An unique farm veterans program which will be operated by and for colored veterans of Compact school, Kings Mountain, is now getting under way.

Plans for an active program has been mapped by Mr. M. L. Campbell, the Vocational Agriculture teacher of Compact school.

This program is making available the various educational and other benefits provided for under the G. I. Bill of Rights.

Mr. Campbell is stressing the fact that veterans should show themselves worthy of such benefits.

It is believed that from this type of program the Negroes will receive more education than ever before and consequently there will be better houses, better living conditions and better economic standards in the rural section of this county, and this will lead to better understanding between races.

The subsistence allowance received by the veteran and profit from farming will make his income equal to that of other persons working in industries and other public work.

The Aims of The Program: Improve the method and technique of the veteran farmer.

Encourage him to become a good farmer and remain in the farm. Teach him to accept obligations as a citizen.

Mr. Campbell said he was very fortunate to secure such a qualified instructor for the work. He is a graduate of the Booker T. Washington school, the founder of Industrial Education, Tuskegee Institute, Ala. U. G. Whitworth will be instructor.

Time Flies

Busy in the United States today are two ways of thinking—the high-brows call them "opposing concepts." Orators in both camps sound a lot alike until they get right down to brass tacks, completely away from abstract generalities. Both schools, if you listen with only half an ear to their vocal members, seem to favor advancement of the race and better living conditions.

Most of the people in America are not on either side; not yet. They haven't given the issues enough thought. That's the way with the American people, they keep out of all the arguments they can. They are busy with their own affairs and, if you interrupt them, you must state your business in a few words. Unfortunately it is not possible to state these two creeds briefly and clearly.

Serious Problem

It would not be necessary for a person of average ability to go to college and study a year in order to learn the difference. The problem is not that complicated. On the other hand, I can't cover the case in one newspaper column or in a letter of two or three pages. It's not that simple. Everybody owes it a little serious thought, however, before it is too late.

Nothing was ever more serious to the people of this continent, their children and their grandchildren, than this dispute between "Individualism" and "Collectivism." These are the names that best describe them. The former may call themselves Democrats or Republicans or Conservatives. The latter may be Nazis, Communists, Fascist or Central Planners. Here, they are revolutionists.

Vital Decisions

Although I imagine somebody is going to call me an alarmist, I'm duty bound as a loyal citizen to say: The American people will know all about this sooner or later. If they give the matter some thought and act quickly, they still may take their choice. Otherwise they will get Collectivism like it came to the unhappy peoples of other lands who are now starving by the hundreds every day.

Here is a fair question: How can anybody identify destructive, alien, revolutionist movements at sight? They wear respectable names, shout for praiseworthy aims and have patriotic slogans. How can we pick them out? The best answer I have ever heard came from J. P. Seiberling in an address he delivered in Dallas, Texas, a few months ago. He says observe how they appeal to you!

Catering to What?

When a philosophy appeals to human weaknesses it is plainly earmarked as destructive. Central Planning, for example, charms nobody but people who believe in super-men and recognize themselves as weaklings. The offer of freedom from fear is a vulgar appeal to cowardice. Freedom from want (silly as it is) was never more than a bait to catch lazy people. Collectivism offers these, which mean mediocrity for everybody.

Individualism offers opportunity, a challenge; no soft stuff like security. Its rewards are for the energetic, not the lazy. Individualism offers personal liberty and individual freedom—freedom in expression, freedom in business and freedom in worship. These appeal to man's noble traits. Individualism offers these, with the highest standards of living for everybody the world has yet known.

Jas. S. Cline

I was born and raised on a Cleveland County farm. My people have lived in this county for four generations and no one of my immediate family has ever held a public office.

I have been actively engaged in the practice of law since graduating from Wake Forest College in 1918, with the exception of the time spent in the Army, and believe I can give the people of Cleveland County a Recorder's Office that will satisfy their confidence in me. It will always be my aim to conduct every trial in such a manner that every citizen will know the defendant has had a fair and impartial hearing and at the same time to assure that the interest which every citizen of the county has in every trial has been protected.
