a year ago before Pearl Harbor we are now only getting three pounds in 1941 imports of green (unroasted) coffee from South and Central American coffee imports amounted to 2.2 billion pounds in 1942 that figure will be cut to 1.7 billion. During the five year period, 1937 through 1941, U. S. coffee drinkers - about 80 percent of the adult population - consumed 21 pounds annually. The current ration would allow 10.4 pounds annually - about half the former consumption rate.
