THE SIMPLE THINGS

I pray that I may do with joy the simple things
Of life, which somehow I must do from day to day;

Be it the baking of a loaf of bread Or planting seeds along the garden way.

Those ordinary little tasks which must be done,

I wish to do them with a singing heart.

That in the building of my life each day,

The work well done will be a perfect part.

Perhaps, I may not know how many will be fed,

Or how much joy my blooming flowers bring;

But this I know, the simple things well done

Will lead me on to do some greater thing.

—Hilda Ann Florin.

WILL IT RUN?

Every automobile in the country has had impressed upon him the importance of caring for his car as a valued asset. The cars keep the country going.

There are all kinds of cars in the nation's automobile population. One of the most important is the fire engine. Fire fighting equipment is like a life boat on a ship. If it is not ready for instant service, it is worse than useless. A burning building or a drowning man need help but once. If it is not at hand they'll never need it again.

The fire engine is the lifeline of the community. It must be ready.

SIDNEY HILLMAN'S ORDERS

A man who was a very prominent figure in the recent Democratic Convention at Chicago tells us that he knows it to be a fact that Sidney Hillman of the CIO went to Democratic Chairman Hannegan and told him that he (Hillman) would not stand for a Southern man being named as the vice-presidential candidate. Under Sidney Hillman's orders James Byrnes of South Carolina was dropped like a hot potato.

The New Dealers and the CIO bosses give only one assignment to the South and that is to cast electoral votes for the candidates which New Dealers and the CIO select.

They wonder how Southern Democrats have the nerve to suggest that a Southern man be named for any high office.—Textile Bulletin.

JUST FOR TODAY

Just for today I will try to live through this day only and not tackle my whole life problem at once. I can do some things for twelve hours that won't appall me if I feel I had to keep them up for a lifetime.

Just for today I will be cheerful, though it breaks my heart. Happiness comes when it is not a matter of externalities.

Just for today I will adjust myself to what is, and not try to adjust everything to my own designs.

Just for today I will take care of my body. I will exercise it, care for it and nourish it and not abuse it or neglect it.

Just for today I will try to strengthen my mind. I will study. I will learn something useful. I will not be a mental loafer. I will read something that requires effort, thought, and concentration.

Just for today I will exercise my soul, in three ways, to wit: (a) I will do somebody a good turn and not get found out. If I get found out it will not count. (b) I will do at least two things that I don't want to do, just for exercise. (c) I will not show anyone that my feelings are hurt. They may be hurt, but I won't show them.

Just for today I will have a program. I may not be following it precisely, but I will have it. It will save me from two pests, Harry and Indecision.

Just for today I will be unafraid. Especially, I will not be afraid to be happy, to enjoy what is beautiful, to love and to believe that those I love, love me.—Dr. Frank Crane, D. B.

THREE AND THREE

Haywood E. Lynch

I had the scare of a life time Monday morning when my car stopped dead on the railroad tracks at the Mountain Street crossing. Bill Craig and Ned Goforth saw my predicament and came rushing to my aid riding with Bert Queen of the Center Service and pushed my car to safety.

There is a certain stop-light that always catches me on 2500. The one at the corner of King and Gaston never lets me get by. I pass there several times every day and my car just pulls up and stops because it seems to know that the light is going to be red.

Here and There extends a hearty welcome to the teacher, both the new ones who are here for the first time and the others who are already acquainted with The Best Town In The State.

Seen On My Rounds: Bill Craig with his darling little daughter; Peggie, taking her to Gastonia to spend the day — Ben Goforth getting his son, Bobbie, a haircut.

J. B. Thomasson trying to buy Postmaster Hickley a Coca-cola.

Mrs. Eugene Matthews buying cute little Miss Martha Matthews a ring for her 6th birthday present. B. H. Barnes getting ready for school opening Monday.

Booth Gillespie and Glenn White talking in front of the Post Office. Former member of the Draft Board Gus Kiser in the Draft Board office. The Old Mountaineer alias John Floyd in the Draft Board office.

Tom Fulton strolling down the street — Clyde Bennett taking life easy in his office.
