Hospitality Is Non-Nationalized

Yet, we can still be generous with our hospitality—can still have the pleasure of inviting friends for dinner—because hospitality fortunately remains a non-nationalized item. To be sure, we must do just a little careful planning to stretch these ration points wisely. Time-saving means are important too—the kind that the war worker-homemaker-housewife can prepare easily and quickly. For a hearty main dish—that will mean protein—serve a meat and vegetable shortcake. Here we have used Creamed Peas and green peas on piping hot biscuits, fresh from the oven. But leftover meat of any kind can be used, or any one of the low-point table ready meats—frankfurters, too, are excellent.

Meat and Vegetable Shortcake
Make a White Sauce of:
4 tablespoons blended shortening
4 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt

Add to White Sauce:
1 cup cubed cooked meat
1 cup cooked green peas
Seasonings to taste

Shortcake Recipe
2 cups sifted flour
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup molasses
1/2 cup molasses
1/2 cup molasses

Make a biscuit dough by cutting the 4 tablespoons blended shortening into the sifted flour, baking powder and salt. Add milk, stirring quickly but thoroughly. Turn dough onto a floured board. Knead gently. Roll out about 1/4 inch thick. Cut into eight 3-inch rounds. Brush tops of four rounds with melted shortening and place second four on top. Bake in a hot oven (450°F) about 15 minutes.

Separate the rounds. Cover the bottom with the meat and vegetable mixture. Place top round on and cover it generously with creamed mixture.

QUOTES

"The postwar reconversion job is essentially one of simplification, so that industry and labor can make their own plans — for the success or failure of which they and they alone will be responsible." — Truman Committee, U. S. Senate.

"I want to live in America — all ways. I never saw such beautiful things!" — Algerian-born wife of first American soldier to be married in North Africa.

"In all my 34 years in the oil business I've heard nothing but 'shortage'."

Has it occurred to these post war prophets that the motor car which eventually will be produced will double or triple the present mileage? — James A. Moffatt, petroleum executive.

"Today nearly five percent of all gasoline is purchased without coupons, or with stolen or counterfeit coupons." — OPA Administrator Howles.

"No procedure in modern government has greater possibilities for destroying the democratic process than centralization of authority in the all-powerful commission and governmental agency." — A. L. M. Wiggin, pres., American Bankers Association.
