WORK

Let me but do my work from day to day
In field or forest at the desk or loom
In racing marketplace or tranquil room
Let me but find it in my heart to say
When vagrant wishes beckon me astray
This is my work, my blessing, not my doom
Of all who live, I am the one by whom
This work can best be done in the right way
Then shall I see it not too great nor small
To suit my spirit and to prove my powers
Then shall I cheerfully greet the laboring hours
And cheerful turn, when the long shadows fall
At eventide, to play and love and rest
Because I know for me my work is best
—Henry Van Dyke

JUNK IT

Junk something every day
Junk your fears, junk your worries, junk your anxieties, junk your little junkies, envies and hatreds.
Junk it! Every night before you go to sleep, put in the junk heap all your disappointments, all your grudges, your revengeful feelings, your malice — junk everything that is hindering you from becoming a big, strong, fine character.

REMEMBER? — THEN ACT!

Remember when the Japs and Nazis laughed at us, called us soft and decadent, and bragged they would blot the daylight out of the democracies?
Remember how they tried to deliver a sneak knock-out punch and had the peace terms all figured out for us? They were to be the lords; we the slaves.
You do remember, don't you? Of course you do. Made you mad, did it not? It made the whole country mad.

HERE AND THERE

Unusual Coincidence: I met Mrs. Weller Reynolds, mother of John C. Reynolds, in Myers Department Store Tuesday, where she was getting a package of soap wrapped to send to her soldier son who had written a letter to The Herald a couple of weeks back telling how dirty the natives were in North Africa where he is stationed. She laughed and said she had read in The Herald where John had said the people were so dirty, and she thought she would send him some soap so that he could clean them up. Then she asked me to change his APO number to 464. My next stop was at the City Hall where Mrs. Gene McCarter gave me change of address for her husband to APO number 464. Now John and Gene when you read this column you will know that both of you are at the same place and if you haven't already bumped into each other, look each other up and have a long confab about The Best Town in the State.

Speaking about soldiers in foreign countries, Bright Patterson received a most interesting picture taken by his son, James, who is stationed in New Guinea. The photograph shows a group of natives in their natural attire, which by the way is very abbreviated.

I stopped in the Cleveland Motor Co. the first of the week and inspected a piece of farm equipment that O. O. Jackson says he will not stand behind. The machine is a manure spreader.

I was given a comic income tax blank this week, and the questions asked were very funny, but the imitation form was not one bit glibber or more absurd than the official forms that come out of Washington.

I had a very enjoyable horse back ride last Thursday with Frank Summers and another one Sunday afternoon with Aubrey Mauney. I am getting to be a regular Texas cowboy without a horse. If I keep on I will be in Herman Fisher's class.

If you notice an unusually bright object next week in the vicinity of the Lutheran Church it will not be that the sun has failed to set, it will just be that Boyd Hanson is back in town with his shining bald head. After writing this I'll be afraid to go hear him preach.

THE NOSEY TRIO

Here we are, filled up to the brim. Not but news, long, fat and slim. Well, we've had our open this last week and not much has slipped by, so we had better get started.

The most notable of all in the dance last Friday, it was a howling success. It was the first dance in ages where the crowd has been big or after intermission than before. All the girls seemed to enjoy it very much, but the boys, don't suppose it could have been those "out doors"?

It was very good to see Bush Hanson again too — oh boys? Only Paul seems to have gotten interested. Sunday site at "Union" with all those chaperones — so how how it is, son.

Marion and Arlo sure like to catch what, Mark, and Cliff? "Noah," Peggy, Betty, and Freddie were sporting a car Sunday — should we say more?

Who is this crowd of girls who keep passing us in a car, and keep on going? Could it be Joanne, Toots, and Marion?

Jackie is getting that story look a her eyes again. It must be because "Helen" will be home the 29th of Dec. — still carrying the torch — just getting in practice.

Guess what! We were passing a certain filling station the other day and there sat Mr. Purkin making "you, you" eyes at James Randall. Ask him how he gets, "Big."

Little all get out for the picnic Friday site, given in honor of the men teachers — and what teachers! Men, Wen.

Well, get to save a little for next week on. We know you and have your number. We watch you and never slumber. Long, fat, and slim.

Street Police Station
Police vehicles are usually treated by a process of disinfection. First, the physician makes careful tests to determine just which pollen or virus causes the trouble. Then the patient is given a dry dose of the offending substance and at regular intervals thereafter increasingly large doses until he is able to tolerate the large amounts of pollen blown in spring and summer seasons.

REVEALS PEOPERS

Ever wonder what goes on behind closed doors? Best way to find out is to peep through keyholes, but since that isn't respectable for such nice polite people as you K. M. students we suggest you do it for you.
How for the news?
What's happened to the students? Seems like there were more in school than there were in the streets. Speaking of students isn't it about time for Frances W. and Robert H. to celebrate an anniversary or something for going together for so long? Six or eight years by now isn't it? We hear Henry Shock is coming to town Thanksgiving. Thrill! Thrill! Joanne! It seems that W. F. Fulton and Jess W. are coming along fine. Curtice Falls who's the cute little girl down on Mountain street that you've int'ested in? Who's Peggy A. interested in? Could it be some lighter than Tommy E. Y. George Y. and Betty L. are quite the couple, and is it true that Louann H. and Dickey F. are interested in each other? Ah Ha!
Since Toots G. got her drivers license it seems all the boys go by after her to ride home. Eh—Gene how does it feel without Henry around, Jackie — pretty lonely what? Everyone seemed to have a good time at the dance Friday. Miss MacAllister and Meek C. danced well together. With all our pretty teachers the 4 F went to be as lonely now.

Protect Children Enroute To And From School

School days are here again—thousands of children are walking along our roadways, and crossing streets. They are careless and anxious to reach school on time. The safety of these children is of paramount importance.
Ronald Hecust, Director of the State Highway Safety Division declared today that "The safeguarding of the children going to and from school is a responsibility of the school, the home, and the community."
"Children should be trained to be good pedestrians. However, it requires the combined efforts of the school, the home, and the community. Let all of us put forth the necessary efforts to protect the school children of our State from automobile accidents this school year, urged the Director.
1. Select the safest route for children in towns and cities to walk to and from school.
2. Instruct children daily to cross streets only at intersections.
3. Permit children to leave in time to reach school on time, but not with time to play, along the streets or roads.
4. In rural areas children should be instructed to walk on the LEFT SIDE OF THE ROADWAY, and to always move out of the way of approaching cars.
5. In cooperation with the local Police Department, special streets should be designated as school crossings. If possible, have this crossing guarded during certain hours of the day when children will be going or coming from school.
The Director of the Safety Division also urges MOTORISTS:
1. Drive carefully on approaching school zones in both rural and city areas.
2. Be on the alert for children who may be playing along or near the road.
3. At all times keep in mind that the child along the road or street may suddenly run into the path of the oncoming car.
4. The good driver assumes that every child playing on or near the street is about to dart in front of his car, and drives cautiously.
