THE CHIP
Learn this how to live your life. Don't go through life with a chip on your shoulder. Always aggrieved and ever offended. Fancying wrongs that are not intended. Let not a sense of humor hurt you. Take it that nobody means to hurt you. Find no fault in idle chatter. Pass it over, it doesn't matter. Look for the best in everybody. Value the word for get the should. Get in the habit of liking people. Love is the spice on every people. -Arthur Gutterman

SIGNALS
Citizens who are not familiar with the air raid signals should learn them this week. Another test blackout is to be staged next Thursday night, and civilian defense authorities state that they are going to tolerate any foolishness his time. Familiarity with the signals may save some embarrassment.

A PLEDGE OF LOYALTY
We offer to you, America, our hands. Hands that can fashion a flying fortress and build tanks; hands that can guide a plow, sowed in the spring, reap harvest in the fall.

We offer to you, America, our eyes. Eyes that can see the sunlight on working men and trusting children; that can reach through a telescope for a distant star; that can reach through a microscope for secret formulae.

These eyes are looking toward and soon will see the dawning of a freer and finer day. We offer to you, America, our ears: Ears that can hear the words spoken by wise men or a prison snook in a victory engine; ears that hear the brutal clank of the tyrant's heel; that hear more clearly still the deathless whispered hope of the unconquerable conquered.

We offer to you, America, our voices: Voices that shout encouragement to the enslaved peoples of the earth. From 1300,000,000 free men and women we offer to you, America, our minds.

These minds that control and direct hands and voices upon the basis of what we see and hear shall work for your brave purpose and your great future—together with millions of other Americans, for we know that we are not alone in this promise.

This is our pledge, America, in return for everything you have been and everything you must become, all that we are and ever hope to be are yours.—Selected

PERSONALS

Ned McGill who has been employed with the Martin Aero firm at Baltimore, Md., entered the Army last week after spending several days at home.

W. F. Stone, Jr., of Foster Field, Texas, and Boyce Henry Stone of Sheppard Field, Texas, were recent visitors at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Stone on Shelby road.

Mrs. Ruth Follack Plunk and Miss Dorothy Hoke, were among the list of 236 members of the Junior and Senior Classes of W. C. U. N. C. at Greensboro making the Dean's list book this year.

Here and There
By Haywood E. Lynch

Once upon a time I wrote in this column a "One Word Description" of W. A. Lenoir as a Muttler. This definition is certainly correct as the local citizen is President of six organizations, namely: Howell Manufacturing Co., and No-Way Spinning Co., of Cherryville, Kiwanis Club Kings Mountain Building and Loan Association, Mounsey Steel Co., and Bond-Parents Association. Besides all this, he is a Director of the First National Bank, Member of the City Council, Vice President of the Board of Directors of Lenoir-Rhyne College, Secretary and Treasurer of two Cotton Mills and an officer of the Lutheran Church.

Here's a good one that Hilton Ruth passed on to your scribbler: The only person who makes a success in running people down is the elevator boy.

Sam Johnson, one of the colored readers of Here and There gave me this yesterday afternoon: "Please keep your dog up as we may need them for meat later."

Good Old Kings Mountain came across in a big way in the Red Cross War Drive. I've been telling you for a long time that this is The Meest Town in The State.

A Sure Sign That A War is Going On: With the City Election only about six weeks off and not a word of political talk anywhere.

RANDOM NOTES

Mrs. A. H. Patterson
Who would have thought two years ago that now we would be begging for tin cans, old hose and such—but we are and the need is URGENT.

Left over FATS (if there can be such) METALS, RAGS, RUBBER—in fact it seems we mustn't throw away anything.

FATS are badly needed for explosives and should be strained in to a clean wide mouthed can, such as a coffee can and kept in a refrigerated or cool place until a pound or more is obtained, then carried to your butcher or grocer.—Fact of the matter is, he is supposed to pay you something for it if you choose but please lets dont bother those long suffering, patient grocermen too much and above all things not during busy week-end.

One woman anxious to do her bit asked if tallow would be accepted—she had me stumped, for to be frank, I'm new at this and not very well informed but when she told me she tried a little in a pan on the stove and it popped like a gun, I told her "Sure bring along the ammunition, anything that sounds like a gun." However, the instructions say "SAVE ALL YOUR WASTE COOKING FATS, Drippings from roast ham, beef lamb and poultry broiler dripping, etc. Dont forget to save the cans and labels for announcement concerning collection.

When it comes to worn out hoes Mrs. Herman Fisher and Mrs. J. L. Settemyre, Jr., with the aid of their girl cousins, will take over—so if the girls have not called for yours within the next week or ten days, call one of the above and they will see that you have attention.

Let's not allow lagging of interest in a cause that means so much, requires a minimum of effort and costs nothing.

Mrs. S. C. Battersby, who has been a patient in Charlotte Memorial Hospital for several weeks was brought to her home on West Mountain street Monday afternoon. Her condition remains unchanged.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest White who are with the Glenn L. Martin Co., Baltimore, Md., spent several days at home here last week where they were joined by their son, Billy White, who is stationed at Santa Ana, Calif. At home and their daughter, Miss Aileen White of Washington, D. C.

Miss Emily White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. White, is one of several Coleridge students who are members of the Hartsville orchestra which presented its annual spring concert in the Coleridge auditorium last Friday evening. Miss White a C her sophomore plays the saxophone in the orchestra.

Although it is here in time to put me behind with my dinner at twelve o'clock as you see, I always read the paper first, and now that K. Long Distance Lines Are Production Lines, Too
Don't Crowd them with Unnecessary Calls

Back before Hitler and Tojo set the world aflame, it was convenient and practical to transact business—deliver messages—great relatives and friends by long distance telephone.
But now these same long distance telephone lines are needed more and more to help produce the implements of war and move them to the fighting front. Now lines cannot be built to fully meet the increasing volume of calls because the raw materials needed are being made into weapons of war.

Unnecessary long distance calls may slow up vital war calls. That's especially true of "long haul" calls, for the greater the distance you talk, the greater the threat to war service. You can do much to help speed victory by making only necessary long distance calls and by being brief in all telephone conversations.
