Bride-Elect Honored By Mrs. Dicky Tate

Mrs. Dicky Tate entertained at her home a Wells street on Thursday night at a miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Martha Sue Dover whose marriage to John Albanese of Providence, R. I., will be an event of this month.

Upon arrival, the honoree was presented a corsage of white carnations. Games and bingo were enjoyed during the evening, with prizes awarded the winners. The winners later presented them to the bride-elect. The hostess' gift to the honor-guest was crystal in her chosen pattern.

Miss Marion Ivey and Miss Louise Roberts assisted Mrs. Tate in serving bridal ices, decorated cakes and coffee. The bride-elect's plate was marked with a miniature bride.

Those present included: Mesdames Fred Thornburg, Doc Byers, Ben Goforth, Jim White, Bun Goforth, James Roberts, Nina Wolfe, Clyde Kearns, Abe Martin, Buck Allran and Carl Lewis of Gastonia; Misses May Sue Goforth, Louise Roberts, Marian Ivey, Martha Lou Bennett, Daphne Ballard, Margaret Cornwell, Martha Frances McGill, Carolyn Dover and Annie Ruth Hawkins.

The bride-elect received many attractive and useful gifts.

Mrs. Campbell Honors Son On His Birthday

On Saturday afternoon, Mrs. H. L. Campbell entertained at a delightful party honoring her son, Joe, on his 7th birthday.

The Valentine motif was used in decorating the living room and dining room entirely in red and white. Red streamers were draped artistically on each chandelier. The dining table, graced with a white linen cloth, was centered with a huge red and white cake bearing seven candles and was surrounded by fancy red baskets filled with candy. These were given as favors after the refreshments were served.

Mrs. Campbell was assisted in directing games and contests by Mrs. Paul McGinnis and Mrs. Edward Plott.

Toward the close of the enjoyable afternoon, the candles were lighted, Joe made his wish, blew them out and the children sang "Happy Birthday." The lovely cake was served with strawberry and vanilla ice cream.

When refreshments were finished, Joe opened his numerous beautiful gifts presented by the twenty-five children attending.
