MUTUAL HELP

The race of mankind would perish did they cease to aid each other. We cannot exist without mutual help. All therefore that need aid have a right to ask it from their fellow men, and to one who has the power of granting can refuse it with out guilt. - Sir Walter Scott

THE LITTLE THINGS

In the present day of rush and drive there is serious danger of giving way to the temptation that we have not time to devote to the little duties of being thoughtful and kind. Not everyone who needs a cup of cold water is calling out to the world. The little gestures we make by the way are not wasted time. A word of sympathy, some little act that shows a friendly interest, may help the next hour to move more lightly and swiftly. And it is one of the most beautiful compensations in this life that no man can sincerely try to help another without helping himself. - Robert Lynd

THE HERALD IS A YEAR

HERE AND THERE

Haywood E. Lynch

In Memory of
Fred Wright is a very loyal dad when it comes to sending The Herald to his son, Fred Jr., who is with the armed forces in England. He sends the home town paper air mail and he told me the other day that Fred received his Herald in five days after it came off the press.

I have had quite a bit in my column about horses and their riders, but until the other day I never had the opportunity of riding a mother horse and her son. Dick Blam, who is quite a horse man, came by the house with his first stallion and mare, but I was busy planting flowers and had to take a "rain check" on his invitation to accompany him for a pleasant ride.

By the way, Charlie Williams is training his race horse "Cyclone Pete" to be a saddle. I noticed him riding with the "Kings Mountain Cavalry" Sunday afternoon. Tom Falton is another member to join up.

I have the habit of whistling wherever I go. I started up to the Station Office the other day and Annale Laurie Summitt said she knew it was either the Editor coming or Preacher Simpson as both of us either whistle or hum as we go about our daily duties.

I was whistling, walking in front of Baker's Grocery the other day when Mr. Bufe halted at me to come in as he had a subscription for The Herald someone had left with him to give me. He said if I had not been whistling he would not have known I was passing. Moral: Whistle and you will get more subscribers.

Herald readers would appreciate that picture we had on the front page of the last issue of Governor Lt. Gov. W. E. Hokeley if they knew what a hard time I had getting it. I had been after him for almost two years to let me have a picture as I could get a cut made, but modest Hokeley always had some excuse until I accompanied him to Hendersonville for his official visit to the Club. When we arrived I found that the program chairman was also the photographer so we made several "shots" of the Postmaster, Chairman of the Station Board and Lt. Governor and that's how I secured the picture for The Herald.

Mrs. A. H. Patterson was not on the Lions Club program when she made her hurried exit as the speaker began his lambast of civic clubs especially Lions clubs. Her departure was unplanned and was not part of the show.

Mrs. Beatie Dickey received an attractive picture drawn by her son, Pte. Jimmy Dickey, with the U. S. Marines, showing a native mother feeding her baby.

Mothers Deserve The Finest

They're keeping up the morale of the war workers in their households. They're participating in Red Cross war work. They're maintaining production jobs in their homes, too. Certainly mothers of today are "coming through."

Remember your mother on this important day with one of our quality gifts.
