RANDOM NOTES

by Mrs. A. H. Patterson

When Lt. Lawrence Patrick set out by plane for California, last Friday, he was looking forward to having his brother, Paul, on the reception committee when he arrived. After a day together, the boys will go on their separate ways.

When Fred Bowers' two brothers arrive from overseas, they're going to find two full-blooded registered bangle hounds waiting for that long-postponed rabbit hunt.—Fred, failing to pass the physical, was not able to help the boys get this fighting over but is trying to gratify every wish of theirs, so when his brothers wrote him to have some dogs ready for a good rabbit hunt, he lost no time in purchasing them and is giving them every care. He wrote his brothers of the purchase and one brother replying from his pill-box on the front lines where he is fighting the Germans, said: "Buddy, what you need now is this trusty rifle of mine—it shoots true." Fred's brother not knowing they were anywhere near each other fought in the battle at Bruet, France. One received shrapnel wounds in the hip and thigh, was hospitalized and later awarded the Purple Heart. The other brother moved on.

Little Linda Woody Parton is in receipt of a gift from a Dutchman, a school teacher, and she will no doubt appreciate this more and more as she grows.—The gift, a toy bear set, includes a bear complete, with fence, hay stack, a tree, a horse, a cow, a pig and chickens and accompanying the package was the following letter addressed to Linda's mother:

Dear Mrs. Parton,
 This is a little present for your daughter. Your husband told us much about you and the baby. We also saw your photos and we liked them very much.

We met your husband and some of his comrades in our country—the Netherlands, and we are very thankful to them because they freed our country from the Germans.

We hope that the war will soon be over and that your husband can return home.

Our best wishes for you and your child.

Yours truly,
 John J. May.

Attractive little six-year-old Billy Mayby, daughter of Seaman 2-C Hoyle Mayby, was awfully proud of her daddy when he entered the Navy so much so that when he came home for the first visit, while in training, Billy invited all her little friends into the Navy man in his uniform.—But it's quite different with Billy now, the novelty's worn off, her daddy's been overseas for quite awhile and she's so weary of waiting and so heart-broken that her mother tries not to mention his name in her presence any more. Billy's plight was made more unendurable when she suffered a broken leg a few weeks ago and had to lose time in her first grade work at school. Acting on the advice of the doctor, when he applied the plaster cast, Billy had the cast completely covered with autographs of her friends, young and old, but she's not so sure she wants to follow his advice when he told her to keep the cast for her daddy to see when he returns.

REVIVAL AT DEER

Large and appreciative congregations are attending the revival meeting at Deers school house. Mrs. Carl Davidson, pianist and Mr. Arnold Jackson, song leader, are adding much to the services. Rev. Neil R. Truesdale of Gastonia is bringing the messages each evening at 7:30. The meeting will close with the service Sunday evening.

Timber Supply Large
 In the forests of the Northwest alone, there are more than 600 billion board feet of standing timber—enough to build 60 million six-room, two-story homes.
