This man was taught not to drink water

WATER . . . just plain drinking water . . . is a mighty scarce item to American soldiers now in the North African deserts. And what little water they can find, often isn't fit to drink.

So before our soldiers were landed in Africa, they were put through a stiff course of training to wean them away from drinking water! They were taught to dip water from streams in cups, and add a dash of iodine before drinking. This served the double purpose of disinfecting the water, and of making it taste pretty terrible.

Each time, a heavier dash of iodine was added (but never enough to be dangerous); until finally the soldiers lost all desire for drinking water except in prepared drinks.

An American soldier's favorite drink
The favorite prepared drink of the American soldier is good, old-fashioned lemonade!

ade! But how were our boys to carry lemonade around with them?

The Desert Warfare Board found the answer to that one . . . in what they call Field Ration K. This provides three meals for one man, each in a separate box, with a total weight of 33 ounces, and a total value of 3700 calories.

Field Ration K provides meat three times a day . . . veal luncheon meat for breakfast, pork luncheon meat for dinner at noon, and cervelat sausage at supper time. It provides coffee for breakfast, bouillon for dinner, and a package of lemon juice powder to make lemonade for supper. Ration K also includes malted milk tablets, biscuits, a bar of chocolate, and three sticks of chewing gum.

Sounds like "good eating" for those American boys in Africa, doesn't it? Makes you feel mighty good to know they're so well cared for! We'll all agree that the best of everything is none too good for our boys!

The things our fighting men need and deserve, cost money. They cost so much money that if we are to provide them, it will mean that each of us will have to invest at least 10% of his or her income in War Bonds and Stamps.

Perhaps you are already putting 10% of your pay in War Bonds every payday. But can't you boost that 10% . . . just a little? You can if you'll try . . . and you'll try all right, if you'll just stop and think how badly that money is needed!

Think, too, about what a swell investment War Bonds are. Safest investment in the world . . . and, for every $5 you invest in War Bonds today, you get back $4 ten years from now!
