Army, Navy Leaders, Others Endorse Red Cross War Fund

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In answer to President Roosevelt's appeal to the nation on behalf of the American Red Cross to fulfill the $200,000,000 Red Cross War Fund goal for 1945, American's foremost military and naval leaders, the press, and educational, religious, industrial and labor groups pledged unstinting support.

Stimson Gen. Marshall Forrestal Adm. King

Secretary of War Stimson expressed his gratitude to the Red Cross for discharging its responsibilities to the Army "with efficiency and humanity" throughout the war.

Chief of Staff General Marshall added: "The Red Cross has kept pace with the growth of the Army by enlarging its services to meet soldier needs both in this country and overseas."

Secretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal, citing Red Cross war contributions of blood plasma, prisoner of war food packages and civilian war aid, said, "In the blackness of war, the Red Cross stands as a beacon of mercy of which we can all be proud. Never has money been put to better use."

Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, pointed out that "every time the Red Cross assists a man in the armed forces in any way. There can be no doubt that the humanitarian activities of the American Red Cross have a direct bearing on the outcome of the war."

Both the American Newspaper Publishers Association and the National Editorial Association's president's promised complete cooperation from the American press.

Among groups endorsing the War Fund are:

AMERICAN LEGION: "The Red Cross has exemplified the true, traditional spirit of American helpfulness. The approach of the postwar reconstruction period will not lessen the call for Red Cross services."

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR: "We are determined that the war shall be won. Let us to equally determined that the Red Cross shall be enabled and permitted to measure up to the needs of the situation and the high standard which we have set for it."

CONGRESS OF INDUSTRIAL ORGANIZATION: "Each one of our members knows that the Red Cross is constantly at that loved one's or friend's side in his time of need."

AMERICAN FARM BUREAU FEDERATION: "Such vital Red Cross programs as home care, nutrition, disaster relief and other helpful activities during recent years have combined closely to identify this national organization with rural life in America. The American Farm Bureau Federation urges every member to give it wholehearted support through the organization's local chapters."

FEDERAL COUNCIL OF CHURCHES: "It is obvious that the world situation at the present time will make greater demands upon Red Cross than ever before. We commend to the churches of the various communities in the United States the appeal for the American Red Cross War Fund in 1945."

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF MANUFACTURERS: "American businessmen stand ready to assist in every way possible the American Red Cross in its fund raising efforts."

NATIONAL CATHOLIC WELFARE CONFERENCE: "The great worth of the American Red Cross has become more obvious as the war develops and as our fighting men testify. Gladly, therefore, we recommend every generosity on the part of the American people in the 1945 campaign."

CENTRAL CONFERENCE OF AMERICAN RABBIS: "The Red Cross is the most appealing philanthropic cause before the American people today. May the outstanding success of the 1945 Red Cross War Fund campaign demonstrate the spiritual caliber of the American people."

Get a nice letter from John W. Thomson. That was a beautiful expression he used in telling why he was on the high seas defending America for the sake of his wife and five little children.

Get our first letter from H. Y. in the Philippines in two months. Said he hadn't been paid off in 21 months. Had his first 100 yards from the ocean, went swimming every day.

The most valuable coin in America today is the silver dollar. There are said to be only fourteen of those. It is claimed the rest of them went down to the bottom of the Pacific Ocean many years ago while a ship was en route to China.

If the ladies don't quit saying good things about my column I will get ashamed of myself and quit.

I got a letter from a lady in New York City telling her mother in Georgia sent her the Herald. She said she thought I was swell. Asked me why I didn't say something about her. Well, I think she's swell, too.

I met Capt. "O'Fallon" in the Friendly City. I said, Judge, you had better get your money out of the bank, you see they are tearing it down. He said it wouldn't hurt him, he didn't have much in there.

I went out with Dora Allen the other evening to buy a male. Dora tried to get the dark. Guess to tell him how much she wanted for the little old male. She finally said, "Well, do you think 3 or 4:00 would be too much for him. Dora hasn't been back, I would like to see her."

"Our boy a prisoner of war"

...and the far-reaching arm of the RED CROSS brought him help"

There isn't much you can do when you hear your boy is a prisoner. Parents are confused, mail from him is halted. Like him, you must wait, patiently, until the war is over.

You do have one consolation. The far-reaching arm of the Red Cross can supply food parcels to our prisoners rapidly wherever possible. It brings you clothing, glasses and medicine to the lonely boys "in there." It relieves emergency needs to and from anxious families.

This is all part of the stupendous job the Red Cross is doing for our fighting men all over the world... and for their families at home. But it cannot be done without your cooperation. Without your help the Red Cross could not continue to collect life-saving blood for the wounded... to send essential supplies to the prisoners of war... to give the inmates of other friendly services that make a soldier's life a little easier.

There's no time to lose. What you give a few more dollars for that?
