

Mrs. John Garrett Passes In Gallery, S. C.

Mrs. May E. Stephens Garrett, age 64, widow of the late Dr. John S. Garrett, passed away at her home in Gallery on Monday of last week, following a few weeks illness. Funeral services were held at the residence on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and interment made in Oakland cemetery. Dr. J. C. Rogers and Rev. R. C. Griffith conducted the services.

Mrs. Garrett's late husband was a son of one of Kings Mountain's pioneer settlers, the late Richard Garrett.

Dr. and Mrs. Garrett had many friends in Kings Mountain, where he practiced dentistry in former years. Mrs. Garrett was one of Gallery's most beloved women, the love and esteem attested by the many beautiful flowers placed on her grave.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Claude Anderson, who with her family lived at Garrett home and Mrs. Wilbur Van Sant of Baltimore, Md. Four grand children one of whom is in the United States Army survive. She is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. Floyd Baker of Gallery, and Miss Gussie Stephens of Baltimore, Md., who was unable to attend the funeral.

Among Kings Mountain relatives present for the last rites were Mrs. Joe H. Garrett and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kipe.

Kings Mt. Soldier Attends Easter Services At The Front

The following from Tuesday's Charlotte Observer is of general interest in Kings Mountain because of the fact that Pvt. Clarence Mack Jr., last boy to listed among the 200 United States soldiers to attend camp.

WITH U. S. FORCES WEST OF MATEUR, April 22.—Easter religious services of nearly 200 United States soldiers were held today within view of a German hill outpost as the chamber of enemy cannon reverberated in the distance.

The Rev. Edward T. Conners, Catholic chaplain from Ft. Benning, Mass., told the gathering that "we still have Christ in this hour of trial. We still have our faith." Father Conners conducted the service from a rude pine table on which altar cloths were spread. The rifle-bearing worshippers and their helmets on seats. As Father Conners gave communion the soldiers could see, framed in cork oak boughs over his shoulders, a blue mountain to which the Germans were entrenched.

Protestant services drew an equal throng of worshippers. Chaplain Orville Lorenz of Meyersdale, Pa., sang a church hymn in a fine tenor voice, accompanied by Corporal Murray Eisenhauer of Worcester, Mass., on the field organ.

"Murray's a good organ player and a better Baptist," Father Conners, young and athletic looking priest, remarked with a smile. "He used to play for me."

"The chaplains are busy all along the front this holy day with many extra services. I have had three masses today and two other services at gun batteries for men who can't leave their posts."

"Some of the services are scheduled so close to the front we have to hold them in the bushes, but the officers are eager for us to hold as many as possible. One ar-

Former Kings Mt. Officer Dies In Columbia

Word was received in Kings Mountain Tuesday, of the death of R. Holt Brown, which occurred in the hospital in Columbia where he had been a patient for a long time. Death came suddenly as he was at breakfast.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete pending the arrival of his wife who was visiting relatives in Georgia, but it was thought that funeral services and interment would take place in Columbia.

Mr. Brown was the only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brown, formerly from Rockingham county but for many years well known residents of Kings Mountain. He spent most of his childhood and youth in Kings Mountain. He completed his high school education here and had many friends among the young people of that day.

He is survived by his widow, one son, Robert Holt Brown, Jr., First Lieutenant in the United States Army and now stationed in Washington, D. C., two sisters, Mrs. G. C. O'Farrell and Mrs. Nell Patrick, of Kings Mountain. The deepest sympathy of their friends, is extended to the two sisters, who on account of serious illness were unable to attend the funeral services.

Former Kings Mt. Boy Promoted To Captain

Of interest to Kings Mountain people is the announcement of the promotion of Capt. J. Linton Jenkins, of Charlotte, formerly of Kings Mountain, to the rank of Major in the United States Army Air Force. The announcement was made by the War Department last week.

Major Jenkins, son of the late Capt. Will Jenkins, popular Southern Railway conductor for many years and well known in Kings Mountain, lived here in the home of his aunt, Mrs. Dora E. Wilford, for a number of years following the death of his mother.

Major Jenkins was a sergeant in the First World War. His first job in the Canadian Forces and was later transferred to the U. S. Army. He was sent overseas but was not in actual combat. Disappointed over this Major Jenkins is now looking forward to facing the enemy on foreign soil.

He has been spending a ten-day leave with his family in Charlotte, coming from Sioux City, Iowa, where he has been in command of a squadron attached to the army base.

Enlists For Naval Pilot

Cory Reed Payson, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Payson, Route 5, Charlotte, has enlisted for Officer 1st training in the U. S. Naval Reserve.

Payson, born in Gaston county, attends high school at Kings Mountain where he plays football, basketball and baseball.

Upon graduation from high school and reaching the age of 18, Payson will be called into active duty for training. After completing all required courses he will qualify for the Navy's "Wings of Gold" and be commissioned as a Second Lieutenant in the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve.

Raleigh, April 21.—The Allied armies in North Africa have not only driven Rommel back but they have also given American farmers another supply of red squill for rodent control. L. C. Whitehead, district agent for the Division of Wildlife Research with headquarters at N. C. State College, said here today.
