To me that

Journalistic joy is the opportunity to write you a white Xmas gone with the passing breeze, the New Year greets us with a pleasant breeze.

Everybody talking about the weather: Let's not try to change it. Its everywhere, what—mud

A scholar asked me what is the diameter of the moon. When I was in school the old professor told us it was 2000 miles. May have changed, I don't know.

Not so long ago city folks called farmers old clothoppers and hayseeks. Now they call them "go-getters" — right you are.

Beer must be alright. I find it advertised in all the leading papers. The fact is, if one don't unlock the cork it's alright.

I have been asked how I wrote such a clever column in the Christmas news. Well, really, I got credit for what I didn't write. The fact is, they write a better column than I do. I mean the Negro News.

Where is the highest stream navigable in the world? Between Peru and Bolivia at an altitude of 2545 feet. Lake Titicaca.

Lots of folks fretting about a little mud. We were made of mud clay. Why did King Solomon die. Because he couldn't live any longer.

I remember going to a colored folks camp meeting. One old colored lady got very happy shouting all over the floor. When she lost her bustle she kicked it up like a football and shouted right on. The old preacher shouted out "Sister's got the ball rolling."

Capt. Earl Wells and wife have moved to the West Coast and never said a word to me about it. Earl, if you don't write the old man, I am going to write you off my little mem or book.

Where and on what date was the Battle of the Clouds fought? Look-out Mountain, Nov. 24, 1863. Happy New Year to all.

Diseases of the heart and arteries constitute the No. 1 Killer among life insurance policyholders today, accounting for nearly one-third of all policyholder deaths annually. The Life Insurance Medical Research Fund plans to make $3500,000 available over the next six years to get at the causes and cures of these diseases.

Farmers this year set a new peak in the purchase of life insurance. Country-wide, they bought nearly twice as much as in pre-war 1941.
